State Reform Body Finds Bus Bill Altered

MATERIAL CHANGE IN EFFECT OF ACT DUE TO TAMPERING

Russell Committee Confirms Charge of Violations to Motor Carrier Law, But Does Not Fix Responsibility.

CHANGES APPEAR TO AID RAILROADS

Official Statement Promises Further Probe When Committee Resumes Work Next Week.

Irregularities "which materially change the effect of the motor carrier act of 1931" were discovered by the legislative reorganization committee Wednesday afternoon after it had examined the original bill, substitutes and amendments.

No attempt was made by the committee to fix responsibility for the changes but an official statement said the matter will probably be given further consideration when members return here next week to complete hearings of department heads in connection with reforming the state government.

Switching from the reorganization hearing just before the luncheon recess, the committee directed the motor carrier bill—known as senate bill No. 5—be returned from the office of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and upon receiving the bill and amendments launched its probe at the beginning of the afternoon session.

Solicitor-General Boykin, upon information previously furnished by Senator-elect Hugh Peterson, Jr., of Montgomery, chairman, and Representative W. J. Crowe, of Worth, secretary of the reorganization committee, subpenaed the bill several weeks ago and members of his staff were engaged in an examination of the bill, with a view of submitting findings to a grand jury, when the special legislative committee interposed.

Continued criticism of the general assembly, plus a widespread refusal to comply with the new law, were assigned by committee members as the principal reason for speeding up an investigation of charges that the bill, after it had been approved by the general assembly, had been "tampered with" before being signed by the governor. Signature of the chief executive automatically makes the bill a law.

Most of the changes made in the bill, as approved by the house and sent back to the senate in the final hours of the 81-day special session, appear distinctly advantageous to the railroads. Although passenger bus operators have complained at the severity of the new law, it remained for operators of truck lines to enjoin the public service commission from enforcing it.

Originating in the senate, where it was introduced by Senator Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, the bill under fire encountered such opposition in the lower house that more than a score of amendments were offered to it, most of them being adopted. In the late afternoon of the last day of the session, the senate, having previously refused to agree to house amendments, receded from its position and both houses approved the bill with amendments.

Senator Reason Paulk, of the forty-seventh district, was chairman of the senate engrossing committee which checked the final draft of the bill against amendments and changes agreed to in conference between committees representing the two houses. On the committee with him were Senators Allen, Adams, Barrett, Kidd, Matthews, Mickle and Terrell.

When the tampering charges were first hinted by Solicitor-General Boykin, Senator Terrell issued a statement declaring that the motor carrier

BAPTISTS PRAISE HOOVER'S STAND

Law Enforcement Effort, Move for Arms Cut Lauded.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 14.—(AP)—The Southern Baptist convention went on record today indorsing a world peace program and adopted resolutions commending President Hoover's efforts for law observance and enforcement, and reduction of naval and land armaments.

The convention's attitude was expressed in a resolution introduced by Dr. A. J. Barton, Wilmington, N. C., chairman of the social service board, and unanimously adopted.

Described as action on behalf of more than 24,000 separate and independent churches and approximately 4,000,000 members, the convention had the resolution spread on the minutes and a copy wired President Hoover.

"We felicitate the president and the American people upon the president's efforts for law observance and enforcement," the resolution said, "for the reduction of naval and land armament, in order that nations of the world may be relieved of intolerable taxation, and international peace be made secure and permanent."

Turning to the remaining committee reports the convention adopted recommendations of the education commission which included consolidation of Baptist schools in each state, or those in more than one state be studied to the end of strengthening its system of education.

Dr. E. W. Sikes, president of Clemson College, S. C., made an address in connection with the education report in which he outlined the attitude of Baptists toward education in five points.

Dr. Sikes said that it was the feeling of the convention that denominational colleges have a distinct field of culture and that they should be cultivated. He said it was the belief that they should be confined to medium sized, liberal arts institutions. He said that today there are 700,000 students enrolled in undergraduate denominational schools in the United States.

Dr. R. E. Harkness, of Chester, Pa., president of the American Baptist Historical Society, in an address dealing with history of the denomination proposed that the northern and southern conventions affiliate in the work of historical societies.

Dr. A. W. Beaven, of Rochester, N. Y., president of the Northern Baptist convention, brought greetings and commended the fraternal spirit existing between the two conventions. He said lines that once separated them "are constantly growing dimmer."

Jury Will Decide Bankers' Case Today

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 14.—(AP)—The case of Wallace B. Davis, president; C. N. Brown and J. A. Sinclair, directors, of the defunct Central Bank & Trust Company, who are charged with making a false report to the state corporation commission, will go to the jury Saturday morning.

DAVID BELASCO, NOTED PRODUCER, DIES IN NEW YORK

Heart Attack in Hotel Room Proves Fatal To Dean of American Stage in 77th Year.

BY DEMING SEYMOUR.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—David Belasco died today, ripe with the labors by which for more than 50 years he helped to shape the course of the American stage.

Two months short of his 77th birthday, he died in his hotel room of a heart attack. At the bedside were his only child, Reina (Mrs. Morris Gest), and his two physicians.

Several months ago an attack of pneumonia caused him to be brought home, seriously ill, from Atlantic City, where he was trying out a new play. It was feared he was fatally stricken then, and he missed the Broadway opening of his play—the first he had failed to attend in 50 years. But he recovered and had been active again until this morning. Even until a few minutes before his death at 4:15 this afternoon his chance of recovery seemed good, and he kept within an arm's reach the heap of plays from which he hoped to select two or three for production this fall.

The pallbearers chosen tonight for David Belasco's funeral were:

George M. Cohan, A. O. Brown, shepherd of the Lambs' Club; Frank Gillmore, president of Actors' Equity; Edward Childs Carpenter, playwright; Daniel Frohman, producer, and Judge Mitchell Erlanger.

Began Career at 14.

The career he chose as a lad of 14, when he wrote and produced "The Regulator's Revenge," he pursued without abating up to the day of his death. And the career outlived its creator, for his 400th-odd and last production, "Tonight or Never," is a current Broadway hit.

Of Portuguese Jewish parentage, Belasco came to Broadway in the latter '70s when the theater district was moving uptown from Union square to

20 NEGROES HELD IN PYRE DEATH

Arrests Follow Discovery of Georgian's Body in Fire-Razed Building.

GRAYMONT, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Twenty negroes were held in jail tonight in an investigation of the death of E. B. McBride, bachelor proprietor of a filling station, who was found burned to death in the fire-razed station this morning.

Officers expressed the belief that McBride was slain, the filling station robbed and the building set afire. Two of the negroes were held as suspects and 18 as material witnesses. The negroes were members of a paving gang.

One of the negroes held in jail wears shoes that correspond to one set of tracks leading to the station, officers said. Another was barefoot when arrested and a search is being made for his shoes.

Several slot machines stolen from the place were found today not far from the station. Fingerprint experts have studied marks on the machines and said they expected to identify the slayers shortly.

McBride, who was 40, operated the filling station three miles from Summit, Ga. Two citizens of Summit, passing by when the building was blazing, discovered the doors were locked and made no search, thinking McBride was not in the building. His body was found today in the ruins.

SWAINSBORO, Ga., May 14.—(AP) Officers Thursday found the body of

Margaret Sanger Given Verdict At Debate Over Birth Control

BY B. R. CRISLER.

Margaret Sanger, the mother of three children, met Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, the father of 18, in a debate on birth control Thursday night at the Erlanger theater. And the result—while it seemed to be pretty decisively in favor of the lady (as the gallant chief justice himself would be the last to deny) at the same time completely justified everybody's expectations with regard to the gentleman. If he went down, under the onslaught of these new and somewhat bewildering ideas, he went—like the noble old Roman he is—with the standards of the legion intact.

Mrs. Sangar was first in the field, trotting out her light cavalry of statistics, her portable and compact artillery of logic and of modern ideas. And like a good strategist, she had not failed to provide her forces with an inexhaustible commissary of information. The old Roman, whose eloquence played no small part in winning him the place of honor on Georgia's supreme court bench, must have realized that here was a different and somewhat disconcerting antagonist to deal with.

But the lady's opening speech was merely a ruse: merely a skilled maneuver to draw the enemy out; for she is the sort of fighter who must have something definite to strike at;

Alleged Extortion Plotter and Innocent Aid

TESTIMONY ENDED IN GAS RATE CASE

Oral Arguments To Be Heard by Commission on Tuesday.

Testimony in the hearing of the Atlanta Gas Light Company's petition to revise gas rates upward came to a close late Thursday afternoon following vigorous cross-examination of Dr. John Bauer, of New York, special engineer for the Municipal Utility Rate Association, opponents of the increase, by C. S. Reid, rate specialist for the company. Oral arguments in the case will be delivered at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The Georgia public service commission, before which the hearing has been held, will decide Tuesday whether written briefs will be called for, and also whether the city of Atlanta will be allowed a delay of 60 to 90 days to make an independent appraisal of the gas company's property, Chairman James A. Perry announced.

Dr. Bauer occupied the witness stand practically all of Thursday, W. E. Mitchell, general manager of the Georgia Power Company, being the only other witness. Mitchell was called by City Attorney Mayson in an unsuccessful effort to have the witness name the price for which the gas plant was sold to the present owners.

Testimony of Dr. Bauer, under cross-examination by Mr. Reid, was concerned largely with the service charge and the effects of certain proposed rates. Dr. Bauer also was questioned, during the latter part of the day, by E. M. Price, rate expert of the public service commission.

Apartment Users.

A considerable portion of Dr. Bauer's testimony Thursday centered about the St. George apartments, on Peachtree, where, Dr. Bauer said, the average consumer uses about 500 cubic feet a month, "hardly the class who would benefit by the so-called promotional plan." Dr. Bauer said that the laboring man who lives in a four or five-room cottage would use 1,500 cubic feet a month.

The St. George apartment dwellers, classed by Dr. Bauer as salesmen and young married people of the white collared class with an average income of $2,000 to $2,500 a year, cannot afford to pay high gas bills, Dr. Bauer said. "Of course, it isn't a life and death matter for them to pay the $1.25 a month service charge, but that is $1.25 a month from an income which they are struggling to make cover the manner of living necessary in keeping with their business station," Dr. Bauer said.

Dr. Bauer was questioned closely by Mr. Reid on the cost to the consumer on the basis of three rates: B-1, $1.50 per 1,000 cubic feet for the first 3,000 cubic feet, 65 cents per 1,000 over 3,000, and $1 per month; B-2, $1, plus 91 cents per 1,000 for the first 3,000 cubic feet, and 65 cents per 1,000 for all over 3,000 cubic feet; and B-3, a service charge of $1.50 and 61 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Mr. Mayson introduced in evidence an advertisement of the Southern

COUNTY FAVORED TO REBUILD SPAN

MillicanWouldGiveBroad Street Bridge Job To Fulton Board.

Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican Thursday declared he will recommend that Atlanta attach a certified check for $34,000 to the drawings and specifications for reconstruction of the Broad street viaduct and send them to Fulton county authorities with a request that the county build the bridge under the supervision of Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction.

This action is in complete accord with the proposal of Fulton county commissioners, and assures start on the project at the earliest possible date.

Commissioners have agreed to contribute "whatever additional amount is needed to rebuild the Broad street structure provided it does not exceed $34,000."

"We made the county a proposition and the county has accepted it," Millican said. "All we have to do to get the bridge built according to our own plans is to do what we said we would. Mr. Donaldson will be the engineer, along with the borough's bridge engineer, C. E. Kauffmann."

ORGANIZED LABOR WILL REFUSE CUT IN WAGES—GREEN

Federation Chief Declares Strikes Will Follow Any Attempt at Reduction; Legion Asks Conference.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The opinion that organized labor should strike if wage reductions could not be frustrated by other means was expressed tonight by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green's statement followed an appeal addressed to organized and unorganized labor by the executive council of the federation that any efforts to reduce wages be resisted "to the fullest extent."

"We feel labor would be fully justified," Green said, "in resisting attempts to reduce wages even to the extent of striking."

The federation president reiterated the statement of the council that action by employers to reduce wages would constitute a direct breach of the agreement reached by industrialists and labor leaders at President Hoover's 1929 conference that wages would be maintained.

For its part, labor pledged that no movements for wage increases beyond those already under way would be started and that every co-operation would be lent to aid in the president's program.

750,000 LEGIONNAIRES ARE AMONG JOBLESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 14.—(UP)—The national executive committee of the American Legion tonight directed Commander Ralph T. O'Neill to immediately petition President Hoover to call together representatives of "labor, industry, capital, finance, agriculture and other elements" to solve causes of the existing economic depression.

"We urge," stated the committee, "that this commission also analyze charges that financial and business leaders failed to recognize warning signs fully one year ahead of the depression and failed to sound a warning that might have minimized the depression."

A national survey by the 10,000 legion posts indicates that more than 6,000,000 persons are without jobs of any description, the committee was informed.

The commission estimated 750,000 former service men were among those out of work. It added that through the agencies of the legion posts approximately 170,000 men were placed in employment.

"Drives for relief, spasmodic efforts in behalf of the unemployed," the report says, "serve well their purpose temporarily, but until a solution of the causes of depressions and panics is arrived at, advancement of the nation . . . must neecssarily be retarded. . . .

"We believe a continuance of the growing unrest, caused by the unemployment of willing hands, and by the lack of the proper necessities to live up to the standards established in this country, will ultimately lead to dire results if something constructive is not accomplished in the near future."

The report urged that such a conference as requested, "analyze the charges that our legislative bodies have in some way erected barriers which have caused a limitation in the sales of the products of the American workman."

POSITIONS OR DOLES, SAYS HARVARD PROFESSOR

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—(AP)—Dean Wallace B. Donham, of the Harvard graduate school of business administration, in an address here today advocated large-scale government work to relieve unemployment and prevent adoption of the dole system.

Speaking before the Associated Harvard Clubs and the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, Dean Donham said society must provide "either work or doles."

HIGH SCHOOL BOY IS KILLED BY FALL

Billy Hollingsworth Succumbs to Injuries After Fall Down Shaft.

Billy Hollingsworth, 14, student at Joe Brown Junior High school, died late Thursday at Grady hospital from injuries sustained when he fell through a large dumb-waiter shaft at the school. It is supposed that he fell from the third floor, which is a drop of 40 feet.

Janitors at school saw the boy about 3 o'clock as he was preparing to do some clerical work for which he received compensation. Shortly after 4 o'clock a negro custodian heard groans coming from the basement, and on investigation found young Hollingsworth lying in the shaft, according to the story told Grady officials. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, a fracture of the skull being given as the actual cause of his death.

He was the son of Luther A. Hollingsworth, departmental manager of the Eberhardt Dental Supply Company, and lived with his family at 495 Culberson street, S. W. In addition to his parents he is survived by three brothers, Edwin, Francis and Robert. H. M. Patterson & Son is in charge.

Hilary Howse Wins Again in Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 14.—(AP) Complete unofficial returns from 27 of 33 precincts in the Nashville city election tonight gave Mayor Hilary Howse and his ticket about a two-to-one lead over Felix Z. Wilson and another anti-administration candidate.

The tabulation:

For mayor: Mayor Hilary Howse 6,793; Felix Z. Wilson 3,298.

For board of public works: Dr. J. W. Bauman 6,893; Luther Luton 7,473; Paul W. Treanor 2,929. Bauman and Luton are incumbents.

For city judge: Judge Guild Smith, incumbent, 6,853; Sam Borum 1,833; J. D. Roberts 864.

Hoover Gratified Over Canal Survey

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Gratification over the survey by army engineers of a proposed Nicaraguan canal was expressed today by President Hoover in a letter to General MacArthur, chief of staff.

The survey recently was completed and the army engineers ordered back to the United States. Their recommendations have not been drawn up.

Engagement to Miss Morrow Is Denied by Widower Pastor

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—The persistent report that Miss Elizabeth Morrow, eldest daughter of United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow, of New Jersey, and the Rev. Clyde H. Roddy, of North Arlington, N. J., are engaged was denied by the Presbyterian pastor today.

No member of the Morrow family at Englewood would discuss the report. A woman, who declined to say who she was, answered inquiries by saying she had been instructed to deny that any engagement existed.

From Baton Rouge, La., however, came dispatches quoting the minister's sister, Miss Myrtle Roddy, as saying Miss Morrow and her brother were engaged. Miss Roddy said she had been informed of the engagement by letter from her brother.

When informed later that her brother had denied the engagement, Miss Roddy said she must have misunderstood. She explained that when she told of the engagement she was under the impression an official announcement had been made from the Morrow home.

Miss Morrow, whose sister is the wife of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, spent the day, as usual, teaching at her private school. She did not discuss the reports, which have persisted for several days.

Mr. Roddy was born in Louisiana and studied at Southern Methodist University, where he won his letter as a trackman. He was married on June 22, 1929, to Miss Adelaide Langdon, who died while they were on their wedding journey.

E. W. KNOX MAKES FULL CONFESSION, POLICE DECLARE

SUSPECT ELUDED FIRST POLICE TRAP

"Serious Accident" to Dargan Children Threatened in Letter Demanding $2,500.

As the result of a carefully laid trap, baited with marked money, city detectives late Thursday afternoon arrested Early W. Knox, 50, in connection with an alleged plot to extort money from Mrs. Hugh M. Willet, prominent Atlanta woman, and members of her family, through threats of harm to her children and grandchildren.

Knox, at detective headquarters, admitted to officers that he wrote threatening letters to Mrs. Willet and made a full confession, police said. He was docketed on a charge of "suspicion" pending a full investigation of the case.

Persons threatened in letters received by Mrs. Willet and said to have been written by Knox are Mr. Willet, Mrs. Milton Dargan, Jr., and G. W. McKenzie, children of Mrs. Willet, and Mrs. Willet's four grandchildren, Ann Dargan, 14; George Dargan, 11; Frank McKenzie, 8, and Jane McKenzie, 4.

Knox was arrested by City Detectives M. D. Warren and John Chester when they were led to him by Robert M. Head, of 51 Main street, Inman Yards. Head, police said, is an innocent party sent by Knox for a grip left at a transfer company office on Nassau street.

Members of the family expressed appreciation of the clever work of detectives and postoffice inspectors which resulted in the capture. Postoffice inspectors co-operated fully with city police in the case, it was said.

Knox told police that he came here four or five days ago, and that he has a wife and five children in Chicago. He freely admitted everything, police said, but requested them not to inform his wife of his trouble. Knox is said to have admitted to detectives that he was arrested in California on fictitious check charges.

Knox was questioned at length by Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole, who directed the maneuvers that led to the capture. Chief Poole warmly commended Detectives Warren and Chester for their efficient work on the case.

Grandchildren Threatened.

The first letter received by Mrs. Willet, on Monday, threatened that a serious accident would befall one of her grandchildren unless $2,500 was paid over. Mrs. Willet was informed in the letter that if she would avoid the threatened attack on the children she must insert an advertisement in The Constitution as follows: "R. B., Please get in touch with me. Mrs. M."

Mrs. Willet had the advertisement inserted according to the instructions, and on Tuesday night she received a second letter instructing her to place $2,500 in a grip and leave it at the Terminal hotel. If she failed to do

S. T. ALLEN WITHDRAWS FROM COUNTY RACE

Candidate for Commission Throws Support to Thomas J. Lewis.

Withdrawal of Sam T. Allen, leaving a field of 15, a radio address by Mayor Pro-Tem. G. Everett Millican, another aspirant, and scheduling of two meetings at which various contenders will bid for votes, Thursday were developments in the race for the Fulton county commission subject to the special election May 23.

Allen stated that he is leaving the field to support Thomas J. Lewis, and called on his friends to rally to Lewis' banner. He is a former deputy of the late Thomas Miller, clerk of Fulton county courts.

Millican Thursday night stressed the need for a metropolitan sewer district to relieve the "ever present menace to health and comfort."

"There is nothing that so threatens the health and lives not only of citizens of Fulton county, but all metropolitan Atlanta, including portions of DeKalb, Campbell, Cobb and Clayton counties, as the deplorable condition of the sewerage systems," he said.

"If I am elected to the board of county commissioners, I shall advocate the creation by the legislature of a metropolitan drainage district to comprise an area extending up to 40 miles in every direction from the center of Atlanta. The construction of such a sewerage system should be by a bond issue to take care of the trunk line sewers and an assessment district to take care of private lines. This will require considerable money, and its administration should be entirely free from politics. The spending of this money should not be vested in the board of county commissioners, nor in any other political body, but a special commission should be appointed of outstanding citizens of the district to be served, who will not be hampered by any political alignments or entanglements."

Friends of Paul Sikes will hold a rally beginning 7:30 tonight at the W. F. Slaton school on Grant street, to which all candidates have been invited. All candidates have been invited to a luncheon at 12:30 Tuesday at the Tavern tea room to speak to the open forum sponsored by the Atlanta League of Women Voters.

RAMSPECK WARNS OF "RED" MENACE

Communism's threat to the institutions of democracy and more adequate provision for unemployment and old age as the most effective means of combating that threat, were voiced by Congressman Robert Ramspeck in City Club address Thursday.

Mr. Ramspeck, referring to the "Russian question" as one of the most important that would face this nation in the future, declared that the "five-year plan" of industrialization in the soviet union, if it succeeded, would be one of the most drastic blows ever dealt the farmers and manufacturers of this country.

"Our greatest assurance for perpetuation of American freedom and democracy in combating the threat of communism," said Mr. Ramspeck, "is through overcoming the unemployment situation and providing adequate rewards for labor. A number of American industrialists have been too greedy. Unless they share more with labor the profits of their production the government will be forced by pressure that is already mounting, to enact old age pension and unemployment insurance measures."

Ernest and I want to meet some of our little radio friends so I've planned a surprise for you boys and girls Friday night, so please come up to W.2.B. at 6:45.

I'll be there waiting for you!

Confesses Robberies

A youth who said he was Paul Badenhop, 22 (above), of Kensington, Kan., a former student at Kansas Wesleyan, was said by police at Memphis to have confessed thirteen robberies there, one in Atlanta and three in Nashville. Badenhop, police said, attributed his capture to "one final job" and a trip to Memphis to visit his fiancee, whom he declined to name. Associated Press photo.

PHYSICIAN INDICTED ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—United States district attorney's office Thursday made public a number of indictments returned earlier in the week by the federal grand jury, including among the number an indictment in eight counts charging Dr. Ezekiel Z. Hurst, of Alma, late a practicing physician there, of violating the Harrison narcotic act by issuing prescriptions for narcotics to individuals "not in the course of his professional practice."

Other indictments for violations of the same act were found against Joseph Fred Barber, Alma; William Durham, Savannah; William Leonard, Mrs. James Nobel and Michael Spier, for buying narcotics at Savannah.

Mrs. Ocala Barnes, Graymont, is charged in an indictment with forging indorsement on a treasury check for veterans' compensation made out in favor of Mrs. Mattie Christian. R. E Barnes, I. G. Thompson and Etta Thompson are charged with aiding and abetting her, the amount involved being $403.87.

Franklin Monroe Campbell is charged with violation of the bankruptcy act in concealing assets from his trustee, J. P. Wood, in Augusta. A number of prohibition indictments, scattered through the southern district, were also returned.

GOOD HARNESS COP DESCRIBED IN ESSAY

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—The prescription of a "harness cop" for maintaining public confidence in the rank and ile of police was handed today to Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney.

"The uniform is not the livery of any class, clique or clan. It represents law and order and the dignity of the law can be upheld through the proper behavior of its representatives.

"It is the element of individual discretion that distinguishes the police officer from the soldier.

"The law-abiding person is the employer and friend of the policeman, and has a right to expect and receive his best efforts."

BRITISH WILL HALT AIRSHIP BUILDING

R-100 Will Be Kept for Experimenting, MacDonald Announces.

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—The British government will build no more airships for the present, Ramsay MacDonald told the house of commons today, but the R-100 will be retained as a "sort of experimental ship."

The debate and the prime minister's statement was the first occasion on which the house has discussed the nation's airship policy since the R-101 disaster. Mr. MacDonald prefaced his speech by saying that the catastrophe made it obvious that the policy must be reviewed.

As he saw it, he explained, there were three alternatives—to go on building airships, to scrap everything, or to take the middle course by maintaining a scientific experimental interest in lighter than air craft without engaging in new construction.

The government proposes to follow the last course, and the R-100 will be reconditioned. The Cardington air center will be maintained and the mooring masts at Montreal, Karachi, and Ismailia will be retained as the "nucleus" of Great Britain's airship activities. The maximum annual cost of this program, Mr. MacDonald said, will be about $700,000.

Sir Samuel Hoare, air minister in the last conservative government, and Sir John Simon, who wrote the R-101 report, expressed approval of the prime minister's announcement.

HARDWARE MEN CLOSE ANNUAL CONVENTION

Growth of the Southeastern Retail Hardware and Implement Association from a small beginning to the third largest organization of its kind in the United States was traced by B. L. Noojin, Gadsden, Ala., newly elected chairman of the executive board, in his address Thursday at the city auditorium, featuring the final session of the three-day convention of the association here. Other addresses were made by Walter Harlan, Atlanta; Paul J. Stokes, Indianapolis, and W. C. McGee, president-elect of the Tennessee dealers.

William C. Waddell, Greenville, Tenn., was formally installed as president of the association, along with the following retailers chosen Wednesday to head their respective state associations: Alabama, J. M. Thompson, Boaz; Florida, Lester McClung, Clearwater; Georgia, Roy Breen, Jesup, and Tennessee, W. C. McGee, Jackson.

TROLLEY MEN OPPOSE LIFTING OF JITNEY BAN

Resolutions deploring the recent action of Typographical Union No. 48, Atlanta, in appealing to the Atlanta Federation of Trades for repeal of the present jitney ordinance, as well as formal indorsement of this attitude by the trade federation, have been adopted by Division 732 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Bus Employes of America, it was learned Thursday.

"The repealing of said jitney ordinance," stated the resolution, "would greatly impair the wages and conditions of approximately 1,000 members of our local division, and the repealing of the ordinance could have no other effect than, by allowing the operation of jitneys, to provide to the public and citizenship of this city a great menace, as did their former operations in all other cities in the United States."

Copies of the resolutions have been forwarded to the typographical union and to the federation of trades and the Atlanta press.

"On behalf of the street car men," said J. B. Lawson, representative of the president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, Thursday, "I wish to state that, as far as relations between them and the Georgia Power Company are concerned, such relations are very cordial. This is shown by the fact that the agreement under which the men are now working automatically renewed itself a few weeks ago without any revision being sought by either side."

NEW JERSEY STANDARD REPORTS LEAN YEAR

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Consolidated net profit of the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey, for 1930 was $42,150,662, a decrease of $78,762,132 from the comparative 1929 total of $120,912,794. The 1930 total is equivalent to $1.65 a share on the 25,518,468 shares outstanding at the end of 1929. Dividends paid during 1930 amounted to $50,929,686.

W. C. Teagle, president of the company, in the annual report says considerable advantage to the petroleum industry would have resulted from the curtailment program except for the fact that "refiners as a whole failed to scale down their operations to a point at which the finished stocks could be profitably marketed," although the industry entered the year with excessive gasoline stocks.

Woman Now Coroner Of Arkansas County

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 14.—(AP)—A woman took office today as coroner of Hot Springs county—a job most women would shun.

Investigation of all murders and suicides in the county is required of Mrs. Ada Smith, of Malvern, who was appointed by Governor Parnell yesterday.

Her husband whom she succeeds killed himself and wounded her last week.

He was an undertaker.

She is the first woman coroner in the state.

BRIAND WILL PUSH UNION PLAN TODAY

GENEVA, May 14.—(AP)—Fresh from his defeat in the presidential election at home, Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, tomorrow will resume his efforts to lead European statesmen toward his ideal of a European economic union.

On the eve of the reconvening of the commission for studying the proposed Pan-European union, observers believed the veteran French minister faces a formidable task.

It is pointed out that relations between European governments have in no wise improved since the commission last met in January. In addition the economic depression is still being felt.

The much-discussed proposal for an Austro-German customs accord is one of the important matters which will come before the meeting.

It is understood the German delegation reached Geneva with plans to push their proposal vigorously, and are willing to see the issue placed before the permanent court at The Hague.

However, the general economic problem is likely to occupy more of the commission's time than the Austro-German matter. The British are understood to be prepared to emphasize the need for concerted relief measures, and a delegation from soviet Russia is coming to participate in this part of the discussions.

Arthur Henderson and Dino Grandi, British and Italian foreign ministers, lunched together today and presumably talked over various international questions including the economic situation.

Maxin Litvinoff, soviet foreign minister, and his Russian delegation will not participate in the first discussions dealing with the constitution, organization and methods of work of the commission. However, they will have time for the debate on the European economic situation.

The Turkish delegation also will be here in time for the economic discussion.

The political heat which flared about the national assembly at Versailles yesterday has cooled off. President-elect Paul Doumer is described by all newspapers except the socialist organs as a safe and sane office-holder, aloof from political strife.

M. BRIAND MAY RETAIN HIS PLACE IN CABINET

PARIS, May 14.—(AP)—The chances of Foreign Minister Aristide Briand to remain at his post in spite of his defeat in the presidental election appeared greater tonight, in view of his agreement to go to Geneva for the meeting of the committee on a Pan-Europa federation.

Yesterday's vote is generally interpreted as not being hostile to him as foreign minister. The hope is widely expressed that he will have a reception at Geneva that will induce him to change his mind about resigning. He tendered his resignation to the council of ministers today but they refused to accept it.

While M. Briand did not indicate his future intentions, if he remains in Geneva for the opening session of the Pan-Europa committee and represents France at the meeting of the League of Nations council his friends predict he will withdraw his resignation.

H. G. HUIE SUCCUMBS TO CRASH INJURIES

H. G. Huie, 38, of Riverdale, for several years with the Ford Motor Company in Atlanta, died Thursday afternoon at the Crawford W. Long hospital from internal injuries sustained Wednesday night when his car crashed into a telephone pole at Peachtree road and Highland drive.

A passing motorist found him unconscious in his smashed automobile and took him to the hospital. At first his wounds were not considered serious. Some time during the afternoon he suffered a relapse, and died about 3 o'clock.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Huie, of Riverdale; two brothers, W. McEver Huie, of College Park, and Byron S. Huie, of Detroit, Mich., and three sisters, Mrs. N. H. Benefield, of East Point; Mrs. R. T. Aderhold, of College Park, and Mrs. A. L. Anderson, of Atlanta.

Mr. Huie was an active member of the Presbyterian church of Riverdale. About 15 years ago he managed an amateur baseball team that had so many members of his family as players they were called the "Huies."

Funeral services are being held pending the arrival of the brother from Detroit. A. C. Hemperley & Co. is in charge.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN CAIRO RIOTING

Striking Railway Workers Clash With Government Troops.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 14.—(AP)—Coincident with parliamentary elections, striking railway workers rioted today and engaged in clashes with troops.

Government reports said five rioters were killed and 60 injured, but the first aid society said 18 were dead and 167 were hurt. Between 4,000 and 5,000 workmen went on strike last night and started disturbances which resulted in today's conflicts.

The rioting first broke out in the railway shops. When soldiers charged the area the workmen turned fire hoses upon them. The soldiers replied with machine-gun fire and succeeded in quelling the outbreak for the time being.

The disturbances flared throughout the day, however, and spread later to the center of the city. Mobs overturned and burned trams and buses, pulled down lamp posts and barricaded the streets and resumed clashes with the military. The latter maintained an incessant patrol of the native quarters of Bulak and Shubra.

Published reports that three British policemen had been killed and two engineers injured were not verified. Balloting in the elections continued throughout the clashes and voters were not molested on the way to the polls. Troops apparently had the situation in hand tonight, but the mobs still were threatening.

CHINESE CENSOR NEWS OF STRIFE

SHANGHAI, May 14.—(AP)—With rebellion reported imminent in south China, and mobilization of threatening troops reported north of the Yellow river in Honan, the nationalist government announced today censorship soon would be clamped on all international cable and radio facilities of Shanghai.

The government made no mention of these disturbing factors, merely saying the censorship was considered necessary as an emergency measure.

Dispatches from Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces for a week or more, however, have stated Military Governor Chen Chi-tang was raising an army of 50,000 men to back his demands that Chiang Kai-shek retire from leadership of the nationalist government.

Other dispatches from Nanking quoted Chiang as saying he was prepared to take military action against Governor Chen and his disgruntled fellows at Canton.

From Kaifeng it was reported large numbers of troops of unknown affiliation were digging trenches in Honan province.

To meet this threat the government was building an aerodrome at Kaifeng and establishing field hospitals along the Haichow-Tungkwan railway.

Ellie B. McBride, bachelor filling station operator, charred almost beyond recognition, in the ruins of his filling station burned last night.

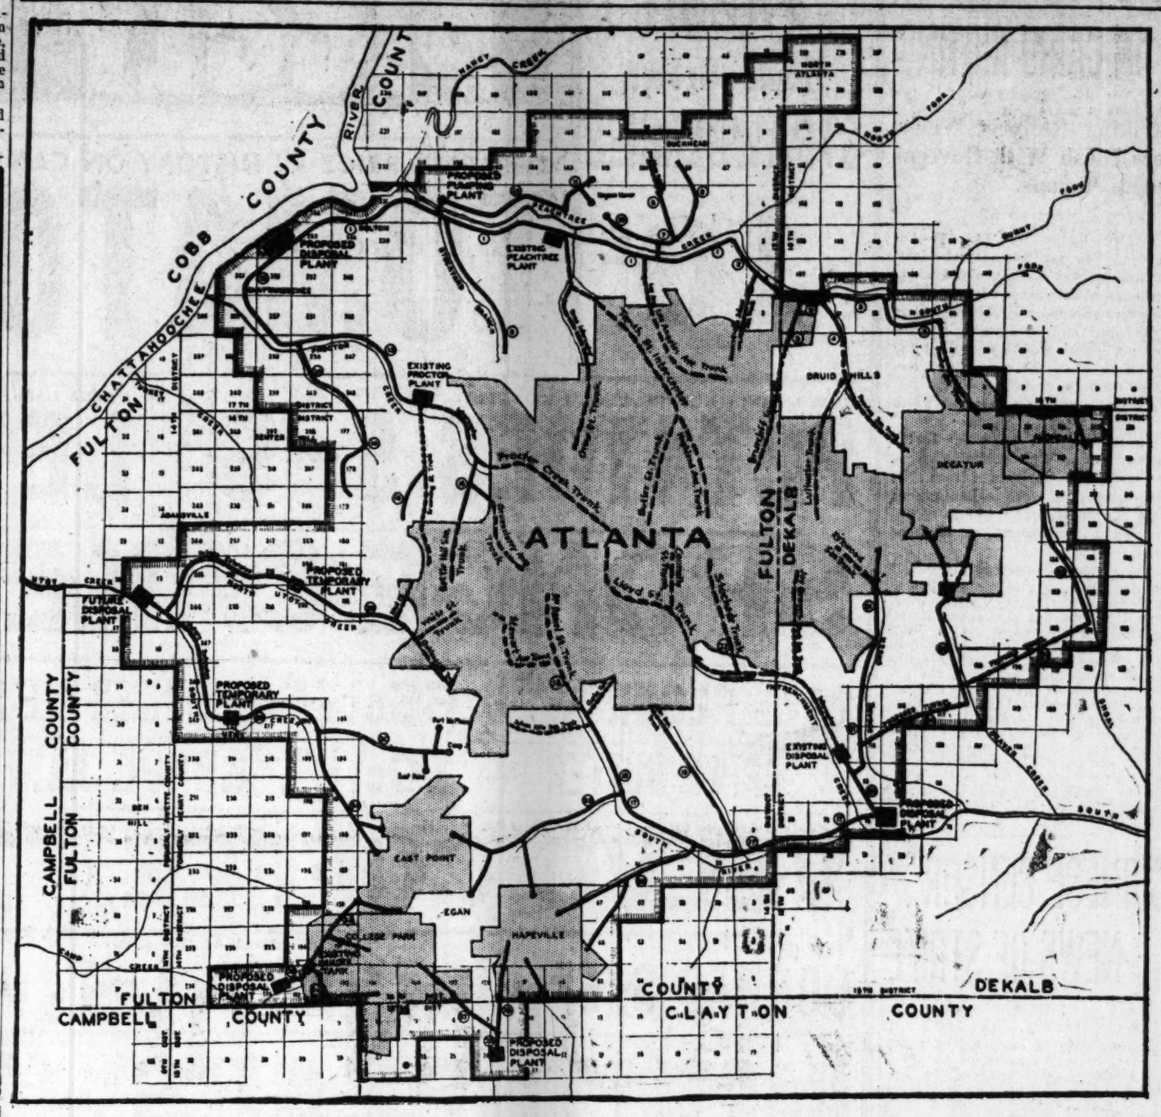

Sheriff Otis Coleman announced that he had arrested two negroes whom he suspected of having slain McBride and burned the building and was holding 18 other negroes as material witnesses.

The McBride filling station was located at 15-Mile Creek, four miles east of Graymont.

Sheriff Coleman said that slot machines, which had previously been operated in the station of McBride, were found about two miles away and McBride's pistol was nearby. The money, he said, had been taken from the machines.

The negroes held as suspects and witnesses were workers in a road paving crew operating near the station.

Map Shows Details of Proposed New Atlanta Sewer System

Territory included in the proposed sanitary district for relieving unbearable sewer conditions of metropolitan Atlanta which will be studied at a special called meeting of the sewer committee of council, is shown in the above drawing prepared under direction of Clark Donaldson, chief of construction. The plan shows the proposed improvements, with gigantic interceptors, disposal units and extensions of present trunk lines as indicated on the map. Engineers compiled the data shown from the recent survey of Whitman, Requardt & Smith, internationally known sanitary experts, who recently conducted a survey of the metropolitan district, recommending establishment of such a district. The Georgia legislature will be asked to set up machinery to carry out the program at its summer session. Engineering experts estimate the total cost of the program at about $13,000,000, but have pointed out that it should be undertaken over a period of 10 years. The Fulton county commissioners have agreed to furnish convict labor for ditching and back filling, an item estimated at approximately one-half the total cost if such labor was not available. Councilman Frank Reynolds, chairman of the sewer committee, stated Thursday afternoon he will call a meeting of the sewer committee within the next few days to insure consideration of the plan by council at its June 1 meeting.

LOW TRAIN-FARE PROVES FAILURE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 14.—(AP)—The St. Louis & San Francisco railroad today advised the Alabama public service commission that its experimental passenger rate of 2 cents a mile "had not served to increase travel" and that it would seek to restore the 3.6-cent rate effective July 1.

Announcement of the decision of the railroad was made by J. R. Koonts, vice president of the railroad, in a statement to the Alabama public service commission.

Mr. Koontz pointed out in his telegram to the Alabama commission that the rate was put in as an experiment through the approval of the interstate commerce commission and the various state commissions.

His telegram in full follows:

"We have had two-cent passenger fare in effect for period of three months. At time of promulgation we advised you it was experimental. Possibilities are that the period of depression is not conducive of a true test, but our experiment has not served to increase travel and has resulted in substantial monthly loss in our passenger revenue. Effective July 1 we will withdraw rate and go back to original basis (3.6 per mile). Your acquiescence and acknowledgment will be appreciated."

NOBLE PRIZES GROW.

The Nobel foundation at Stockholm announced that the five Nobel prizes would reach a high record this year. These awards were worth about $40,299 each when they were established in 1901. During and after the war they shrank considerably, reaching the low level of $30,802 in 1923. In 1930, however, they had risen to $46,350 and this year they will be worth $46,420. The total foundation has assets valued at $11,668,720.—The Pathfinder.

MEDICAL HISTORY OF GEORGIA NEAR

A complete history of the medical profession in Georgia, beginning with the days of Oglethorpe, is shortly to be published by the Medical Association of Georgia, according to an announcement issued Thursday by officials of that body, now holding its 82d annual convention at the Biltmore hotel.

The history, written by John Pitts Corry, assistant professor of history at Emory University, has been prepared under the supervision of a committee headed by Dr. E. C. Thrash, of Atlanta. Other doctors on the committee are: E. E. Murphy, of Augusta; Frank K. Boland, of Atlanta; M. A. Clark, of Macon; G. Y. Moore, of Cuthbert, president of the association; A. G. Fort, of Atlanta, president-elect, and A. H. Bunce, of Atlanta, secretary-treasurer.

The course of medical development in Georgia will be traced from the arrival of the first English doctors with the earliest settlers, through the establishment of the old "Academy of Medicine" at Augusta, 103 years ago, down to the present time. The history, which has been in preparation for the last three years, will contain portraits and life sketches of eminent practitioners of the past, it was announced. No doctor living at the present time will be included in the work.

President's Address.

The president's address, delivered at the noon session by Dr. G. Y. Moore, of Cuthbert, and the annual banquet held at 7 p. m. in the Biltmore, were the main features of the convention Thursday. Dr. Moore, whose subject was: "Pushing Back the Frontiers," dwelt on the recent strides taken by medical science, and the problems that still lie before it.

The banquet, at which the Fulton County Medical Society was host to the association, opened with the presentation of the Crawford W. Long memorial prize to Dr. H. M. Tolleson, of Hahira, for outstanding contributions to the profession. The medal was presented by Dr. William R. Dancey, of Savannah.

Governor L. G. Hardman, himself formerly a practicing physician, then presented to the association a silver loving cup, upon which will be inscribed annually the name of some doctor whose work in the research branches of the profession has been declared outstanding. The cup was accepted on behalf of the association by its president, Dr. Moore. Following the banquet, the annual president's reception and dance were held.

Election of officers for the association and a symposium on urology in which members of the Georgia Urological Association, an affiliated body, will be participants, are scheduled for the closing sessions today. Dr. W. F. Reavis, of Waycross, was elected president of the urologists in the group's annual business session held Thursday afternoon at the Biltmore. Dr. Reavis succeeds Dr. W. L. Champion, of Atlanta.

Other officers elected Thursday were: Dr. Ernest Corn, of Macon, president-elect, and Dr. A. F. Caldwell, of Atlanta, who was re-elected as secretary and treasurer. Dr. Wallace Bazemore, of Macon, was appointed chairman of the executive committee, which is composed of Dr. William Shearouse, of Savannah, and Dr. J. C. Keaton, of Albany. Macon was selected as the meeting place for the annual scientific session of the group, scheduled for next October.

J. E. SEGREST DIES OF CRASH INJURIES

J. E. Segrest, 50, of Stewart avenue, Hapeville, died Friday morning at Grady hospital from injuries received when the car which he was driving collided with an automobile driven by Carlos Rainwater, of College Park, on May 6. Segrest, who was employed by the railway mail department of the Terminal station, was returning from work when the collision occurred.

Miss Wyoma Brown, 17, and her sister, Estelle, 20, of 416 Forest avenue, East Point, suffered fractured legs in the crash. Rainwater was cut and bruised. Rainwater was released after the accident on a bond of $500.

H. H. PHARR DIES AT LAWRENCEVILLE

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., May 14. H. H. Pharr, prominent Lawrenceville citizen and merchant, died in an Atlanta hospital Thursday after a long illness.

Mr. Pharr was a director of the First National bank here, and had been in the mercantile business eight years. He was a member of the Methodist church, the Masonic lodge and the Kiwanis Club. He is survived by his widow, two children and three brothers and a sister. Funeral services will be conducted from the home here at 4 o'clock, eastern time, Friday afternoon.

Active in social circles of Atlanta, Mrs. Francis Jones, of 172 Fourteenth Street, N. E., also devotes time to church interests and the Parent-Teacher Association. At home she pays particular attention to menus, to insure a well-balanced diet for her family. "Frequently at luncheons and dinners, we serve Welch's," says Mrs. Jones. "The flavor of this pure fruit juice complements other foods and makes it a good meal-time drink. Every member of my family is pleased to see Welch's on the table."

for Buoyant Health

YOUR face tells a story to the world. If eyes are mirrors of the soul, no less is a radiant smile the mirror of good health.

Wholesome fruit such as Welch's Grape Juice as a part of the daily diet is the surest means of health insurance for the entire family. It is mildly laxative and non-fattening.

Drink Welch's—at breakfast, luncheon, dinner—every day throughout the year—and you will get all the concentrated goodness of America's own Concord grape. Loaded with quick energy and vitalizing elements, Welch's is brought to you scientifically pasteurized . . . ready for instant use. You'll find it wonderfully appetizing as a breakfast fruit.

1930 was a vintage year in the Westfield grape section of upper New York state. This means that today you enjoy an extra measure of that subtle bouquet, exotic flavor and lambent purple color which is the exclusive heritage of the Concord grape.

Children thrive on a fruit diet of Welch's. It supplies in abundant measure the liquids, mineral salts, neutralizing acids and fruit proteins which doctors declare so necessary to growing bodies. Many prefer it with one-third to one-half water added. The best plan is to keep a supply of Welch's in your pantry always. Then there will be no interruption to the safest, simplest method of supplying your family with Nature's tonic-food.

EDISON CRITICIZES GOLD STANDARD

FORT MYERS, Fla., May 14.—(UP)—The impractical economy of the gold standard has played an important part in the present depression, Thomas A. Edison told Joseph Meyer, Detroit X-ray specialist here.

The inventor believes the gold standard should be abolished on the grounds that no single commodity has a place as a standard of value. The gold monopoly as a standard is unjust, Edison believes, feeling that aluminum, iron and lead have the same place in international values as gold.

He declared the federal stamps should be taken from gold, which has no right to be "king." Cotton goods, grain, steel and fuels play comparatively important parts in the adjustment of money standards and coined money should be nothing more than a medium of exchange, he said.

"All commodities should sell on the market for their intrinsic value," Edison asserted.

SENATOR KING URGES HIGHER INCOME TAXES

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Senator King, of Utah, a democratic member of the senate finance committee, today joined senate republican independents in urging higher income taxes on the wealthy to help balance the government budget.

The westerner, who is preparing an increased tax bill, also agrees with Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, that the gift tax should be restored, and called for a material raise in the federal estate tax. Couzens also has demanded increases in the higher income tax brackets, along with Senators Borah, Idaho, and Norris, Nebraska, republican independents.

King's proposal was out of line, however with some other senate democrats, including Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, the ranking minority member of the finance committee, who believes the treasury deficit should be met by slower retirement of the public debt.

The Utahan said he believed the next congress would be compelled to seek additional revenue.

"I feel sure," he added, "that because of the present deficit and the extravagance of the administration there will be another deficit next year. It seems to be then we either have got to continue borrowing or reduce expenditures far beyond the plans of the administration and increase taxes."

He predicted there would be no material reduction in the budget next year, despite administration efforts to cut expenses to the bone, and said the tax bill should be increased by "several hundred million dollars."

"Taxes already are burdensome," he said, "but unless federal, state and municipal expenditures are cut sharply, the burden will become intolerable."

King listed the existing aggregate federal, state and municipal expenditures at $13,000,000,000, and said this "is a burden so heavy as to be an obstacle to a revival of business."

While tax legislation must originate in the house, King is prepared to substitute his bill for any that might be introduced in that branch and passed on to the senate.

Student Exhibit Will Open Today At High Museum

Far surpassing in size and artistry exhibitions of previous years, the annual display of work done by students in the High Museum School of Art will be opened by a reception from 3 o'clock to 6 this afternoon, all friends of the students and Atlanta lo ers of art being invited to attend. Various galleries containing the elaborate exhibit will be open to inspection, and refreshments will be provided.

The student exhibition, which will continue until June 1, will fill the main auditorium, Gallery A and section of another gallery at the museum.

An interesting event of the approaching Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the museum is the presentation of Charles Wakefield Cadman's famous song cycle, "The Morning of the Year." It will be presented under direction of Miss Lulu Clark King. Vocal parts will be handled by Mrs. E. Raymond Johnson, soprano; Miss Bertha Simms, contralto; John Panter, tenor, and Coleman Kimbro, baritone, while Miss Lillie Smith will serve as accompanist.

BROOKINGS INSTITUTE DEDICATION TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Trustees assembled tonight to dedicate tomorrow permanent headquarters of the Brookings Institution—a white limestone building looking on a tranquil park in the busy center of the capital.

The group was headed by Robert S. Brookings, of Washington and St. Louis, retired manufacturer-philanthropist, who founded the institution to pioneer in promoting research and making its findings available immediately for application in government reforms.

Fellowship awards to students who will live and work here for a year, announced on the eve of the dedication, included representatives of five nations.

The slender new structure rises eight stories, facing LaFayette square, directly opposite the White House. It cost about $700,000 and was the gift of Mrs. Isabel Valle Brookings, the founder's wife.

Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union and a trustee of the institution, will dedicate the edifice tomorrow evening.

WELLS TO RETIRE FROM MAGAZINE

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Thomas Bucklin Wells, for 31 years associated with Harper & Brothers, publishers, chairman of the board and executive committee, and editor-in-chief of Harper's magazine, will retire May 18, it was announced today.

He will remain on the board of directors and continue a stockholder in the corporation.

BILBO ORDERED TO BED AS CRASH AFTERMATH

JACKSON, Miss., May 14.—(AP)—Although his condition was not considered alarming, Governor Theodore Gilmore Bilbo was not permitted visitors nor use of an extension telephone at his bedside in the mansion tonight.

The governor went to bed today after being cautioned by Dr. Harvey F. Garrison, his physician, that his recent automobile accident injuries might result in pneumonia should the governor continue to "disobey" doctor's orders and attending to business at the capitol. He had a slight degree of fever tonight.

Governor Bilbo received a fractured rib and abdominal injuries last Saturday when his sedan toppled over three times and plunged from the highway into a ditch near Prentiss. He was ordered to bed, but nevertheless has kept appointments at his office.

COMPULSORY 'MILITARY' HIT BY CORNELL FACULTY

ITHACA, N. Y., May 14.—(AP)—Cornell University's faculty today announced a majority stand against the continuance of compulsory military training, as typified by the R. O. T. C., and placed the matter in the hands of the board of trustees.

The vote against such involuntary training was 81 to 38. Cornell, a land grant college, is one of the oldest strongholds of cumpulsory military training in the country.

The faculty resolution suggested that the course be made elective. Any change would affect nearly 2,000 students in the first and second-year classes at the university.

The resolution followed agitation initiated several months ago by the Cornell Daily Sun, student publication.

Jap's Plane Damaged.

TOKYO, Japan, May 14.—(AP)—The projected trans-Pacific flight of Setji Yoshihara received a setback today when his plane was damaged after drifting four hours off the coast of Shimushiru Island, to which he had flown from Shana.

IDEAL WEATHER FAVORS FLIERS

Army Air Force Poised for Final Hop to Dayton and "Warfare."

D. TON, Ohio, May 14.—(AP)—Favored by ideal flying conditions in all parts of the country except the east, the army air force tonight was poised for its final hop to Dayton and a war with an unnamed foe.

Scattered groups landed here during the day. The first contingents to arrive were national guard observation planes which will be molded into the 22d provisional observation group. It will be the first time the national guardsmen have been called upon to co-operate with the regular army on such a large scale.

With all of the planes due here not later than noon Friday, staff officers who will direct the huge war maneuver, which includes the defense of Chicago, Detroit and the east coast, were making detailed plans for the activities.

The various sections of the corps which will make up the "battle" personnel were announced today. The first pursuit wing will be composed of 194 fast fighting ships and 33 transports. The cumbersome transports, which carry baggage and spare parts, will not be able to keep up with the fighting fleet, but will be on hand when the fighters set down at night.

In the bombardment wing will be 33 heavy bombers, capable of carrying several thousand pounds of demolition materials, and 33 light bombers and two transports.

The observation wing will be composed of 150 observation planes and two transports. The third attack group, capable of giving battle either to pursuit or bombing planes, and able to carry out missions usually allotted to observation ships, will be composed of 51 attack ships and one transport.

Training flights of these organizations which will be made of various units scattered over the country will be held Friday and Saturday. On Sunday a review of the entire fleet will be held. It is estimated it will take this group 20 minutes to pass a given point, flying at 100 miles an hour.

AD CLUB CONSIDERS NATIONAL AFFILIATION

Directors of the Ad Club were authorized to take steps looking toward affiliating with the national association of advertising clubs, at the weekly luncheon meeting Thursday in the civic room of the Ansley hotel.

Only two more meetings are scheduled for the organization before the summer recess, it was pointed out by Herbert Porter, president, in announcing the remaining programs. L. S. Costley, regional manager for the Chevrolet Motor Company in Atlanta, will be the speaker at next week's meeting, and the final session, it was voted, will be a night party. Miss Betty Stanton and Lorenzo Jones were appointed to take charge of the program.

The club extended felicitations to W. R. Massengale on being named to the executive board of the American Association of Advertising Agencies and to Mr. Porter on his appointment as vice president and general manager of The Georgian.

V. H. Pelz, director of the editorial and research staff of the American Institute of Food Distribution, Inc., of New York, addressed the club on "Important Current Developments Affecting the Future of Food Distribution." He predicted that the retail outlets would tend toward the chain stores during the next 10 years and that selling on the part of both manufacturers and producers would be concentrated as a result of the concentration in buying power. The speaker expressed belief that quick freezing would also have an important effect on the food industry in the near future.

S. CAROLINA TO SPEND $10,000,000 ON ROADS

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 14.—(AP)—In the next seven months $10,000,000 will be spent on South Carolina highways, the state highway department announced today.

Approximately $3,000,000 worth of work will be let in June. Other lettings will follow during the summer. No reduction will be made in the salaries of maintenance workers.

Rising Mercury Promised City By Forecaster

A gradual but steady increase in temperatures until normal May levels are reached was forecast Thursday by C. F. Von Herrmann, chief of the local United States weather bureau.

"We may expect about two degrees higher temperatures each day for the next week," he said. "Perhaps even a bit longer. But normal levels will be reached during the last two weeks in May, and I believe we have seen the last of the real chilly weather."

Thursday the thermometer ranged from 50 to 69 degrees, or just a shade under the average mean temperature recorded in May, 1917, which was the coolest May weather on record. Warmer weather, the forecaster said, will be without threat of rain.

MERCHANTS' BODY MAY SAVE LIGHTS

Probability that members of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association will rally to prevent curtailment of the white way lighting in downtown business districts was expressed Thursday by J. P. Allen, president, in a letter to Pat Hendricks, superintendent of electrical affairs.

Although the electric lights committee approved cutting out one light from each of the two-light standards and three from the five-light type, it ordered Hendricks to give the merchants time to submit the matter to the association before cutting them out.

It also voted to ask council for $3,000 worth of equipment after several contractors complained that inspections are always delayed because the department has not the necessary transportation or other equipment to meet requirements.

DR. L. O. BRICKER GOES TO FATHER'S FUNERAL

Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the Peachtree Christian church, and Mrs. Bricker left Atlanta for Bridgewater, Va., to attend the funeral of Dr. Bricker's father, John Wesley Bricker, 90, at his home in the Shenandoah valley, it was learned Thursday. Mr Bricker lived all of his life on the estate near Bridgewater. Interment will be in Ottobine churchyard, near Harrisonburg, Va.

WOODRUFF TO DISCUSS AUTO LAWS IN INDIANA

Commissioner Seeks Settlement of Indiana-Georgia Truck Dispute.

Public Service Commissioner Albert J. Woodruff left Atlanta Thursday night for Indianapolis to try and bring about peaceful settlement of differences between Georgia and Indiana over regulation and taxation of motor vehicles.

Because Georgia has recently demanded that Indiana trucks doing a commercial business in this state qualify under the regulatory motor carrier laws, the Hoosier state has threatened to require Indiana tags on all Georgia cars, passenger or truck, that move in that state.

A reciprocity offer which came from the Indiana secretary of state Wednesday to Secretary of State Carswell was referred to the public service commission, which administers the bus and truck laws. The commission, confronted with several phases of the law and several Indiana complaints, dispatched Commissioner Woodruff in the hope of averting open warfare.

Bandit Is Outwitted By Negro Messenger

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—A negro bank messenger, William Mitchell, 35, outwitted a bandit today and saved the Park Savings bank $2,000.

The bandit jumped on the running board of Mitchell's automobile at a stop traffic light and pressing a revolver to his side ordered the negro to drive. Mitchell did, he says his machine into a gasoline station and screamed for help. The bandit fled.

4,100 HOURS IN AIR CLAIMED BY LINDBERGH

NEW YORK, May 14.—(UP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's license as a transport aviator—No. 69—was renewed today by the department of commerce. In his application he said he had spent 4,100 hours in the air.

ELLIS SEEKS FREEDOM ON HABEAS WRIT TODAY

Alleged Bunco Man To Ask Liberty in Atlanta City Court.

Ed O. Ellis, alleged lieutenant of Floyd Woodward, fugitive bunco ring leader, will face Judge Hugh M. Dorsey in city court today in an endeavor to obtain his release on a writ of habeas corpus and thus evade a one-year chain gang sentence.

Failing to gain his freedom in that manner, counsel for Ellis Thursday announced the case would be taken to the state supreme court on a writ of supersedeas. Ellis' lawyer also announced he will appeal the ruling of Judge E. D. Thomas, who Wednesday allowed minutes of a previous trial of Ellis to be corrected. It was on the contention that the court records were incorrect that Ellis sought his liberty.

KLEIN DECLARES JOBS IS ONLY BUSINESS AID

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Declares Business Is Improving.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 14.—(AP) Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, in an address before the annual meeting of the Nashville Chamber of Commerce tonight listed a "decalog of the depression" from which he said there is "authoritative testimony" American business is emerging.

"But there is one solution—and only one—to this problem of business recovery," he said. "And that is more jobs. We have got to sustain and strengthen the buying power of our wage earners."

The decalog, he said, was an outgrowth of the "several salutory lessons" business has learned "during its period of trial."

An abstract of it:

1. Don't blame the depression for everything which has marred the economic scene since 1929. The collapse of many parts of the economic structure has had widespread repercussions, but there are other and in many cases deeper-sented defects having nothing to do with the regrettable episodes of the past 18 months.

2. Don't compare peaks with slumps. Both are abnormalities.

3. Don't fall into the fallacy so common among European industrialists of expecting the wage earner to bear the brunt of the readjustment. Before resorting to that extremity, let industry be sure that every other one has been exhausted.

4. Don't cut loose from associate activities in business—collaborate in chambers of commerce and trade associations.

5. Don't ignore the amazing power of the new technology. No peril is quite so disastrous in business these days as a smug, self-satisfied assurance that present technique in production will be permanent.

6. Don't cut marketing research. Our gravest deficiency still lies in the field of defective distribution. Our major business problem these days is not what can be made, but what can be sold.

7. Don't overlook the stabilizing value of foreign markets. They cannot be exploited on short notice.

8. Don't fall again into the perils of mass mania, the delusion that the sole purpose of business is "busyness."

9. Don't overlook the perils of obsolete equipment. It is wiser to have the junk heap outside the factory than in it. Nearly half (48 per cent, to be exact) the machinery in our own American factories today is over ten years old.

10. Don't be stampeded by unfounded rumors. They are fodder on which crises flourish. In these days of abundant, accurate statistical data and superb communication facilities there is no longer any valid excuse for miscievous gossip peddling among otherwise sensible business executives.

ESTATE OF STRONG IS LEFT TO FAMILY

CHICAGO, May 14.—(AP)—The will of Walter Ansel Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, disposing of an estate as "not to exceed" $2,500,000 was filed for probate today.

His widow, Mrs. Josephine Haviland Strong, gets one-third of the estate, while the remainder was created as a trust estate for the benefit of Mrs. Strong and the five children.

The will, dated April 26, 1926, conferred discretionary powers on the executors as to disposition of the Daily News, control of which Mr. Strong acquired after the death of Victor Lawson by purchase of a majority of the stock.

The executors are free, under the terms of the will, to retain indefinitely as part of the estate the controlling interest in the Daily News. The will suggests, however, that for a period of three months after the testator's death the stock be held available to purchase by any individual or group in the employ of the News; for the next month, available for sale to any stockholder or group of stockholders, and thereafter for sale generally. Mr. Strong stipulated, however, that the executors be not obligated to accept the highest or any bid, leaving them free to carry out in their own way his wishes for safeguarding the newspaper's future.

The balance sheet of the Daily News last December 31 showed total assets of $29,500,000.

UNION EXECUTIVE HELD IN MINE FRAY

HARLAN, Ky., May 14.—(AP)—Charged with murder in connection with the gun battle last week that cost the lives of four men, William H. Hightower, president of the Evarts Coal Miners Union, was arrested late today at Evarts and brought to jail here.

He was the fifth man to be charged with murder in connection with the battle. All were indicted by the special grand jury investigating disorders which caused 400 state troops to be sent here. The others indicted are W. B. Jones, secretary of the local union; Asa Cusick, chief of police at Evarts; A. L. Benson, assistant chief of police, and Joseph Cawood, town clerk at Evarts.

Hightower's arrest caused excitement, but no disorder in Evarts, where the labor disorders have centered.

PRESIDENT GREETS CHILEAN AIR HERO

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Colonel Arturo Merino, chief of the Chilean air forces, was presented to President Hoover today by the Chilean ambassador.

Colonel Merino is in this country to inspect American airports and airplane factories. He will witness the air corps maneuvers which begin on Monday and later intends to go to England to vew the British air corps training flights.

He was accompanied to the White House by two of his aides.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new remedy known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's prescription is a quick acting yet harmless internal medicine. After years of study he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer of itching, bleeding or protruding piles to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Jacobs' Drug Stores and good druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will positively end piles in any form or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should secure a bottle of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID tablets today.—(adv.)

British Explorer Bares Story Of Perilous Arctic Expedition

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

ANGMAGSALIK, Greenland, May 14.—(AP)—A story of being buried two months beneath ice and snow in an igloo was told here today by Augustine Courtauld. The British scientist, who was rescued last week by fellow members of the British arctic air route expedition, had only a chimney way to provide air in his place of refuge on the Greenland ice cap.

Courtauld, whom Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Swedish aviator, brought here with H. G. Watkins, chief of the rescue party, from their inland base, was unshaven and unrecognizeable beneath a long growth of beard, and appeared somewhat the worse for a long enforced diet of seal meat.

Watkins said that his rescue party had toiled for many weeks over the ice crags toward the locality where at the winters' beginning they had left Courtauld to observe weather conditions. They frequently lost the trail and near the place they reckoned Courtauld to have been left were delayed for days when the skies clouded up and they could not ascertain their position.

In searching a wide ice field they found an enormous drift, covered with a thick layer of ice which they at once concluded must have been Courtauld's igloo. At the top of the snow-mound, which rose above the surrounding acres of frozen snow, the weary party found a small hole which was the only opening in the surrounding desert and which they concluded must be the igloo's chimney.

They shouted down into it, hoping their comrade was safe below, and heard in reply an unexcited: "Hello. All right," which relieved their doubts and assured them that the imprisoned man was very much alive. They went to work with spades and within 15 minutes had dug down and reached Courtauld.

Courtauld said that two months before a blizzard had raged for several days, completely covering the igloo. It was out of the question to try to dig himself out, first because the snow would have fallen in on him and then because he had left his only shovel outside before the blizzard began. Part of his supplies also were outside.

There was no opening to the outside world from the murky igloo except by the chimney, which he had to keep open and provide him with air. For a month he was without a permanent light and depended for an occasional glimmer upon a little gasoline lamp which he used to melt snow to obtain drinking water.

He said that he spent most of his dreary time in his sleeping bag, dozing and thinking, telling himself to keep his courage up.

YOUTH ASKS $50,000 FOR FALSE ARREST

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 14.—(AP)—Suit for $50,000 damages alleging false arrest and causing delay of an operation on his eyes was filed in chancery court here today by Ernest Smith, a Winnsboro, La., youth, against Colonel Zack T. Miller, wild west show man of Ponca City, Okla.

The bill of complaint alleged that while Colonel Miller was in Natchez last January to prosecute his libel suit against Tom Mix, the broncho movie actor, bodyguards and private detectives of Miller had young Smith arrested on suspicion and after his release he was shadowed, called up again and his baggage was searched.

Smith claimed that he was only a curious country boy en route to New Orleans to undergo an operation on his eyes when he stopped at the hotel dining room where Colonel Miller and party were dining to try to get a look at Tom Mix and was approached and accused of being a "Chicago gangster."

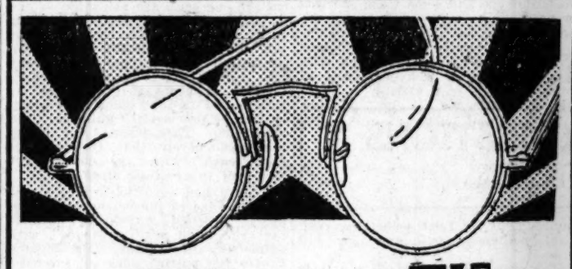

The suit said that Smith's family convinced the complainants that the youth was above any suspicion but that he was subjected to severe questioning and humiliation.

It claimed that the delay in Natchez aggravated the condition of his eyes.

CHINESE BAN WESTERN DANCING AS IMMORAL

PEIPING, May 9.—(UP)—Chinese officials in Hupeh province, of which Hankow is the principal city, have been forbidden to indulge in western dances, according to an official order. The order states western dancing is immoral.

Chinese officials in Peiping hope the order will not serve as a model here. Western dances have become very popular here, and several dance halls have opened with Chinese girls as dancing partners. Officials are eager patrons of these night clubs.

FRIENDS TO BACK REED FOR SEAT IN SENATE

Hawes Declines To Seek Re-election; Will Leave Public Life.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—A final decision not to run for re-election next year was announced today by Senator Hawes, democrat, Missouri.

That immediately stirred speculation over the possible return to Washington of the veteran, James A. Reed, of the same state.

While no one here presumed to speak for Reed, his friends were inclined to the belief he would not seek a return to the senate chamber where for 18 years his persuasive oratory kept him in the thick of battle.

Reed, in standing for the democratic presidential nomination in 1928, declined to seek re-election for a fourth term to the senate. It is the known intention of his friends to advance him again for the party's presidential nomination next year and if he is induced to re-enter politics it is believed it will be only in that race.

Senator Hawes, in formally withdrawing from the senate contest of 1932 in his state, mentioned no other candidates. He announced some time ago a determination to leave public life. Then he expected to head a game conservation movement, but he later announced he would not do so.

He said he gave his formal notice today in response to many suggestions from his state that he change his mind and again run.

"If I believed my nomination was essential to democratic success," said the statement, "this pressure might have affected my judgment; but some man, well qualified and able, will be nominated. I cannot change my decision not again to become a candidate."

MONTREAL PAPER TO HELP JOBLESS

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 14.—(AP)—The Montreal Star announced today as a contribution to relieve unemployment and distress that it will lay off no hands for a year except for admitted cause, and will add at least one person in each department.

It recommends this as a policy for all prosperous business concerns with a view to increasing buying power and reducing idleness.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 15, 1931.

NATIONAL COTTON WEEK.

Governor Hardman will, today, issue a proclamation naming the first week in June "National Cotton Week," and asking its general observance in the state.

At a special meeting held in Atlanta Tuesday the board of directors of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia unanimously voted their enthusiastic indorsement of the "National Cotton Week" program, plans for which were announced a few days ago, and which is being sponsored by the United States departments of agriculture and commerce, and directed by the Cotton Textile Institute, and the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

The members of the executive board of the association, representing a large number of cotton manufacturing plants in all parts of the state, expressed wholehearted indorsement of this constructive movement and offered the full cooperation and assistance of the association in an effort to make the program eminently successful in Georgia.

Cason J. Callaway, of LaGrange, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, who is largely responsible for the launching of the "National Cotton Week" movement, attended the meeting of the board, of which he is a member, and told the directors of his recent conferences with Secretary Lamont, Secretary Hyde and George Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, all of whom are actively co-operating in this patriotic program.

As a result of the action of the board ample funds were appropriated to be used by a committee composed of Fuller E. Callaway, Jr., of LaGrange, chairman; W. D. Anderson, Jr., of Macon, and T. M. Forbes, of Atlanta, secretary of the association, in creating a statewide interest in the observance of "National Cotton Week" during the first week in June. This committee is making elaborate plans for cotton textile exhibits, window displays, fashion shows, special sales of cotton products, and cotton festivals, in all parts of the state during that week, and it is hoped that through extensive advertising and publicity which will be given to this program, the people of Georgia will be aroused to an enthusiastic consciousness of the beauty, style and utility of cotton products.

The activities of the association in connection with the "National Cotton Week" movement will be centered especially in Atlanta, and the committee is making every possible effort to obtain the full cooperation of all Atlanta merchants who handle any products made of cotton.

More than 65,000 people are directly employed in the cotton manufacturing mills in Georgia, and fully 400,000 farmers and farm laborers are engaged in the production of cotton. These employes and workers, together with their families, represent a total of approximately 2,000,000 people in this state who are directly or indirectly dependent upon the growing, manufacturing, and marketing of the 1,500,000 bales of cotton that are produced and manufactured in Georgia each year. Cotton is a very vital factor in the economic and commercial life of the state and any movement that tends to increase the consumption of cotton and its produ will be of great benefit to the entire state, since the purchasing power of a great portion of the state's population is regulated by the amount of cotton goods consumed.

The "National Cotton Week" movement is not to be devoted entirely to clothes and other commodities made wholly of cotton, for equal emphasis is to be laid on all articles, any part of which are made of cotton, and since cotton is a very important factor in many of the country's major industries, this movement should be the means of stimulating general business conditions throughout the nation.

Cotton goods are being sold at the lowest prices in 15 years, and this is a most opportune time to create a nationwide interest in cotton merchandise of all kinds.

WILLIAM CANDLER'S SERVICE.

The retirement of William Candler as a director of the United States Chamber of Commerce brings to a close a distinguished period of public service. His voluntary withdrawal after four years of intense application to the affairs of the national chamber, has been signalized by expressions of regret from his associates on the board, and by appreciative resolutions from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Candler's record is outstanding.

As a representative of the fourth district he brought before various business bodies throughout the south the futherance of the constructive economic and social policies of the great organization in which he took such an active part.

For more than two years he was chairman of the governing board of Nation's Business, the official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Of him Editor Merle Thorpe said: "William Candler is not only representative among the young men of the industrialized south, he is the type of leader which will save this nation."

Conspicuous among the positions held, and duties performed by William Candler, was that as chairman of the field committee. In the domestic distribution department he served as a member of the committee on the collection of business figures. Before becoming a director he served on the resolutions committee. This was at the fourteenth annual session held in Washington. He was on the program committee of the seventeenth annual session, and served as chairman of the committee on the maintenance of motor vehicles.

By reason of the work of William Candler the establishment of the southeastern headquarters in Atlanta of the national chamber came about. Other southern cities presented their claims, but William Candler's influence brought about the location in Atlanta.

No finer chapter in the splendid public services of William Candler has been written than his contribution to the greatest national business organization in the world.

GUNNING FOR MOSES.

Reports in The Constitution's news correspondence from Washington bring information that a serious schism in the ranks of the republican majority in the senate is looming as the result of the desire of the progressives to further "discipline" Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, for his "wild jackasses" statement of a year or so ago.

The milk in the coconut so far as this threat of renewed war within the G. O. P. is concerned is probably not that the insurgents are still rankling over the designation applied to them, but because of the power over committee assignments wielded by the wily old senator from New England as the result of his occupancy of the office of president pro tempore of the senate.

It is known that this office is both pleasant and pleasing to Senator Moses and he will unquestionably combat vigorously and strenuously any effort to oust him from it.

On the other hand, such insurgent leaders as Norris, La Follette, Borah, Nye and Blaine, it is declared, will be far from sure of their committee chairmanships if the old guard is permitted to again place its astute leader in a position where he could exert such powerful influence on committee designations.

It is a foregone conclusion that the insurgents, if given cause to fear the loss of their jealously guarded chairmanships, will launch a fight which could well cause a disruption that would split republican ranks in congress wide open.

In that event it is not beyond the possibilities that the democrats, reported as keenly watching from the sidelines the developments in the Moses-insurgent embroglio, could step in and with the aid of the insurgent balance of power effect organization of the senate.

Nobody wants the tariff torn to pieces; the people only want the robber rates torn out of it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Dreaded Phantom Returns.

The White Lady, Berlin's dreaded specter that is held in particular horror by members of the Hohenzollern family, is said to be roaming the corridors and marble halls of the deserted Old Palace, formerly the residence of Kaiser Wilhelm II.

On two successive evenings, it is reported, the watchmen on guard have called in assistance from passing policemen to chase the white shape that flits through the long hallways and disappears without leaving a trace. Tradition links the third appearance of the White Lady with an evil omen to the reigning chief of the Hohenzollern family. As none of the former imperial family can be said to be reigning at the present moment, Berlin is highly amused and speculative on what the upshot will be of the spectral apparition.

The last time the legendary "Weisse Frau" was seen in the Old Palace was on the eve of the death of the ex-Empress Augusta Victoria, the kaiser's first spouse, according to folklorists and amateurs of the psychic who have kept tab on the lady's sporadic visits. They claim that she also honored the ancient castle with a visit just prior to the death of the kaiser's son, Prince Joachim, who committed suicide shortly after the war when he discovered that he was suffering from an incurable disease.

Tradition will have it that no member of the Hohenzollern family, since the Great Elector, departed this life without a preliminary warning from the eerie ghost. Frederick I saw her and Frederick the Great, also the kaiser's grandfather and his father, the gentle Frederick. The first questions which the Hohenzollerns ask when the White Lady is reported sighted by sentinels is whether she wore black or white gloves. On the color of gloves depends the fact whether a male or female member of the family is about to die. Black for the men and white for the women.

The ex-kaiser, now at Doorn, was the first Hohenzollern ruler who dared to challenge the authenticity of the White Lady story. He classed the accounts of her apparitions with fairy stories and old wives' tales.

While Wilhelm was incredulous, Napoleon firmly believed in the lady. When he passed through Berlin on his triumphal march through Germany, the emperor of the French expressed his desire to sleep in the old palace. He was at once informed that a ghost, friendly to the Prussian royal family, might disturb his sleep. Napoleon disregarded the warning and chose to face it out. He placed some stalwart grenadiers in front of his bedroom and Marshal Ney, the "bravest of the brave," slept in the ante-chamber.

Suddenly during the night the emperor screamed in terror. Ney burst in the door, fully clothed, sword drawn and pistol ready. Napoleon stammered that he had seen a White Woman. A chase was organized through the palace, but without result. While the soldiers were hunting high and low through cellars and garrets, a deafening noise was heard in the room above the emperor's, and when an investigation was made it was discovered that a life-size painting, representing the original White Lady, had fallen to the floor. Napoleon immediately left the palace and commanded that no man should speak of the affair.

The father of Frederick the Great, who, like his present-day descendant at Doorn, had taken up the hobby of carpentry and wood sawing, once had the queer notion to make his own coffin. He completed it on the night of a state ball and invited all the guests into his workshop to view his handiwork.

Coming in from the brilliant and worldly gala affair, the guests staggered and were taken aback by the sight of the coffin. Frederick enjoyed their discomfiture and tried to add to it by lying down in the coffin to see, as he said, if it was the right length. When the king sunk down in the casket a noise was heard outside the door and a sentry ran in, shouting: "The White Lady!" "Black or white gloves?" asked the Hohenzollern, according to tradition. "Black, your majesty," came the answer. "That signifies my death" said Frederick, and he died on the following morning, stricken by a heart attack.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 14.—Has the exit march of great ladies begun? Back of the announcement that Norma Talmadge will make no more pictures for United Artists is the record of a year's diligent search for a vehicle suitable for this still lovely star. But the most illuminating angle of the entire situation is the fact that Norma Talmadge has suffered precisely the same experience that has driven Mary Pickford to distraction—inability to settle on a vehicle as suitable to the talents of the star.

"I am not retiring from pictures, merely from United Artists," says Norma Talmadge, "and that, because I have not had sufficient voice in the choosing of my vehicles."

"We cannot depart from studio precedent" is Sam Goldwyn's song and he's going to keep on singing it.

Each famous lady has, during the past year, begun a piece of work and abandoned it suddenly, without definite reason beyond that vague "not suitable." Mary Pickford's change of mind on the vehicle which was to have preceded "Kiki" and on which some $150,000 was lightly tossed aside, was merely deemed "not suitable to the talents of the star." And Norma Talmadge's venture with "The Greeks Had a Word For It" was abandoned on the same pretense.

If the choice of the stage play was a wise one for Norma Talmadge, the reason for the choice as given by the studio was exceedingly silly. Norma Talmadge was apparently chosen for the role because of her physical resemblance to Muriel Kirkwood, the temperamental little sprite who put such verve into the role in the Broadway production.

A few days before the San Bernardino tryout the show was called off—and of course the screen plans in the same role for Norma Talmadge were called off—and Norma Talmadge packed off, bags and baggage, for Antibes, a haven for weary movie stars in the south of France.

Just now two ladies, queens of yesterday, are looking for a Hollywood producer to make a picture for them—Norma Talmadge and Colleen Moore. Norma Talmadge looks 25. Her brown hair curls charmingly about the exquisite beauty of a face unparalleled in the history of movies for its sympathetic appeal. She is slim, gracious. She has a heart and a soul. Has the technique of the new medium passed her by? Her talkies have not been a success. If this should be valedictory for Norma Talmadge—if no producer with a fat pocketbook can see things her way—I'd like to tell my favorite incident about a woman whom the world knows as a star but not perhaps as a human being:

When Mabel Normand's house was surrounded by a police cordon following the disclosures of the Taylor murder mystery, and the little comedienne was cowering within, terrified by every knock and telephone bell, messenger boys hurried in an unending line carrying the cautiously worded sympathy of a village whose people have the greatest reason to fear notoriety, watchers without were surprised to see a great shining town car draw up to the curb. Out of it stepped a beautiful woman who serenely made her way through the throng, indifferent to their nudges and stares.

The door opened and a little dishevelled figure ran toward the visitor and was caught up in her arms. Norma Talmadge had come when she was needed to give a friend's understanding sympathy.

If this is valedictory for Norma Talmadge, I'd like to leave you with this picture of a woman to add to your memories of a star.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Little Rock, Ark.

Do you believe there is any place in the churches of today for the evangelist, or is he a back number?

It depends on the type of evangelist you have in mind. If he is the right sort he is the key man for many depressed spiritual situations. We live in a restless and changeful age, when pretty much everything has been thrown into the melting pot. Mass evangelism has shared the general fate. But since the evangelist reaps the harvest produced by a faithful pastor's tilling and seeding of the soul's soil, why should the reaper be dismissed?

Cold, heartless, unlovely formalism has to be dissolved by a more fervent flame than many church services supply, or that formalism would not paralyze them as it does. The people at large are not at odds with religion. But they are weary of the pretensions, professionalism and stupid conventionality. Give them something real, vital and enthusiastic and they will heed it.

The evangelist who would win their confidence, however, must be an entirely consecrated man, indifferent to social acclaim, willing to be deemed a fool by "superior persons," and consoled by the conviction that at any rating he is God's fool. Utterly absorbed in his message and indifferent to the commercialism which has gutted some past efforts of this kind, he is now eagerly awaited by ministers and churches.

He will wage no war on learning's assured results, nor attempt to force his peculiar ideas upon others. Content to herald the simplicity which is in Christ and baptized in the spirit of such great forerunners as St. Francis, John Wesley, George Whitefield, General Booth and Dwight Lyman Moody when this type of evangelist appears he will have a hearing challenging imagination.

Madison square, 20 blocks below its present vortex.

Atune with the tempo of the day, he had not long to wait before New York paid heed to his work. In the decades that followed he became a star-maker and a pace-setter in the theater. He made a star of Mrs. Leslie Carter in "The Heart of Maryland" and "Zaza;" his "Darling of the Gods" made Blanche Bates famous; David Warfield was to follow in "The Music Master," and Ina Claire, Fay Bainter, Lenore Ulric, Holbrook Blinn, Willard Mack and a score of other stars in scores of plays no less famous.

Yet he was even prouder of his stagecraft than of his stars. He spent $25,000 a year on a laboratory to experiment with stage lighting, and he gave the stage many of its modern electrical refinements, including the "baby spot" which singled out a figure without flooding the stage with light.

Many Stories About Belasco.

The stories about him are many—how he spent thousands of dollars on some bauble which he needed to lend authenticity to a setting; how he read 12 manuscripts each night for weeks upon end, in search for a new play, then finally threw them all away and wrote one himself, dictating it to a stenographer at a rapid pace and acting it out in detail as he dictated.

He liked these stories, and liked to surround his own life with the drama in which he dealt. His cleric's collar was part of his dramatization of himself—he wrote it throughout his mature lifetime. He surrounded himself with soft lights in his theater studio, which was piled high and cluttered with relics of the plays he had produced—a lock of Napoleon's haid, a tile from the Alhambra, a ring that belonged to the Borgias.

Sometimes he quarreled with those who had been his stars. Breaches never explained broke his ties with Mrs. Carter and with David Warfield. But last summer, when David Warfield was thought to be dying, Mr. Belasco went to see him on his hospital bed, and the two became fast friends again. And only a few months ago Mrs. Carter and Belasco buried their enmity and talked again of working together in the theater.

Called "the Governor."

Affectionate colleagues sometimes varied their references to him as "D. B." or "The Governor" and spoke of "The Old Man," but never within his hearing. Age he never admitted. Always on his birthday he was "just 21 today," and never were more than 21 candles put on his birthday cakes. Once he sulked for weeks at a reporter who called him dean of the stage.

For years he insisted he was five years younger than his kin believed him to be—and finally, a few weeks before he was to celebrate his 69th birthday, he sent to San Francisco for the records and discovered he was on the threshold of 75.

In his early sixties he announced once that he had had his picture taken for the last time—and he kept the vow for a dozen years.

He lamented, perhaps, the changing tastes of theater-goers. His own preferences were for rousing melodramas like "Hearts of Oak"—that was his favorite—"Daughter of the Samurai" and "Girl of the Golden West."

But if playgoers wanted more modern fare, he was quick to divine it. His risque farce, "It's a Wise Child," made for him more money in his 75th year than any production he had ever made. Whereupon he proceeded to spend his profits on the allegory "Mima," which cost him upwards of $150,000 to present and had a short run. "The Bachelor Father," "Dancing Partner," "Tonight or Never," one after another Belasco turned out hits until the end.

Named Mary Pickford.

The best-known of Belasco anecdotes is how he gave Mary Pickford her name. She came to him when she was Gladys Smith with a note from Blanche Bates. She lived with her family in a Fourteenth street rooming house where another stage-struck girl named Lillian Gish was also rooming.

Belasco tried her talents and promised her a part, but said Gladys Smith wouldn't do for a name.

"I like 'Mary' better," suggested Gladys.

"That'll do for a first name. What are some of your relatives' names?" Belasco asked.

She named several. When she mentioned an uncle, John Pickford, Belasco stopped her.

"That's it," he said. "Mary Pickford."

Never a smoker, never a drinker—save for the glass of champagne he drained with ceremonial pomp upon his birthday—Belasco varied in but two respects from a regimen devoted to the theater. He liked to ride for miles behind a mute chauffeur in his modest black limousine, and he liked to watch a good boxing match. Had he lived, he would have been at Madison Square Garden tomorrow with friends watching the fights.

An envelope containing nine tickets to the bouts lay on his bureau.

Dr. Jerome Wagner and Cary Eggleston, who attended the producer, ascribed death to coronary embolism. He was conscious until a few minutes before his death, and recognized his daughter Reina when, hastily summoned, she arrived at his bedside.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Central synagogue of which Jonah B. Wise is rabbi. Edward Milton Royle, dramatist, will deliver the eulogy.

ARREST REVEALS KIDNAPING PLOT

this Mr. Willet, as well as her two children and grandchildren, were threatened with a "bullet for the first one that can be shot with the least risk."

In accordance with instructions received in letters signed "R. B.," Mr. Willet carried the grip containing marked money to the Terminal hotel on Wednesday. A negro employe of the Jenkins Transfer Company, of 112 Nassau street, called for the grip Wednesday afternoon and said he had been sent by a white man about 50 years of age. Police accompanied the negro to the transfer company office and kept a vigil until midnight, but no one appeared to claim the grip.

The watch was renewed Thursday morning, with the result that Head appeared and claimed the grip, police said. Questioned by officers, Head said that Knox had sent him to get the grip as a favor, and he led the detectives to a boarding house at Nassau and Bartow streets, where Knox was arrested while sitting on the front porch.

Head told police that Knox, whom he said he had known in 1929 when both of them worked at a Marietta street rubber products company, came to him Thursday and asked to borrow $1. Head told police he informed Knox he did not have the money, and Knox borrowed it elsewhere. Later, Knox came back and give him 75 cents, with a request that he call at the transfer office and get the grip, Head said.

"I have nothing to hide and I will take my medicine," Knox is said to have told officers after his alleged confession. Knox is said to have told police that no one else was involved in the plot, and that he alone was responsible. Others connected with the case are entirely innocent, he is alleged to have told officers.

Mr. Dargan is a member of Dargan, Venable and Whittington, insurance and loan firm in the Hurt building. Mr. Willet is associate general agent of the Penn Mutual Insurance Company. Mr. McKenzie is in the real estate business.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

JUVENILE TUBERCULOSIS.

Childhood is the time when nine out of ten of us are infected with tuberculosis, latent tuberculosis. It usually smoulders for years if not for a lifetime in the lymph nodes deep in the back of the abdomen or deep in the back of the chest or sometimes in nodes ("kernels") in the neck. How do we know any particular individual harbors latent tuberculosis if he has no symptoms? We can determine this only by means of a tuberculin test. As I say, most adults react to a tuberculin test; now and then one gives no reaction, and that is fair evidence that the individual has no tuberculosis, provided he is apparently well. (Some severe illnesses may prevent even a definitely tuberculous patient from reacting to a tuberculin test).

Then we have much data from autopsies. It is commonly observed in the pathological laboratory that no matter what the cause of death may have been there are evidences of recent or past tuberculosis of lymph nodes.

Finally, where a child reacts to the tuberculin test, even though there is no present symptoms or physical signs of disease as elicited by examination, X-ray pictures will reveal shadows of enlarged lymph nodes deep in the chest.

Candidly I fear thereis still good reason for a difference of opinion among physicians as to the significance of a positive tuberculin reaction and an X-ray shadow of enlarged lymph nodes or thickened hilum, in a school child who is not obviously ill. On the one hand are many physicians of experience who hold that this evidence has no weight in the determination of the child's health rating. On the other hand are as many others who insist that it is fair and reasonable to regard the tuberculin reaction and X-ray shadow as diagnostic of "preclinical" pulmonary tuberculosis. That means, in plain language, merely that the child is "threatened" with the development of actual tuberculosis of the lungs.

I have had insufficient experience to enable me to judge whether a doctor is justified in telling a parent that the child is "threatened" with pulmonary tuberculosis. The doctor's motive for putting such an interpretation on the findings is solely to impress upon the parent the importance of seeing to it that the child shall have the advantage of every care of health. Perhaps the laity is beginning to have faint glimmerings of intelligence now, and the mere advice that a child should follow such and such rules of health would accomplish as much as the scare does.

One thing that must be told about the child with a positive tuberculin reaction and X-ray evidence of lymphatic or hilum tuberculosis is this: When such a child is anemic, underweight and not as fond of active play as a child might be, the child should not be permitted to live in the same house where lives a person with active tuberculosis—one or the other must be removed from the environment.

AUGUSTA FACULTIES PROTEST SALARY CUTS

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—A committee representing faculties of the Academy of Richmond County and the Junior College of Augusta Thursday issued a formal statement protesting salary reductions ordered Saturday by the board of education.

The proposed reductions include elimination of some kindergartens and domestic science classes in grammar schools and would be effective in September. It was estimated by education officials that the annual saving would approximate $48,000.

The protest was based on the reduction of salary which may be reached by teachers by long service.

MARGARET SANGER DEBATE VICTOR

and there was a very clever little ambush prepared!

The enemy marched into it, too, with trumpets blowing and flags whipping spectacularly in the breeze. It was the Roman phalanx going grandly and unsuspectingly into a nest of machine guns. Taking his text from the Scriptures, Chief Justice Russell reminded his opponent of the Biblical injunction to Noah, "increase and multiply."

"Rat, tat, tat," the machine guns, in rebuttal, spat like so many snakes. "And it might be opportune to remind my opponent," Mrs. Sanger parried, "that when God laid this command upon Noah, there were only five people on earth. My opponent must admit that the situation has altered a little since then."

But people, the phalanx contended, are motivated by pure selfishness when they refuse to have children. In glowing words he painted the picture of a happy family group—the more numerous the better—with the mother and father actuated by feelings of self-sacrifice, willing to bear the pains and economic tribulations of life as well as its merely sensual pleasures.

Once more the machine guns spat. "I love," Mrs. Sanger remarked, laconically, "to hear men talk about the pain and sacrifice entailed by childbirth! They have so much first-hand knowledge."

It was too much for the phalanx. Placed so unceremoniously outside the pale, he was obliged to waste a perfectly good rebuttal in a tribute to womanhood, just to offset any possible misunderstanding. By a ruse, the lady had forced the chief justice to forsake his cause in order to defend himself.

The question at issue in the debate, whether or not the mails should be opened to birth control information, was not always strictly adhered to by the debaters, for in spite of everything one can do the question of birth control always remains a broader one than that. It was the importance of birth control to the individual family that Mrs. Sanger stressed, the fact that it lowers infant mortality, increases the happiness and health of woman, and effectually prevents the economic disasters which threaten the large family with a small income. "It is for us to choose," she asserted, "a decreased birth rate or an increased death rate."

Judge Russell, on the other hand, would lump all birth controllers into the same class with communists, bolsheviks, and infidels. His most pronounced antipathy, however, is for those who profess the doctrine; he admitted that its practice is common. "Otherwise," he added, "how does it happen that Georgia has lost two congressmen?" The audience, highly appreciative of the witticisms with which Judge Russell's remarks had been so generously interlarded, seemed to regard this as one of them and burst into laughter. "But maybe you won't miss them," he said, good humoredly. There was a round of applause and more laughter. It looked as though the audience really wouldn't miss them.

Rights Are Fixed by Justice, Not by Comparisons or Expectations

By Robert Quillen

In old settled communities, where nobody is very rich and nobody very poor, property is handed down from generation to generation and is valued more highly than money.

Sons and daughters who have married and left home plan their futures in expectation of inheriting certain houses or parcels of land, and often the reading of a will causes heart-ache, resentment and the bitterness of disappointment.

Old people who possess both property and children regard the making of a will as second in importance only to making their peace with God.

Their property represents years of self-denial, and they surrender it reluctantly. Their wills are an effort to control it from the grave.

Sometimes the effort fails, for dissatisfied heirs can waste an estate in a struggle to obtain the portion they covet.

To prevent this, old people may take counsel of faith and deed their property outright when they think death is near.

It is a practice that invites regret, for children who have their inheritance soon learn to think of it as something rightfully theirs, for which no gratitude is due, and regard as burdens the old people from whom no more can be expected.

Whether the property is divided by deed or by will, no human ingenuity can make a division that will seem fair to all beneficiaries.

Unmarried daughters think the married ones deserve less because their future is secure; sons think they deserve more because their labor helped build the estate; the widow thinks she deserves more because she is old and the children can care for themselves.

The confusion results from the fact that all persons concerned think in terms of greed instead of simple justice.

A wife who helped build an estate deserves half of it. Her claim is that of an equal partner. If she is a second wife, married after the estate was built, she still deserves a half as reward for serving as nurse and companion in a home deserted by all others.

If there are minor children to care for, the wife and mother deserves control of all the estate until they reach their majority.

Above all else, the wife deserves the home so long as she lives.

As for the adult children, they had their board, clothing and education until they were ready to leave home. They have no just claim to more.

Anything they get is a gift, and those who receive gifts have no right not granted by the giver.

SPAIN IS TRANQUIL, CABINET ASSERTS

BY CLARENCE DUBOSE.

MADRID, May 14.—(AP)—Declaring the government was "highly pleased" with the extent to which order has been restored in Spain following the week's riots, Minister of Interior Maura announced tonight the cabinet had decided it would not be necessary to meet again until Monday.

A long cabinet session was held tonight.

A commission was named to study the Spanish agricultural problem, including the question of the cultivation of the large estates which are now untilled. Hope was expressed that the solution of this would reduce the possibility of further disorders by relieving the unemployment situation.

As an economy measure, all admirals and the captain general were eliminated from the navy list. It was announced they would probably be retired or transferred to other posts.

The summer palace of former King Alfonso at San Sebastian was formally seized by the government tonight following the decision last night to impound his possessions pending an investigation. The palace was estimated to be worth approximately $750,000. It was a gift from the people of San Sebastian to the former king's mother, Queen Maria Christina.

Damage to church property at eight of the principal riot centers outside Madrid was estimated tonight at approximately $2,000,000. At Alicante, one of the places where the damage was heaviest, fifteen churches and religious houses were either looted or destroyed.

The riots of the past week were not the only occasion in Spanish history when religious houses have been destroyed by mobs.

In 1835 several hundred persons were killed in similar riots and a number of religious houses burned. In 1909 upwards of 10 were killed during a general strike at Barcelona and a number of convents destroyed.

The communist executive committee issued a formal resolution today voicing indignation against Minister of the Interior Maura, who was charged with having linked communists and monarchists together as responsible for the riots.

CITY HALL FAULTS MAY CAUSE SUIT

Probability that a legal battle will be fought over the responsibility of the National Construction Company and the National Surety Company for settling of foundations of the new $1,000,000 city hall was seen Thursday following denial of any responsibility by John A. McDonald, president of the construction firm, and a decision by Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican to turn the matter over to City Attorney James L. Mayson for study.

McDonald set out in a letter that the company already is officially on record that it will not be responsible for settling of the foundations, because another contractor laid them, and that any defects in the superstructure, which his company built, and which are directly caused by such settling, must be remedied through other channels.

The letter, which was addressed to Mayor James L. Key, in answer to one the mayor sent McDonald, denied any responsibility for a terra cotta column on the 13th floor of the building being out of line and says that the building was "strictly set up according to plans and specifications and the cracks are due to settlement of the building."

In a letter to the architects, the letter to the mayor points out, the company is on record that it "would not be responsible for any settlement or cracks" because "two other contractors had put in the foundation for the superstructure previous to the time we started operations."

Millican asked Mayson to begin a study of the city hall construction records as soon as possible with a view of ascertaining whether the borough ever took action relieving the company from responsibility.

Business-Building Letters

Twenty-Fourth of a Series of Articles Prepared by a Business Letter Specialist, Teacher and Author. He Says There Exists a Vital Need for a Friendly and Sincere Tone That Spells Reader-Benefit and Brings Results.

By CHARLES EDGAR BUCK,
Business Letter Specialist, Boston, Mass.

24—The Letter of Application for a Position

The first thing that greets the eye of the prospective employer when he receives a letter of application is its appearance — that is, the stationery and the arrangement of the message thereon. The appearance, therefore, MUST be effective.

Use a good quality of white bond paper — size 8 1-2x11, with envelope to match. Do not use hotel or fraternity stationery, or that of some business house. If possible, have your letter typed. Typewritten letters appear easier to read and usually are. Of course if you are requested to apply in your own handwriting, it is wise to do so.

Second — it goes without saying that the letter should be correct in every detail — in modern make-up, spelling, punctuation, and neatness. If there is any question in your mind as to any one of these technicalities, you had better consult some authentic source of information. But — NEVER ask anyone to write an application letter for you!

Next after appearance and correctness comes the thought which should be the basis of every letter, especially the application letter — the YOU attitude. Make your basic thought, "How can I best serve the prospective employer; what have I to offer him that he can use?" Forget the thought, "What can I get out of this job?" Naturally, you desire the new position for the pleasant work, the better hours, the attractive wage, and so on, but if this thought is uppermost in your mind, your letter, in some way, will advertise it and the prospective employer will feel that his interests are secondary in your estimation.

Now for the opening sentence. It must be compelling — but not "smart." Avoid such trite and overworked diction as:

In answer to your advertisement, I write to say . . .

I saw your ad in today's Tribune and wish to apply . . .

Having heard that you are in need of a . . .

I hereby apply for the position of . . .

Opening sentences like the following are better:

Will you please consider this letter in connection with your advertisement for an office manager.

The best evidence that I can give you to show that I am qualified for the position of "Rapid, accurate stenographer," is that. . .

Other illustrations will be given in tomorrow's article.

Emory Glee Club and Orchestra In Annual Concert Here Tonight

A varied program of twelve numbers will be presented by the Emory Glee Club and Orchestra in their fourteenth annual Atlanta concert tonight at the Wesley Memorial auditorium.

Choral numbers ranging from classical Latin hymns to negro spirituals will be on the repertoire of the club, while three soloists will assist in lending variety. The Little Symphony orchestra will be in support of the program during the entire concert.

Tickets are on sale today at Cable Piano Company on Broad street and may also be obtained by calling the Emory Glee Club office at Emory University. Part of the proceeds will be used to rehabilitate the depleted Emory orchestra which lost many instruments in the fire that razed the Emory auditorium last February.

One of the featured numbers on the program will be the singing of the proposed new Alma Mater song, which was written and submitted for approval by Ernest Rogers, an old Emory graduate and an Atlanta newspaper man.

The orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, will play three numbers, and will assist the glee club in four numbers, although the club will sing the spirituals and three light tunes strictly as choral music. Mike McDowell, who plays the First Movement of Mendelssohn's Concerto, will be aided by the orchestra.

Joseph Glazer, violinist, and George Rogers, baritone, will perform solo numbers, and Miss Minna Hecker will assist the glee club in the rendition of the Pilgrims' Chorus from Wagner's "Tannhauser."

The complete program follows:

1. Largo, by Handel ..... Orchestra
2. a. Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee, by Bach ..... Glee Club and Orchestra
   b. In Dulci Jubilo ..... Glee Club
   c. Lost Chord ..... Orchestra and Glee Club
3. Fifth Symphony, First Movement ..... Orchestra
4. Toreador Song, from Carmen, by Bizet ..... George Rogers and Orchestra
5. a. Serenade ..... Toselli
   2. Serenade ..... Drdla ..... Joseph Glazer
6. Spirituals ..... Glee Club
7. March from Tannhauser, by Wagner ..... Orchestra
8. Pilgrim's Chorus from Tannhauser, Miss Hecker, Mr. Rogers, Glee Club and Orchestra.

INTERMISSION.

9. a. Loch Lomond ..... Glee Club
   b. Star of the Summer Night ..... Glee Club
   c. Sword of Ferrara ..... Glee Club
10. Concerto, First Movement, by Mendelssohn ..... Mike McDowell and Orchestra
11. Proposed Alma Mater, by Ernest Rogers ..... Glee Club
12. Alma Mater ..... Glee Club and Orchestra

WILL OF DR. HILL FILED FOR PROBATE

Many Friends and Charities Get Bequests From Prominent Dentist.

Bequests to his business associates, friends and charity are contained in the will of the late Dr. DeLos L. Hill, prominent dental surgeon, filed for probate in Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries' court Thursday. No estimate of the total value of the estate was contained in the testament.

The Trust Company of Georgia and Dr. Hill's widow, Mrs. Gussie Parkhurst Hill, were named executors and trustees, and in event of Mrs. Hill's death the trust company will serve as sole trustees.

A lifelong monthly income from life insurance, together with all personal effects, was bequeathed to Mrs. Hill in the will, and it contained the stipulation that the widow's legacy was to be construed as the primary desire of the testator, the executors being bound to regard the document as a prior lien on the corpus of the estate in the event such a decision should become necessary.

To the Methodist Orphans' Home, Decatur, Dr. Hill bequeathed $1,000 and a like amount was left to the Home of the Friendless.

Dr. Nathan Teague, professional associate, was left $2,000 and all office and laboratory equipment.

P. L. Blackshear and G. Milton Goolsby were willed ten shares each of capital stock in the Atlanta Dental Supply Company, with the further proviso that such additional stock as Dr. Hill possessed should go to Goolsby to the extent of making him equal possessor of capital stock with Blackshear.

All professional volumes in the deceased surgeon's library were given to the Atlanta Southern Dental College, and the provision was made that upon the death of Mrs. Hill all residue of the estate was to go to the college. In this respect Dr. Hill expressed the hope that such funds might be used to establish a dental clinic for children at the local institution.

To the Rotary Educational Foundation of Atlanta, Inc., Dr. Hill willed the sum of $5,000, to be used as an educational fund; and to Gamma Tau chapter of Psi Omega fraternity, he assured the $4,500 "hitherto pledged" to be used as part payment on a chapter house to be located on Piedmont avenue.

Mrs. Ella B. Ray, secretary and assistant to Dr. Hill, receives a bequest of $1,000 and a five-year income of $100 per month.

To Frazier Moore, son of J. Wayne Moore, of College Park, a friend of Dr. Hill, was left $5,000 in trust; the income from which is to be paid to the younger Moore when he reaches the age of 25, or, in the discretion of the executors, to be used as an educational fund.

The will was dated April 17 and was filed Thursday. Witnesses were Robert B. Troutman, T. M. Smith and R. S. Sams.

American Mayors To Sail Today For Visit to Big Paris Exposition

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(UP)—With just the faintest jovial reference to the fact that "America's mayors may have the opportunity to become familiar with some generous vintages of France," Jules Henry, counsellor to the French embassy, tonight wished a "bon voyage" to the representatives of 23 American cities, bound for France tomorrow as guests of the French authorities.

The 19 mayors and four special representatives were guests at an elaborate dinner on board the Ile de France, flaship of the French fleet, their ocean home on the voyages both ways, with Jean Tillier, president of the French Chamber of Commerce, as host.

After referring to the "careful preparations for this important visit to France," made by Rene Racover, who conceived the event as a gesture of return hospitality for the welcome accorded the French fliers, Dieudonne Costes and Maurice Bellonte, last year, Counsellor Henry urged his guests to study particularly the French colonial exposition.

"You will see France at work in her colonies and protectorates," he said, "and witness the progress accomplished by her in the field of bringing the colonies closer to civilization. The new France today is north and occidental Africa. It is there, especially in Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, that our future greatly lies—and every Frenchman realizes it.

"I wish you a pleasant trip and good luck. If by chance you happen to let your palate become familiar with some generous vintages of France, I feel confident you will not encounter any reproach on the part of your fellow citizens at the next polls."

Jean Tillier and Mayor James J. Walker, who will receive the mayors at city hall tomorrow, spoke briefly, wishing the visitors good fortune.

The mayors' party will be taken to the pier where the Ile de France, gaily decorated with flags, lies waiting, after the reception at city hall. It is expected that the city hall ceremonies will be broadcast.

The mayors carry with them two gifts for France. One is a bust of the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, carved from wood taken from the original timbers of the White House, for presentation to the nation. The other is a picture of Mount Rainier, given to the Hotel De Ville by the Daughters of the Pioneers of the State of Washington.

Sailing at 4:30 p. m., the mayors will reach France, according to their schedule, on May 21. Approximately two weeks will be spent in the capital, and the remainder of the time will be devoted to touring.

Those sailing are: James L. Key and Miss Ruth Key, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Porter, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Miller, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Broening, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Hoan, of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. T. Semmes Walmsley, and Miss Walmsley, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Bryce B. Smith, and Miss Smith, of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Baker, of Portland, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Metcalfe, of Omaha, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Marvin, of Syracuse, N. Y.; J. F. Bright, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Batterson, of Hartford, Conn.; Frederick W. Donnelly, of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thomason, of El Paso, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Lane, of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. James P. Pope, of Boise, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Gray, of Pasco, Wash.

Henri Prince will represent the city of New York, Judge Frank M. Padden will represent Chicago, Sylvester Andriano will represent San Francisco, and E. Kirk McKinney will be on board for Indianapolis.

Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston sailed last week on La France, and Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton of Denver, Col., will sail next week on the Paris, joining the party in the capital.

FINDS UNEMPLOYMENT ACUTE IN METROPOLIS

NEW YORK, May 14.—Personal observations made by Mayor Key during his stay here have convinced him that unemployment conditions in New York are far more acute than in his home city.

Not content with comparing statistics, the mayor, although slightly indisposed by a recently contracted cold, visited a number of municipal relief and employment centers and was surprised by the slight improvement shown in the number of distressed persons.

"If," said the mayor, "this is to be a leading issue in our next national election, Hoover, who seems certain to be slated for the republican nomination, should be a badly beaten candidate."

Tonight a dinner was tendered the visiting mayors on board the S. S. Ile de France on the eve of their departure for France. The mayor not being able to be present, his daughter acted as his official representative.

Earlier in the day Mayor Key attended a Rotary Club luncheon and spent the evening quietly reading a guide book to Paris presented to him by the French consul in Atlanta just before leaving.

UTILITIES' OWNERSHIP BY PUBLIC CONDEMNED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 14.—(AP)—The natural gas department of the American Gas Association adjourned its annual convention this afternoon after adopting resolutions indorsing a plan for a conservation program to include all of North America and condemning public ownership of utilities and "the constantly increasing burden of taxation upon all public utilities."

New officers and next year's convention city will be picked by the department executive committee and the American Gas Association at a meeting next fall.

Gas company executives were urged to impress upon customers that taxation "is in effect an indirect tax upon consumers."

HOMER C. GEORGE, ILL IN N. Y., IS IMPROVING

Marked improvement in the condition of Homer C. George, formerly engaged in newspaper work in Atlanta, who has been critically ill with pneumonia for the past week at the Post-Graduate hospital in New York, was indicated by news dispatches received in Atlanta Thursday.

At present national representative of the North American Newspaper Alliance, Mr. George often visited this city in the course of his duties and was here as recently as early April. His first newspaper experience was gained on The Constitution at the age of 16.

JAMES STEELE, VICTIM OF CRASH, SUCCUMBS

Second Death in Auto Accident in Which Atlanta Pastor Died.

James A. Steele, 60, who has been in a hospital in Gainesville, Ga., suffering from a broken arm and several broken ribs, sustained in the automobile accident in which the Rev. J. L. Jackson was killed and Miss Georgia Mae Stovall seriously injured last Friday night, died late Thursday night. Attendants said he developed pneumonia, which, combined with his weakened condition, proved fatal.

Following the accident all the passengers save Mr. Jackson were taken to the Gainesville hospital. Miss Stovall was brought to the Georgia Baptist hospital in Atlanta the following day when she appeared slow in rallying from a comatose condition. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Steele, their son, Richard Steele, and J. A. Hall, father of Mrs. Steele, remained at the Gainesville institution, where Richard Steele's broken leg seemed to be the most severe of the injuries.

Surviving Mr. Steele are his wife, still at the Gainesville hospital; his brother, W. Harry Steele, of 1053 Washita avenue, N. E.; two sons, James LeRoy Steele, pastor of the Baptist church in Murphy, N. C., from the funeral of whose daughter the party was returning when the crash occurred, and Richard Steele.

The funeral will be conducted in Atlanta, the arrangements to be completed probably today. Sam Greenberg & Co. are in charge. Miss Georgia Mae Stovall was still semi-unconscious Thursday night, her condition being described by attendants as serious.

REYNOLDS DENIES HE PROMISED BRIBE

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 14.—(AP) W. N. Reynolds, former chairman of the board of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, tonight denied the charge made before the senate investigating committee at Charlotte, N. C., by Senator John W. Hinsdale, that he was promised "anything he wanted" by Reynolds if he would let up on the fight for the proposed luxury tax.

Reynolds said tonight "there is not a word of truth in it. I never had a conversation with Senator Hinsdale nor sent a message to him. It's a plain falsehood."

DICE GAME HELD UP IN LOUISVILLE HOTEL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—(AP) Six men armed with shotguns and pistols held up a dice game in the basement of the Henry Watterson hotel here early today and escaped with cash estimated at between $2,500 and $5,000. A number of watches, rings and other jewelry also was taken.

Three of the approximately 75 persons in the basement were knocked down when they failed to respond quickly to orders to throw up their hands. The holdup men escaped in a large sedan.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Resinol clears them away

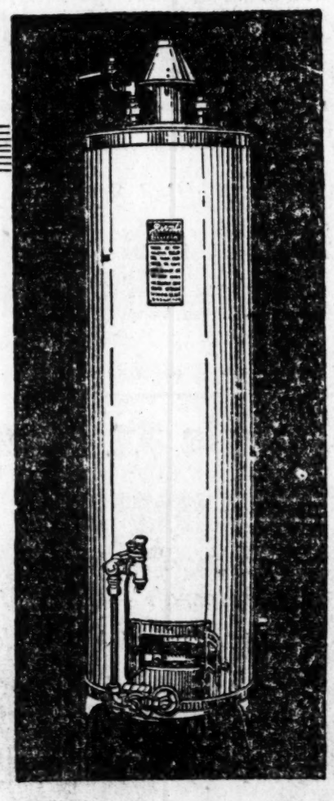

"My complexion was very poor because of pimples and blackheads which covered my face and neck. I had been advised to try Resinol Soap and Ointment, but had tried so many other things without success I was disgusted with everything. However, a friend urged me to try a sample anyway. In three days' time the improvement was so great I could hardly believe it. I will always have a word of praise for Resinol." (Signed)—

CANNON PROBERS WILL MEET TODAY

Committee Will Decide on Future Course of Investigation.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The senate campaign funds committee shifted operations to New York today to consider its next step in the inquiry into what use Bishop James Cannon, Jr., made in 1928 of $65,300 anti-Smith campaign funds entrusted to him.

Chairman Nye left for New York with the bare announcement that the committee would assemble there tomorrow to determine its plans. While no hearing was scheduled, it was believed the committee was prepared to go into action again shortly.

The bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who has challenged the authority of the committee, called today on Senator Nye and asked what plans the committee had in mind. He said he was anxious to return to California.

The chairman replied he hoped to announce the committee's plans by Monday. Senators Dale, republican, Vermont, and Wagner, democrat, New York, will meet in New York with Nye.

The $65,300 entrusted to Bishop Cannon in 1928 was given by a New Yorker, E. C. Jameson. Bishop Cannon was chairman of the anti-Smith forces in Virginia.

Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, has charged the bishop with violating the corrupt practices act by failing to account for all of this sum.

FIRST OF NEW PEACH CROP ARRIVES IN CITY

Georgia's 1931 peach crop will be larger than the 1930 crop but not as heavy as 1928, officials of the department of agriculture announced Thursday coincident with the arrival on local markets of the first of the fruit.

E. E. Payne, of Reynolds, Ga., who has marketed the first crate for several years, Wednesday shipped a consignment to Green & Milan, Atlanta, wholesale dealers. They were sold Thursday to C. J. Kamper Grocery Company and placed on display.

G. O. Smith, Bainbridge, expressed 13 crates to New York Wednesday night.

FIRST PEACHES SENT TO NEW ORLEANS

SHELLMAN, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—The first crate of peaches to move from this section this season was shipped Thursday to a New Orleans concern. The peaches were of the Alexander variety and were grown by W. R. Crittenden.

FIVE MILLION TREES GONE SINCE 1928

MACON, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—W. C. Bewley, general manager of the Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange, said tonight that a statement credited to the crop reporting service showing that the 1931 Georgia peach crop "will be larger than for several years" was misleading.

"It surely will not be larger than the 1928 crop, when 15,926 cars were shipped," he said, "for since then 5,000,000 bearing peach trees have been pulled up in this state.

"It is true that if nothing happens there should be more peaches marketed this year than last season, when 8,500 cars were shipped."

Peach shipments in recent years have been: 1925, 13,513; 1926, 17,693; 1927, 11,882; 1928, 15,926; 1929, 5,298; 1930, 8,632.

CHELF RE-ELECTED LANE'S PRESIDENT

Roy N. Chelf was re-elected president of Lane Drug Stores, Inc., at the annual meeting of the board of directors held at the headquarters here, it was announced Thursday, and unanimous approval was given the present management by the stockholders.

At the stockholders' meeting almost 100 per cent of both the preferred and common stock was represented and a program was adopted providing for aggressive merchandising during the coming year. Speakers took an optimistic outlook on the future.

In addition to Mr. Chelf, officers elected include: John H. Mulliken, of New York, chairman of the board; Tate L. Earnest, executive vice president; John B. Bowen, vice president in charge of purchasing; Ernest L. Bridges, vice president in charge of the Jacksonville stores; J. F. Kerr, secretary and treasurer, and John Watts, assistant secretary.

Mr. Earnest was formerly vice president in charge of the Knoxville stores. In his new position, however, he will be in charge of both the Atlanta and Knoxville stores and will make his home in Atlanta. Mr. Bridges was formerly superintendent of the stores in Jacksonville and has been affiliated with the company since it was organized. The other officers were unchanged.

Elected to serve with Mr. Mulliken on the board of directors are: Mr. Chelf, Mr. Earnest, E. Clem Powers and George G. Sriver, the latter of Baltimore, Md.

Saunders Is Attacked By Carolina Politician

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., May 14.—(AP)—W. O. Saunders, Elizabeth City editor and nationally known magazine writer, was struck in the face several times here today by Elias Pritchard, who had been attacked by Saunders' paper, the Independent, in connection with the muncipal election campaign which ended Tuesday.

Pritchard threatened to repeat the attack every time his name appeared in Saunders' paper.

Saunders swore out a warrant charging Pritchard with assault.

INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL TO 'LEGGERS DECLINES

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Diversion of industrial alcohol for bootleg purposes was said today by Dr. James M. Doran, industrial alcohol commissioner, to be less prevalent than in any previous year.

This he ascribed to the difficulty and expense involved in redistilling industrial alcohol denatured under improved government formulas.

"It is easier and cheaper for the bootlegger to get his alcohol in other ways," he said.

COMMITTEE POSTPONES DAYLIGHT SAVING VOTE

Many Heard on Both Sides at Hearing Thursday Afternoon.

Council Monday will get no recommendation from the ordinance committee regarding a proposal to establish daylight saving time for Atlanta, beginning June 1 and extending until September 1. The matter will be considered at the next meeting of the committee, May 28.

This decision was reached Thursday afternoon after a two-hour hearing at the city hall in which strong delegations favoring and opposing the change were heard.

The committee approved all recommendations from the borough planning commission with the exception of one involving a change in the zoning law on Piedmont avenue, which will go to council with an adverse report.

Councilman John A. White, author of the daylight saving paper, was the first speaker, urging the committee to pass it and presenting a large number of petitions which he claimed represented 35,000 Atlantans who want the change.

J. P. Allen, president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association, presented a petition supporting the change signed by members and employes of the 500 firms included in it and the Atlanta Automobile Association.

Flemming Law, president of the Casualty & Surety Association of Atlanta, presented a petition, which he stated represents 3,000 persons favoring the change.

R. J. Reynolds, Jr., member of the board of directors of the Atlanta Junior Charmber of Commerce, composed of 900 members, stated the change "will help labor and business and should be made."

Former Alderman William B. Hartsfield, attacked the proposed change. A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, said that body is opposed to the change.

Reuben R. Arnold, representing The Atlanta Journal, opposed the change "in the interest of the working man."

"I don't believe in eating breakfast at night and supper in the daytime," he said. R. L. Johnson, W. J. Purdy and H. R. Williams, representing machinists' unions, spoke against the paper.

GENERAL ELTINGE DIES IN OMAHA THURSDAY

Bragadier General Leroy Eltinge, who served as commanding officer of the 8th infantry brigade at Fort McPherson from August 1, 1925, to April 1, 1926, died in Omaha, Neb., Thursday afternoon.

General Eltinge at the time of his death, which came after an illness of only a few days, was commander of the 14th infantry brigade and the 89th division of regular army reserves. He is survived by his widow and one daughter.

A distinguished World War record lay behind General Eltinge who served as deputy chief of staff in France, receiving the distinguished service medal from congress as well as military awards from the French, English and Italian and Belgian governments. His departure from Atlanta in 1926 was occasioned by a transfer to Fort Clark, Texas.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR JULIUS F. DUNTON

Former Atlanta Police Officer Dies at Cascade Road Residence.

Julius F. Dunton, 63, with the Atlanta police department for 20 years, died Wednesday at the residence on Cascade road. Services will be conducted at 11 this morning at the residence, the Rev. A. E. Silvey and the Rev. Al Peacock officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be Hughey Rapp, F. G. McElroy, A. E. Waldron, T. O. Poole, C. F. Poole and H. T. Yeargin.

His wife, who survives him, was Miss Bessie Poole, sister of Harry G. Poole, Atlanta funeral director. Born in Powder Springs, Ga., Mr. Dunton moved here many years ago, becoming connected with the police soon after his arrival. During the majority of his time on the force he was a mounted patrolman. About three years ago he retired due to failing health. He was a member of Atlanta Lodge No. 59, F. & A. M., and the Yaarab Shrine temple.

In addition to his wife, he is survvied by a son, M. L. Dunton; a brother, Hollis Dunton, of Mena, Ark., and two sisters, Mrs. Horace Kimball and Mrs. Robert Pilgrim, of Powder Springs.

COMMITTEE HEARS HEALTH OFFICIAL

Dr. Abercrombie, Commissioner Twitty, and Others Urge State Economies.

Efforts of one state agency to effect a substantial saving of its own motion were unfolded before the legislative reorganization commission Wednesday when Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, state commissioner or health, told the administration probers he had cut his department's printing bill in half by establishing a separate plant.

As compared with the cost of getting the health department's printing through the state printer, Dr. Abercrombie said a bill which ranged between $10,000 and $15,000 annually now has been reduced to between $5,000 and $7,500.

Both Abercrombie and Peter S. Twitty, state game and fish commissioner, evinced a sympathetic interest in the committee's reorganization study. The health official, in reply to questions, said that the administration of the state hospital for the insane might be brought under the health commissioner, while Commissioner Twitty said that a merger of the fish and game, forestry and geology departments would be "desirable."

After a morning spent in hearing from state officials the committee spent the afternoon probing the motor carrier act of 1931 and adjourned to meet again Monday morning. At that time it will hear from officials of the prison commission, the state board of public welfare and the state highway department. On Tuesday it will continue with the university system under examination.

Manning S. Yeomans, state entomologist, was the first witness before the committee, opposing any consolidation of his department with another agency. He was followed by George D. Goddard, of the vocational rehabilitation office, who related its workings.

Public health administration, Dr. Abercrombie said, ought not to be in politics and for this reason he said he was opposed to election of officials. The present method of board administration and responsibility, with an appointive commissioner accountable to the board, is the most satisfactory method, he said.

Commissioner Twitty, questioned as to his reorganization views, told the committee he hesitated to say what changes might be made in the interest of economy, but described the proposed consolidation of the game and fish, forestry and geology departments as a desirable one.

Protection of forests, he said, has a very vital relation to conservation of game, and he reminded the committee that his department had tendered to the forestry department its cooperative effort in this direction.

Commissioner of Commerce and Labor Hal M. Stanley, chairman also of the industrial commission, told the commission of his duties, but opposed any consolidation. Only three labor commissioners in the United States are elective, he said, but expressed a preference for this method of selecting such officials.

Members of the committee accepted the invitation of Senator E. M. Williams to go to Monroe next Thursday when the Monroe Kiwanis Club will observe "Better Georgia Day" with a barbecue.

Robert Russell, brother of the governor-elect; Senator-elect Hamilton McWhorter and Linton B. West and Representative E. M. Davis and Arlie Tucker are on the program.

Legislative Committee Scans Motor Bus Act

Impatient at criticism leveled at the general assembly because of alleged alterations in the motor carrier act passed at the recent special session, members of the legislative reorganization committee Thursday took the bill and amendments out of the hands of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and launched an independent probe. Reading left to right members of the committee are Representative Huddleston, of Meriwether; Senator-elect Peterson, of Montgomery, chairman; Representative Edwards, of Lowndes; Representative Crowe, of Worth, secretary, and State Auditor Tom Wisdom, committee adviser. Representative Colson, of Glynn, fifth member of the committee, was engaged in court Thursday. Staff photo by George Cornett.

two economists of the University of Chicago.

The plan is contained in the book, "The Problem of Unemployment," by Professor Paul H. Douglas and Aaron Director, published today.

The authors conclude that slightly more than 150,000 workers are protected today from the risks of unemployment by trade union, employer and joint employment benefit plans. This number represents approximately one-half of 1 per cent of the gainfully employed wage earners and salaried workers in the United States.

"Since it has taken a decade for even this number to be covered," say the authors, "it would seem that while such ventures are extremely valuable, both as experiment stations and to get the public mind interested in the subject, we cannot rely upon voluntary efforts if substantial progress is to be made in furnishing adequate protection to the workers."

Statue of Washington Unveiled in Richmond

RICHMOND, Va., May 14.—(AP) Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of history, Marvard, today turned back pages of history more than a century in dedicating Houdon's statue of Washington at the Virginia capitol.

Assuming that he were a New England contemporary of the nation's first president, Dr. Hart lamented that the 1796 business of the infant republic prevented President Washington from leaving the Philadelphia capitol to attend the exercises.

"The state has preceded the nation in perpetuating in marble or enduring brass the features of our beloved president and most eminent son of Virginia," Dr. Hart said, addressing the assemblage gathered in the "old house of delegates hall" whom he assumed were the contemporaries of President Washington, but who actually were descendants of Washington's father and a few other especially invited guests.

For 135 years the statue, completed in 1788, had stood in or near the capitol rotunda without formal ceremonies marking its arrival in Virginia.

PROBERS STUDY NEW BUS BILLS

act had been printed just as it passed after it had been carefully checked by the senate engrossing committee. He said that the final form represented the legislative action and intent "without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't.'"

Returned To Senate.

After the bill had been signed in the house by Speaker Richard B. Russell, Jr., and E. B. Moore, clerk of the house, it was returned to the senate. There it became the duty of the engrossing committee to check it for errors and to see that the amendments offered and adopted were orderly and in conformity with the action of the two branches of the assembly.

Signed by Senator Paulk for the engrossing committee, the bill then received the signatures of President W. Cecil Neill and Secretary Devereaux F. McClatchey, senate officials, and was transmitted to the governor for his signature. When this had been affixed, and in the absence of any protest against the final draft, the bill was ready for the printer and the enforcing officials.

Irregularities found by the committee Wednesday included not only the failure of the printed bill to omit phraseology, even entire paragraphs, but also the addition of new phraseology "materially changing the effect of the bill as finally adopted."

In sub section 1, of section 2, exempting certain classes of vehicles from the operation of the law, the word "merchandise" was omitted from the printed form after amendment including "merchandise" along with "people and farm products" had been adopted.

In the same sub-section, the following paragraph appears in the law without any recorded amendment to account for it:

". . . And not passing through or beyond municipalities having railroad facilities where not more than seven passengers and one or one-half tons of freight are transported."

Effect of this latter change, members of the committee stated, is to limit the exemption of certain trucks when no limitation was contemplated.

In sub-section one, dealing with the exemption of trucks engaged exclusively in the transportation of agricultural and dairy products, the words "so long as the title remains in the producer"—the committee found—were stricken by a house amendment, to which the senate agreed, but which appear in the printed law.

One of the changes which the committee pointed to as significant was the addition of three words in sub-section 3, of section 2, exempting certain taxicabs and baggage transfer companies for which the committee was unable to account. The final draft read: "Taxicabs, or motor trucks of baggage transfer companies and motor trucks of railway express companies and or motor trucks engaged in draying." As printed it reads: ". . . and or motor trucks engaged exclusively in local draying."

One entire sub-section, number 5, the committee found, was stricken by a house amendment, to which the senate agreed, but which was retained in the bill as printed. Continuing the exemptions, it reads:

"Motor trucks of railway companies which perform a pick up and delivery service in connection with their freight train service, between their freight terminals and points not more than five miles distance, when either or both the freight terminal or such points are outside the limits of an incorporated city or town."

Sub-section 6 originally read, as adopted:

"R. F. D. carriers or star route carriers engaged in carrying the United States mail and who are permitted to carry passengers, not exceeding five." The addition to this section, for which the committee found no authority, reads: ". . . while actually engaged in transporting United States mail over such route."

OKLAHOMA GAS UTILITY INQUIRY IS ORDERED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 14.—(UP)—Governor W. H. Murray late today ordered investigation of a dozen public utility gas companies operating in Oklahoma, with the avowed purpose of bringing suits against them charging violation of the anti-trust laws.

The governor appointed Leon Hirsch special counsel to conduct the investigation.

If the contemplated suits are successful, the properties of practically all of the utility gas companies operating in Oklahoma will be turned over to the state, Murray said.

At the same time, the corporation commission will press its action against the companies to obtain rate reductions.

Companies specifically named by the governor in his order for investigation included the Oklahoma Natural Gas Corporation, Muskogee Utilities Company, Ozark Public Service Company and the Southwestern Utilities Company.

Murray charged the companies, by interlocking directorates and financing, were stifling competition.

"It did not," Mr. Alston replied.

"It did not sell out?" Mr. Mayson said.

"Let's not get into that," Chairman Perry said. "There are still people in Atlanta who believe that the Georgia Power Company owns the whole business."

RED CROSS SEEKING TO REDUCE EXPENSE

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The business administration of the National Red Cross is under scrutiny of efficiency engineers with a view to ascertaining whether it is possible to cut expense.

Chairman John Barton Payne, describing the study today, said it was being done under Red Cross central committee direction, at his request, and with his complete co-operation.

A firm of efficiency experts, such as conduct similar studies for business firms, was called in by the disaster relief organization to look for loopholes through which money and effort might possibly be wasting away.

The study has been in progress since the middle of April.

Negro Kills His Wife For Refusing To Cook

The argument "to cook or not to cook" ended in the murder of Hattie Lowry, negro, of 179 Linden street, and the probably successful suicide of her husband, William, Thursday night, police reports showed.

Witnesses said that Hattie and her husband were standing on the corner of Piedmont avenue and Currier street, having a violent argument as to whether or not she would go home and cook him a meal, when suddenly he whipped out a pistol and shot her three times. He then shot himself in the mouth. She died shortly after having been taken to Grady hospital. He was said by attendants to be in a critical condition.

Auto Accidents In City Thursday

11:20 A. M.—Near 221 Ivy street—An automobile driven by L. W. Winterberg, 197 Central avenue, was struck as it was pulling away from the curb by an automobile driven by James Brown, negro, of 126 Pine street. Brown was charged with drunk and reckless driving.

5:45 P. M.—Dodd and Central avenues—Automobile driven by J. A. Parker, 624 South Main street, struck Joe Martin, 7, of 728 Central avenue, who ran into the street while playing ball. Young Martin was taken to Grady hospital and admitted for observation, although not considered seriously hurt. Parker was charged with reckless driving.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

Arrival of Teams and Guests Heralds Polo Tournament

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., May 14.—The polo tournament to be held at the military reservation May 24 and May 31 is proving the additional impetus for the arrival of visitors and a number of attractive members of social circles are arriving during the next few days to attend the horse show and the polo tournament. From Fort Oglethorpe a quartet of ladies have arrived to visit at the post. Mrs. Terry Allen with Major Allen and Terry, Jr., are the guests of Lieutenant William Biddle. Captain R. C. Gibbs and Mrs. Gibbs have taken an apartment in building 27. Captain T. W. Herren and Mrs. Herren and Lieutenant A. W. Johnson will be at the Chateau. Mrs. Johnson, who has been visiting relatives in Richmond, Va., will arrive Saturday.

Major Richard H. Kimball, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has consented to act as an umpire in several of the games and he and Mrs. Kimball will be attractive guests. Fort Benning will be represented by a group of ladies who will participate in the horse show and attend the polo games.

Members of the various squads will arrive during the next few days. The University of Georgia will have a group of players including J. P. Allen, Jr., of Atlanta; Charles Hope, Crozier L. Wood, James McIntyre, William A. Harden, James Jack Giles, Rowland Pritchard and Charles P. Stone. Major A. T. Colley and Captain J. M. Lile, coaches of the team, will attend the tournament.

Fort Benning Teams.

Twenty-ninth infantry team from Fort Benning has already arrived at the garrison and the squad members include Major T. F. Taylor, Lieutenant G. H. Carmouche, Lieutenant D. G. Strickler, Lieutenant W. G. Skelton and Lieutenant C. W. Westlund. The regiment is encamped at Fort McPherson with its commanding officer, Colonel Duncan K. Major, and the officers and men will take part in the horse show to be held in Atlanta.

The infantry squad from Fort Benning includes Major C. B. Lyman, Major A. V. Arnold, Lieutenant H. D. Baker, Lieutenant B. R. Jacobs and Lieutenant W. H. Bartlett. They will motor up from Fort Benning Tuesday, May 19. The Fort Bragg team will arrive the same day and the personnel of the team includes Captain P. C. Fleming, Captain W. C. Greene, Captain Douglas L. Crane and Lieutenant F. H. Fisher and Warrant Officer Benjamin Adle. The Savannah team whose membership is drawn from the 118th field artillery, includes Carrol Zealy, Noble W. Jones, W. R. Harper, Joseph T. Coleman and W. A. Watkins. The team will have as its guests Major C. W. Robson and a group of others.

Dinner Dance.

The dinner-dance given by the Fort McPherson Officers' Club will center the interest of the military set Friday evening. Major Harvard C. Moore and Mrs. Moore, Captain Francis Flanigan and Mrs. Flanigan and Lieutenant Daniel Taylor will act as official hosts. Congenial groups will assemble at the tables and a number of the military set will be hosts at parties. General George H. Estes and Mrs. Estes will entertain at a table for 12 in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Claude D. Collins, and their niece, Miss Lorraine Richardson. Colonel D. M. Cheston and Mrs. Cheston will have as their guests Colonel Walter F. Bates and Mrs. Bates, Colonel Christian A. Bach and Mrs. Bach, Mrs. Clyde C. Abraham, Colonel Louis M. Nuttman and Captain George Abrams and Mrs. Abrams.

Major Roland Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler entertain at a table for 10. Miss Aline Williams entertains in honor of Miss Lola O. Connell and Lieutenant Roy Krauthoff whose marriage will be solemnized in the early fall at Fort Benning. Covers will be placed for the honor guests. Misses Dorothy Wefing, Josephine Blanchard, Williams, Lieutenant R. S. Williams and Mrs. Williams, Lieutenants Chris Clark, James Winn, H. Hubard, David X. Anqulin and Robert Cook.

Among the attractive horse show visitors will be Mr. and Mrs. John Sheffield Williamson, of Baltimore, Mr., and Grand Rapids, Mich., who will motor to the garrison to be the guests of Major Roland Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler at their quarters. En route they will attend the derby and will arrive at the post May 21. Major Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler will entertain at an informal supper party at their quarters Friday evening, May 22, in honor of their guests.

Tea at Brookhaven.

Mrs. Sam Worley and Miss Elizabeth Dodd were hostesses at an al fresco tea yesterday at Brookhaven complimenting Miss Billie Johnson, whose marriage to Tom Roberts will be an event of June, and Miss Laura Hoke, a debutante of the season just past.

Receiving with the hostesses were the two honor guests, and assisting in dispensing hospitality to the guests were Misses Virginia Courts, Emily McPhail, Lula Collier, Mrs. Jack Sharp, Mrs. Paul E. Johnson and Mrs. Stuart Gould.

Tea was served at 4:30 on the terrace of the club, covers being placed for 60 members of the younger social contingent.

Noted Writer Of New Orleans To Visit Here

Mrs. Eretus Rivers has issued invitations to a tea which she will give Saturday, May 23, at 4 o'clock at her home on the Roxboro road in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmer, of New Orleans, who arrives on that date to be a distinguished guest attending the commencement festivities at Oglethorpe University. Mrs. Gilmer, whose pen name is Dorothy Dix, is one of America's foremost writers and in recognition of the splendid services she has rendered for a long number of years as a public adviser the Oglethorpe University will confer upon her the degree of Doctor of Letters while she is a guest here.

Mrs. Gilmer will share honors with seven other distinguished visitors who will be in Atlanta for the Oglethorpe commencement at a luncheon to be given Sunday, May 24, at the Piedmont Driving Club at which Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, will be host.

A buffet supper will be given in the library of Oglethorpe Saturday evening, May 23, in honor of Mrs. Gilmer and other visitors, also members of the 1931 senior class.

Graduating Exercises.

The graduating exercises of St. Joseph's infirmary training school for nurses takes place Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at high mass service in Sacred Heart church. Dr. John Donaldson, president of St. Joseph's staff, will deliver the diplomas to Misses Betty Clarke, Eleanor Ross, May McConnell, Irene Greenway, Elizabeth Hudson, Grace Echols, Doris Williams and Elizabeth Strickland.

Miss Margaret Bartley entertains at tea at Mimosa Hall Tuesday, May 19, in compliment to the graduates and the party will be augmented by Misses Jane Van De Vrede, Lucy Mace and Mamie Williams.

The intermediate class of St. Joseph's infirmary entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at the Athletic club in honor of the members of the 1931 graduating class.

For Bride-Elect.

Mrs. T. C. Lackland was hostess at a bridge-tea yesterday at her home on Piedmont avenue, honoring Miss Margaret Donaldson, whose marriage to Thomas Gantt Lane will be an event of Saturday, June 6. Sharing honors with Miss Donaldson was her guest, Mrs. P. L. Rigby, of East Liverpool, Ohio.

The guests included Misses Jeanette Blackstock, Frances Sefton, Adele Bird and Mesdames G. T. Bird, C. M. Johnson, Howard Winoburn and George Bolton.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor To Entertain Alpha Delta Pi's at Reception

Following the business session of the Alpha Delta Pi state convention at the Biltmore, the Alpha Delta Pi alumnae will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Taylor, Jr., 1985 Ponce de Leon avenue, at a brilliant reception this evening.

Throughout the first floor quantities of garden flowers in pastel shades will be artistically arranged. In the dining room roses and snapdragons carrying out violet and white motif, the A. D. Pi colors, will be used.

Receiving the guests with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will be Miss Evelyn Hix, province vice president; Miss Evelyn Sellers, chairman of Alabama Alpha Delta Pi alumnae; Mrs. Washington Dessau, of Macon, and Mrs. Martha A. Bigham.

Assisting in entertaining will be the officers, Mrs. W. W. Falkner, Mrs. Edmund Walker, Mrs. J. S. Pope, Miss Mabel Wood, Mrs. W. S. Nelms, Mrs. J. A. Higgs, Miss Laurian Johnson, Mrs. James Girardeau, Mrs. Kenneth Felix and Mrs. Thad Horton.

A short program will be given by the Lambda girls from Brenau College, in Gainesville, assisted by Mrs. J. B. McNelley, of Atlanta.

The guests will include all the out-of-town Alpha Delta Pi's, the alumnae in Atlanta, representatives from each of the other sororities who are members of the National Pan-Hellenic, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Boykin, Judge and Mrs. John S. Candler, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Anderson, of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Porter, of Macon; Governor and Mrs. Hardman, and others.

Y. W. Health Education Department Sponsors Exercises and Dances Tonight

Exercises and dances featured by the health education department of the Y. W. C. A. will feature the demonstration given at 37 Auburn avenue this evening at 8:15 o'clock under the direction of Miss Nannie Burwell Crow, director. "Around the Year With the Health Education Department" is the grand finale which brings to a close the gymnasium and dancing classes conducted by the "Y" since October, but the dip periods and swimming classes will be continued through the summer. Members of the classes from two-year-old youngsters to grandmothers have been invited to take part in the program and the public is cordially invited, admission being 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children under 16 years of age.

The first number, in keeping with the opening of the department in October of each year, will show the training received and "When Autumn Leaves are Falling" will be a colorful dance by Nancy McLarty, Louise Bearman, Olive Glenn, Ann Beaumont and Mary Katherine Glenn. The children's advanced dancing class will portray "School Recess in Ye Merrie England," while a group of tap beginners will give a dance entitled "The Goblins Will Git You Ef You Don't Watch Out." A jockey dance, "Giddy-up, Giddy-up," led by Agnes Hogan, pony, and Elizabeth Poole, driver, will feature Elizabeth Ogletree, Hollis Rawson, Louise Collins and Joy Gottesman.

Winter round of activities will show "How to Keep Warm in Winter" as illustrated by the matron's gym class. "What the Snowmen Do at Night" will be depicted by a group of tappers, and "When Grandma Danced the Minuet," by Louise Bearman, Nancy McLarty, Mary Katherine Glenn, Olive Glenn, Joyce Odom and Jacqueline Odom, will complete this group. Flowers, courtships and dances will introduce the spring numbers, the first being "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring—tra-la." Mrs. Ruth King plays the part of the sun, who wakes all the tiny flowers from their slumbers and causes them to dance lightly upon the green. A Swedish folk dance, "School is Over in Sweden," will typify the happy frolics enjoyed by carefree children. "The Very Young Go A-courting" will be a tap number with boy and girl partners. "Dancing the Light Fantastic in Days of Long Ago" will show Hazel Bragg, Sara Williamson, Gloria Smith, Marion Williamson and Mary Alice Roan. Another number is the "Soldier Boys" by Mary Tyce, Ann Wallace and Gloria Smith. A Bowery number, "A Summer Night on the Sidewalks of New York," will introduce the summer group, members of the gym class. "Pierrots and Pierrettes" will be a striking dance with black and white figures and done by the advanced tappers. A group of children tappers, dressed in overalls, bright bandanas and large straw hats will show how "A Fishin' We Will Go," and a "Glorious Fourth" will be another summer episode by the tappers. An "Obstacle" number featuring apparatus and tumbling act will be given by Misses Ruth White, Martha Jordan, Candace Brown and Janie Rhoades.

Phi Pi Officers.

Miss Louisa Robert was elected president of Phi Pi Club at the meeting held Wednesday at the home of Miss Suzanne Knox, on Piedmont avenue. Other officers elected to serve with her include Miss Anne Alston, vice president; Miss Frances Weinman, secretary; Miss Joyce Smith, treasurer.

MRS. PAULLIN WINS PEACHTREE GARDEN SWEEPSTAKES

Mrs. Draper Wins Prize For Best Novelty in Show

The 1931 flower show sponsored by Peachtree Garden Club staged yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club, held a portion of the spotlight for flower lovers with the sweepstakes being won by Mrs. J. E. Paullin, for the pure white peonies, yellow centered, and displayed in a milk bottle. For the best novelty exhibited in the show the award went to Mrs. Jesse Draper for a display of submerged flowers, arranged in a pale green and oval goldfish bowl. Yellow calendulas, Japanese honeysuckle and dark foliage with floating tendrils composed the artistic arrangement. The central feature of the flower show centered in a display of decorated breakfast tables, arranged for al fresco service, the first prize going to Mrs. C. V. Rainwater. Red and blue formed the color scheme, worked out in red and blue china, a red and blue checked tablecloth and a pewter service being used with the central decoration featuring red geraniums, exhibited in a blue bowl.

Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun won second prize for her modernistic table, featuring one spray of digitalis arranged in a black glass vase, to match the black glass service, and third prize went to Mrs. W. P. Hill. A pergola formed the background for this effective entry, and pink Dorothy Perkins roses were entwined on the white trellis, while the middle column was entwined with white pink Thousand Beauties. Lavender iris, rose-colored peonies and white syringa were placed at the base of the central column. A white latticed fence encirled the pergola, and growing at the foot of the fence were petunias, purple and yellow iris, and velvety grass. Black marble urns, placed on pedestals, flanked the entrance of the picturesque pergola, and were filled with syringa, white peonies, lemon lilies, and white iris. Another feature adding grace and beauty to the exhibit were hanging baskets filled with petunias, ferns and lemon lilies.

Mrs. Thomas Erwin won first place in the best perennial class, Mrs. Robert F. Maddox won second, and Mrs. W. H. Kiser won third.

Best Perennial.

In the entry for the best perennial raised from seed, the blue ribbon went to Mrs. Henry Johnson; second, Mrs. Trammell Scott, and third, Mrs. Malcolm Fleming. Mrs. Thomas Erwin's display of flowering shrubs and vines won first award; Mrs. W. H. Kiser won second, and Mrs. Trammell Scott won third. The arrangement of flowers in a container not to exceed 18 inches, exhibited by Mrs. J. N. Goddard, won first prize; Mrs. Trammell Scott won second, and Mrs. Bulow Campbell won third. For the best arrangement of flowers in containers exceeding 18 inches, the blue ribbon was given Mrs. Albert Howell, Jr.; the red ribbon was won by Mrs. Cam Dorsey, while the yellow ribbon went to Mrs. Hunt Chipley. For the arrangement of flowers in goldfish bowls or aquariums, Mrs. Jesse Draper won first prize, with second and third prizes being won by Mrs. Frank Fleming. Mrs. C. V. Rainwater won first prize for an arrangement of flowers with a mirror as a background, or placed under a container; Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun won second, and Mrs. J. E. Paullin won third award. Miss Nellie Hightower won the blue ribbon for an arrangement of flowers in a green container; Mrs. R. T. Dorsey won second, and Mrs. Thomas Erwin won third.

Mrs. Alston Is Winner.

Mrs. Robert C. Alston won the first award for the indoor breakfast class; Mrs. Edwin Johnson won second, and Mrs. P. C. McDuffie won third. Mrs. Henry Newman's display of pink Radiance roses won first and second prizes in Class J, with Mrs. Arthur Harris winning third with an exhibit of red Radiance roses. Mrs. Henry Johnson won all three awards for her display of lavender iris. Mrs. Jesse Draper's display of Spanish iris won first prize, with Mrs. John Reid, of Roswell, winning second, and Mrs. Cam Dorsey winning third. The first and second awards for the best exhibit of Siberian iris went to Mrs. John Reid, and third prize was given Mrs. Henry Newman. Mrs. J. E. Paullin's display of white peonies won first prize; Mrs. W. H. Kiser won second on a display of double white peonies, and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox won third award for an exhibit of rose-colored single peonies.

Mrs. James Goodrum and Mrs. Arthur Tufts, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Reynolds Flournoy and Mrs. Clifford Smith, of Columbus, Ga., served as judges. Serving as co-chairmen with Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, the general chairman for the flower show, were Mrs. Edwin Johnson and Miss Nellie Hightower.

High Museum School of Art Opens Exihibit

The annual exhibition of the High Museum School of Art opens today with a reception from 3 to 6 o'clock at the museum. The material to be exhibited surpasses the exhibitions of previous years and incorporates much new work taken up this year. The friends who are interested in seeing the progressive results of this Atlanta school are invited to be present. The exhibition continues until June 1.

Sunday afternoon, May 17, at 3 o'clock, "The Morning of the Year," a song-cycle by Charles Wakefield Cadman, will be given under the direction of Miss Lula Clark King. The artists are: Mrs. E. Raymond Johnson, soprano; Miss Bertha Simms, contralto; John Panter, tenor; Coleman Kimbro, baritone, and Miss Lillian Smith, accompanist.

Social Welfare Features Sessions Of Junior League

CINCINNATI, May 14.—(AP)—Social welfare was the keynote of addresses and round-table discussions during today's sessions of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, in annual convention here.

Miss Clare Tousley, assistant director of the New York Charity Organization Society, and Mrs. Danforth Geer, Jr., New York, chairman of the welfare committee, addressed the 400 delegates during the morning session, after which the members visited welfare exhibitions.

Twenty of Cincinnati's leading hostesses gave luncheon for the visitors, and in the afternoon round-tables were led by Winifred Conrick, Indianapolis; Miss Alice Chapman, Bridgeport, Conn.; Mary Atkinson, Columbus; Professor Cecil C. North, Ohio State University; Bleecker Marquette, Cincinnati, and Miss Mary Hicks, Louisville.

A carrillon concert and cabaret dinner completed the program. The convention ends tomorrow. All meetings are closed to the public.

St. Paul's Circle.

Mrs. A. B. Hilley was hostess at her home, 559 Terrace avenue, to Circle No. 6 of St. Paul's M. E. church last Monday afternoon. There were 18 members present. Mrs. M. E. Sharpe, chairman, presided. Mrs. M. A. Beiter led in prayer and Mrs. Ruth Houseworth gave the Bible lesson. It was decided to help defray the expenses of a Boy Scout to the Bert Adams camp this summer. A party was planned for June.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. You name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

MY DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am only seventeen but I am engaged to a young man of twenty-seven and my father is opposed to him because some of his people are not what they ought to be. He is a hard worker and I believe he will always be good to me. My character is perfect and I have no bad habits whatsoever. Father has threatened to forbid his coming to see me and we are planning to get married if he does. Don't you think that would be the best way out of our difficulties?

WORRIED.

ANSWER:

No seventeen-year-old girl is capable of judging whether or not a man will make a suitable husband, even if she is "perfect and has no bad habits whatsoever." The worst habit a young girl may have is a supreme egotism such as you acknowledge. If you are so blind to your own faults (dear child, we all have them), you wouldn't be likely to detect faults in your lover. Marriage would not only fail to solve your present difficulties, it would increase them a hundred fold.

There is nothing more pathetic than a young couple weaned from the wife's parents. They need those parents at every turn of the road. They need their guidance and their love and their superior wisdom. First of all, they need it in helping them to determine the time for the marriage and later they need it for all the large decisions that follow in swift succession. If you want to take a step that will bring on the worst heartache you have ever imagined, you go ahead and marry a man whom your father has forbidden you to see. You will get that and more. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Here are a score of letters from young girls who want to know why the men they fancy don't fancy them. One, a girl who signs herself Lily, protests that she is a good girl and a hard worker. Well and good, but the boys take neither into consideration when they are looking for entertainment. Another, who signs herself Peggy, has been looking for a proposal from a young man for four years and it doesn't come. She wants to know why a man will go to see a woman for four years without popping the question. There is just one reason. He doesn't want to. Four years' close association has given him ample opportunity for making up his mind. I should presume that he had it made up and that he wouldn't change it.

N. B. gave her best beau the gate because he drank. After he had gone and she had shut the gate behind him she realized she loved him and couldn't be happy without him. She cannot entice him back. She wants to know what she can do to bring him to a better mind. Nothing. He has found that he can live happily without her and he intends to do it. Incidentally she's better off.

"Baby Face" writes that after four years her boy friend tells other people that he loves her but he never declares himself to her. If he can be frank with others, she wants to know why he can't be equally frank with her. It is barely possible that this young man is so timid that he loses his power of speech when he is with his girl. There is another solution more likely, but less to her liking: Other people seeing her anxiety on the subject are trying to comfort her. And it is scant comfort a sensible girl can get from second-hand love making. If in four years the young man cannot get up courage to tell his girl he loves her, he is not worth fooling with. So, all these ladies and some others, must realize that they are not in the picture they have painted of love and romance. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Mrs. Mathews Wins Sweepstakes Prize in Decatur Flower Show

Mrs. C. A. Mathews was awarded the sweepstakes prize yesterday afternoon at the flower show held by the garden division of the Decatur Woman's Club at the clubhouse. Mrs. Mathews' entry of shaded sweet peas arranged in low bowls on a lace-covered table was adjudged the outstanding exhibit of the show by the judges, Mrs. J. L. Harper, Mrs. Fritz Jones and Ed Hedkt. Mrs. W. M. Miller won the blue ribbon in the entry for annuals with her exhibit of snapdragons, while Mrs. R. G. Garner won second with an attractive array of pansies, and third, with Memorial daisies.

Perennial Entry.

In the perennials Mrs. J. M. Royal's exquisite Memorial daisies, measuring three inches in diameter, was awarded the blue ribbon; Mrs. Margaret Russell's English lupines won the red ribbon, and Mrs. W. H. F. Hamilton's entry won the white. Mrs. Brown Hayes captured all three ribbons in the peonies entry with her exquisite display of flowers arranged in tall floor baskets.

Mrs. W. M. Nichols was awarded the blue ribbon for German iris, while Mrs. R. C. Henderson won the red, and Mrs. Allen Ripley won the white. The miniature exhibit was won by Mrs. W. B. Gurren, who displayed a complete garden with tiny fish pond, lake, green lawn and winding walks, bordered with forget-me-nots. Mrs. W. H. F. Hamilton won second place, and Mrs. G. H. Stewart won third.

A low black bowl holding lemon-shaded lilies, pansies, Columbine and luikero, entered by Mrs. A. B. Boyle, was awarded the first prize for the 18-inch artistic arrangement Mrs. T. R. Crown won the red, and Mrs. W. H. Boswell the white. In the tall artistic display, Mrs. Leon O'Neal placed first, with her entry of three perfect poppies, displayed in a slender crystal vase. Mrs. Hamilton won the red, and Mrs. William Schley Howard the white. Mrs. T. R. Crown won first place in the miniature display with her entry of a blue vase holding pink roses. Mrs. W. Garrow Hudson was awarded the red ribbon for a display of a pair of vases, handpainted by her daughter, Miss Winnie Hudson, and the vases held white wild flowers which resembled orange blossoms. Mrs. C. A. Mathews won the white ribbon.

Perfect Sweet Peas.

For the most perfect sweet peas, Mrs. Mathews won the blue ribbon, Mrs. J. D. Camp the red, and Mrs. Mathews the white. In the novelties entry, Mrs. Gurren was awarded the blue ribbon for a perfect moss rose, placed in a green glass gin bottle. Mrs. W. P. Smith won the red for her entry of a single calla lily exhibited in a crystal vase, and Mrs. T. M. Griffin won third for a sugar plum tree planted in a gay little flower pot. In a special class Mrs. A. D. Russell captured the blue ribbon with an array of cornflowers arranged in a glass bowl. Mrs. B. G. Hopkins won second for her Shirley poppies, and Mrs. Russell won the white for her poppies. Mrs. T. R. Crown won a prize for a special class with her beautifully arranged rock garden built on the broad porch of the club. For the rose entry Mrs. Margaret Russell won the blue ribbon. Mrs. Frank Kroner was awarded the red and Mrs. C. A. Mathews the white.

Burgess Children's Stories

FLIP LOSES HIS BREATH AND HIS TEMPER.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The meddler's bound to fall from grace;
For such there is in life no place.
Old Mother Nature.

Flip the Terrier had been so surprised by the appearance of Longfoot the Kangaroo Rat that for a minute or two he had remained motionless. Then it had come to him that though this stranger was wholly unlike any Rat he ever had seen, that though he was handsome, and that though he was minding this own business and bothering no one, he still was a Rat and he, Flip, was death on Rats. So, recovering from his surprise sufficiently to realize this, he made a rush at the stranger. It was then that Flip discovered what those long hind feet and legs of Longfoot were for. They shot him through the air in astonishing jumps and in a jiffy he had reached another hole and disappeared, as had all his friends.

Flip yelped with disappointment and rushed to the doorway. There he began to make the sand fly. There was more than one Rat inside that big mound he knew, for he could smell them.

"Never before did I see such Rats, but Rats are Rats and I am going to get these fellows or my name isn't Flip," muttered he as he dug furiously.

Pretty soon he had to stop to get his breath and blow the sand out of his nose. He listened with one ear cocked at the hole where he had been digging. There was a strange drumming sound coming from inside. Yes, sir, there was so. He could hear it plainly. He never had heard just such a sound before, but he was sure that it was being made by one of these Rats. This angered him and he again began to dig furiously. He felt that that drumming was an insult, and no one should be allowed to insult him without paying for it.

By and by he failed to hear that drumming. He listened and listened but no drumming did he hear. This was because Longfoot and his friends had left that mound by an underground passage and Flip was digging for nothing at all. He didn't suspect this and kept on just as long as he could. At last, however, he just had to give up. He must get a drink and the only place to get one was back at the ranch. He was tired, his coat was filled with sand, he was so thirsty that his tongue seemed to be swollen, and he was panting as if he never would be able to get his breath. He was a most dejected little dog as he slowly made his way back to the ranch. He would have felt ever so much better if only he had caught a Rat. But he hadn't and what is more, he had a suspicion that he hadn't come anywhere near catching one and he never would be able to catch one by digging.

Meanwhile Longfoot and his friends were most indignant because their fine big mound had been dug open for nothing but mischief by this meddler.

Wear Cotton Movement Indorsed In Resolution by State Clubwomen

BY MRS. HARVIE JORDAN,
State Chairman of Press and Publicity for Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Indorsing the wear cotton movement was the most timely resolution presented the biennial council of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs at Waycross at the Thursday morning session. The motion, introduced by Mrs. E. D. Dimmick, of Waycross, seconded by Mrs. Lewis I. Waxelbaum, of Macon, and unanimously carried, not only pledged the clubwomen of Georgia to wear cotton apparel, but info.m themselves in all the practical uses of cotton and its by-products, thereby rendering double service by using surplus cotton and conserving the forests from which so much wood pulp is now taken.

Thursday was Wear Cotton Day, and the district presidents' breakfast featured cotton in all decorations. Cotton and other home products were distinctly emphasized at the Okefenokee barbecue at the country home of Mrs. A. C. Snedeker, where the men's clubs and Waycross Woman's Club were hosts. Here was served the Ware county pumpkin pie that has become famous in south Georgia. The recipe is the property of the Waycross Woman's Club.

District presidents' evening was of unusual interest and brilliance, portraying through pageants the epochs in the development of woman since the pre-club period. Nine new clubs federating during the year were announced by Mrs. M. E. Judd, first vice president.

The program of the council Thursday evening has Judge W. A. Covington, of Atlanta, as principal speaker. Friday's program will conclude unfinished business of the council, and is as follows:

Business session 9:30 o'clock First Baptist church. Presiding, Mrs. S. V. Sanford, Mrs. M. E. Judd, Mrs. W. B. Smith. Timekeeper, Mrs. E. D. Dimmock. Club litany. Assembly singing. "America," directed by Mrs. J. H. Brewton, Accompanist, Mrs. W. G Townsend. Minutes of Thursday afternoon's session. Report of credentials committee, Mrs. Rufus Turner. Department of public welfare. "Better Aims in Public Welfare." Mrs. R. E. Lee, chairman. "The Library a Community Investment," Mrs. J. W. Gholston, chairman of library extension. Co-operation with the blind, Mrs. Harry Poole. Department of fine arts, Mrs. William R. Johnston, chairman. Fifth forum, Mrs. Virginia Polhill Price. Presenting Mrs. Hartford Green, "What Club Work Has Meant to My Community and to Me." Unfinished business. New business. Final reports of officers. Report of committee on time and place, Mrs. Herbert Hague. Reading of minutes. Announcements. Assembly singing. Closing prayer, Mrs. H. H. Tift. Adjournment.

Luncheon at 1 o'clock, Hotel Ware, with Francis S. Bartow chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and the American Legion auxiliary as hosts.

Trustees of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school will hold their regular meeting by call of the president, Mrs. John K. Ottley, upon close of the convention Friday, May 15, in the First Baptist church.

At the Thursday afternoon session of the council, Mrs. Henry Bird, of Bowdon, chairman of safety on the highways, in which she stated that through her department the federation is co-operating in revising the uniform vehicle code bill already adopted by thirty-two states to meet the constitution and other legal requirements of Georgia.

The women pledged their efforts to support the measure and give it publicity. Appreciation of the work of the chairman has been expressed in messages from the president, the secretary of commerce and other individuals and organizations interested in this measure.

The president of the Columbus City Federation of Clubs, Mrs. J. O. McGehee, extended the Georgia Federation an invitation to hold the 1932 convention in Columbus, which was accepted.

Mrs. T. C. Hudson, Mrs. C. L. Mullen and Mrs. George Burrus brought this invitation from the clubs and men's civic organizations of Columbus.

The gavel awarded annually to the district securing the greatest number of clubs went this year to the fifth, Mrs. L. O. Freeman, of College Park, president, who enrolled six new clubs. The silver loving cup for the most outstanding district junior work was won by the seventh, Mrs. E. M. Bailey, of Acworth, president.

Living memorials to Mrs. S. V. Sanford, Athens, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. J. L. Walker, Waycross, tree planter, were dedicated in Folks Park here.

Two oak trees, emblematic of strong character and sturdy service, were planted, tributes being paid by members of the executive board of the state federation and officers of the Waycross Women's Clubs, as well as by other citizens of Waycross.

C. V. Stanton presided at the planting ceremonies. Mrs. Walker was totally unaware of the honor to be given her and had spoken on Waycross being the second city in the country to plant trees as memorials, following the example of Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. E. D. Dimmock made the tribute to Mrs. Sanford, the response being by Mrs. Lamar Rucker, of Athens.

State-Supported Universities Denied Right To Fire Students

HAMILTON, Ohio, May 14.—(AP) State supported universities were denied the right to expel students who fail to attain specified scholastic qualifications, in an opinion handed down here today by Common Pleas Judge J. D. Barnes.

The ruling was in the case of Miss Jean West, Portsmouth, against Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Recently the co-ed was dismissed from classes by Miami authorities because she failed in some studies and her father brought suit in her behalf, protesting the right of a state-supported school from dismissing any student who had paid entrance fees, regardless of the pupil's scholastic standing.

Judge Barnes held that Miami had no authority to drop Miss West from classes, but ruled that the institution could compel the co-ed to remain in the same grade until she mastered her work.

Second Harlem 'Policy King' Disclosed in Investigation

BY HARRY FERGUSON,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(UP)—The strange career and rise to sudden wealth of another million-dollar Harlem "policy king" was revealed today in bank records presented before Referee Samuel Seabury, investigating the city magistrates' courts.

For the second time in two days, evidence was spread on the records revealing that a poverty-stricken man had accumulated more than $1,000,000 by playing the cupidity of the 500,000 negroes in Harlem.

Today's evidence concerned Wilfred Brunder, a negro who accumulated $1,753,342 between 1925 and 1930. When the case was opened today police testified Brunder had disappeared, but Irving Ben Cooper, counsel had little difficulty reconstructing the story of Brunder's golden five years. It was a story strangely similar to that of Henry Miro, who testified yesterday and who later was arrested on a charge of perjury.

Both men made more than $1,000,000 over brief periods.

Both retired from the business when investigations were started.

Both put their money in banks that subsequently failed.

Both, according to Cooper, have perjured themselves.

Both had elaborate systems for bailing out their operatives in event of arrest.

Both started with virtually no money and reaped their harvests rapidly.

So startling were the revelations that the federal government became interested today, and United States Attorney George Z. Medalie announced he would present evidence next week to show Miro had evaded his federal income tax in 1928, 1929 and 1930—years in which his income soared.

Brunder has been known to police as a "policy banker" for several years, but no one suspected his business had assumed such an enormous volume. In 1928 he served a six-month sentence in Welfare Island prison for conducting a policy game, but so well-oiled was the machinery of his organization that business went on as usual while he was in jail.

Today Cooper brought forth bank records showing the following deposits for Brunder:

1926	173,317
1927	297,672
1928 (six months)	132,129
1929	386,467
1930	569,960

Much of this money was deposited in the Harlem branch of the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co., which failed last year and subsequently reopened.

Miro's money was deposited in the Bank of the United States, which also failed.

Cooper indicated Brunder had perjured himself by swearing, at a private hearing, that he quit policy banking in 1928, while the bank records show his deposits were heaviest in the two succeeding years.

The extent to which Brunder went to protect his operatives was brought out when Israel Edelman, a bondsman, testified he wrote 100 bail bonds for Brunder in 1930.

FARMERS OPPOSE SEED BUYING BILL

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 14.—(AP)—Thousands of farmers from throughout Alabama gathered here today to voice their protests against passage of the Craft bill to prohibit farm and home demonstration agents from soliciting orders for co-operative purchases of seed, feed and fertilizer.

Long before the open hearing by the senate agriculture committee opened, farmers were banked about the capitol lawns, and it was announced the meeting would be transferred to the municipal auditorium.

Estimates of the number of farmers and members of their families in the crowd about the capitol at 10 a. m. ranged from 8,000 upward and still more were congregating.

The Craft bill was introduced in the Alabama senate by Senator Craft, of Mobile, last week and would prohibit farm and home demonstration agents from taking orders from farmers in group buying of supplies, particularly feed, seed and fertilizer.

150,000 WOMEN AID PRESBYTERIAN FUND

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 14.—(AP)—Gifts by 150,000 women of the Southern Presbyterian church to the church amounted to $1,502,966, says a report released today from the department of woman's work with headquarters in this city.

Miss Janie W. McGaughey, secretary, is to submit the report to the general assembly of the church at Montreat, N. C., May 28.

The report says interest in church work was promoted during the year by 2,520 classes in foreign missions, 2,549 classes in home missions, 5,087 Bible study classes and 6,106 prayer bands with 63,330 members.

A special offering of $55,652.33 was made for establishment of ministerial relief endowment fund in honor of Mrs. W. C. Winsborough, secretary emeritus of the department of woman's work.

Nine hundred women attended an auxiliary training school at Montreat, while similar schools were held in 12 synodicals, the report adds.

Busts of Four Noted Americans Are Unveiled in Hall of Fame

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Busts of four illustrious Americans were unveiled in the Hall of Fame today and a distinguished company celebrated their memory in prose and poetry.

The statues, which were placed with 65 others previously unveiled in the colonnade on the campus of New York University, are likenesses of the following:

James Monroe, fifth president, sponsor of the Monroe Doctrine.

Matthew Fontaine Maury, oceanographer, called the "pathfinder of the seas." His researches in mapping out ocean currents and winds saved millions of dollars to shippers by reducing sailing time.

James Abbott McNeill Whistler, painter, etcher, water-colorist and satirist.

Walt Whitman, called the "poet of democracy."

President Hoover sent a letter praising the enduring quality of the four men's work. He said the Monroe Doctrine "has formed the firm foundation upon which had steadily grown an ever-increasing mutual respect and good will between our own country and those advancing nations to the south of us."

Maury's work four score years ago in developing the United States naval observatory and his pioneer meteorological efforts were praised by Professor S. A. Mitchell, director of the Leander McCormick observatory, University of Virginia. Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, in a letter, recalled Maury's slogan, "Ho, for the south pole."

Company 'A,' Boys' Hi R. O. T. C., To Receive Legion Trophy Today

Presentation of the American Legion trophy to Company "A" of the Boys' High School Reserve Officers' Training Corps by the commander of Atlanta Post No. 1, will feature the annual review and field day exercises to be staged at 10 o'clock this morning in Piedmont Park by R. O. T. C. units of the city's public high schools.

The crescent portion of the park drive east of the Fourteenth street entrance will be closed to traffic, the official announcement states, in order to provide spectators with seats along the grass embankments.

Large and well-organized cadet bands and rifle teams will be exhibited by each unit participating in the exercises, it is stated, and each regiment is to have its individual young lady sponsor. The regiments at Tech High and Boys' High have a larger R. O. T. C. enrollment than have the combined high schools of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Connecticut, officials have announced.

The full program is as follows:

Leading elements of brigade to march on field promptly at 10 a. m.

Presentation of brigade to sponsors.

Presentation of American Legion trophy to Company "A," Boys' High School, by commander, Atlanta Post No. 1.

Presentation of efficiency and Hearst trophy team medals to individual cadets by school principals.

Review for representatives of state, city board of education, army, navy and marine corps.

Tech High School—Silent drill and physical drill.

Boys' High School—Butts manual.

March off field, Tech High band leading, to start promptly on completion of exercises.

Not All Empty.

Empty gallon cans which had been used to contain liquor, as well as one full can, were found by D. C. Cole, of Marietta, owner of a vacant property at 475 Markham street Thursday. He notified the police who are expected to watch the property for bootleggers. The cache gave evidence that it had been used as a place of contact between wholesalers and retailers, it was said.

Crackers Lose Hard Game to Chicks in Tenth Inning, 5 to 4; Danforth Still Likes Twenty Grand After Final Derby Drills

CRACKERS LOSE TO CHICKS, 5-4, IN HARD BATTLE

Carlyle Smashes Homer. Jeanes' Great Catch Stops Cracker Rally.

By Ralph McGill.

Memphis skipped out ahead of the Crackers in the tenth Thursday afternoon at Spiller field to win the first game of the series, 5 to 4.

It was a rowdy ball game, featuring the usual poor umpiring by Shannon and Hovater, brilliant and drab play by both clubs, a home run by Roy Carlyle and a fast climax.

Shannon called plays without following them to be in a position to see. Hovater had the players hitting at anything within reach by his judgment on balls and strikes, the Crackers let Memphis score in the tenth on an error and committed other errors of judgment which were none too bright.

Bob Lamotte was the goat of the tenth inning which saw the Chicks squeeze over what was the winning run. Rube Benton, first up, singled past second. Hamel bunted to Lamotte, who had been playing sensationally all afternoon. Lamotte came in fast and grabbed the ball. He turned for the throw to second in time to have Benton by five yards.

Neither Ryan nor Sheehan were covering on the play.

Lamotte's throw, already started, slipped from his hand as he attempted to stop it and the ball went trickling off between short and second while Benton tripped gaily to third and Hamel was safe at first.

AWKWARD PLAYING.

Tex Jeanes bunted and Benton was caught off third. There was some extremely awkward handling of the ball but Benton was finally run down, Hamel moving over to third.

Brazill squeezed him home with another bunt and the Chicks were ahead.

They stayed there, Tex Jeanes making a circus catch of Poco Taitt's line drive to center that would have scored Barron, who had singled and gone to second on an error, had not Jeanes been so agile.

Doc Prothro, chief of the Memphis Tribe, was hoarse at the conclusion of the game. He had been saying things to Umpire Hovater. Hovater called a strike on him which almost took the letters off the chief's jacket. Hovater took it, blushing furiously.

PLAYERS FURIOUS.

The Crackers were so upset at the loss of the third game this week by one run that they were ready to bite one another or drink poison. Games like the one of Thursday are hard on the nerves.

Behind the sour tenth the Crackers looked good. They got off to a fine start and showed some good hitting, notably that by Roy Carlyle, who got three singles and a home run in four times up.

Carlyle's home run was over the right-field fence, the little green one. It was a tremendous thump. Two of his singles had unique features. They were to left field. Carlyle is ordinarily a dead right-field hitter.

Jack Sheehan came through with three singles and Mule Shirley two.

LOOKED VERY GOOD.

Johnny Ryan's pinch hit in the fourth scored two runs.

The Crackers looked like a good ball club. The tenth saw them trip over some bad breaks.

Memphis scored first, taking advantage of Paul Gregory's wildness in the first inning to get in two runs. Gregory got himself in a hole by walking two men. They, combined with a couple of singles, one of which hurt, scored the runs. Joe Hutcheson delivered the single that did the work.

A fast double play by Sheehan, Ryan and Shirley pulled Gregory out of trouble in the second. The third saw him walk the first man, Hamel. Hamel stole second. Gregory stayed in while Jeanes sacrificed Hamel to third, but Ray Francis relieved him with Hamel in scoring position.

HAMEL SCORES.

Hamel came in on a fly ball to give the Chicks their three runs.

Three singles had given the Crackers one run in the second and two singles and a sacrifice placed Shirley at third and Carlyle at second in the fourth. Jim Ryan delivered the two men at the plate with a single to center.

Roy Carlyle unsnarled the score in LOUISVILLE, May 14.—That same atmosphere of tensity and suppressed excitement that pervades the training quarters of a football team the day of a big game has been manifest at Churchill Downs this week. It is the pre-football emotional pitch prolonged and multiplied through days and days.

A visitor to the barns is conscious of taut abdominal muscles and finds himself talking in lowered voice. The clang of a pitchfork against a garbage can sounds like the explosion of a hand bomb.

Silent, sunburned men move about the barns keenly eyeing visitors or lounge near stall doors behind which the hopes of gold and glory languidly munch oats and hay. Even the negroes are somber. They growl at each other as they work and jump when the white folks bark an order.

Winning the Derby means everything to owners and stable help. It is the goal that appeared when the long-legged foal took his first shambling steps in the home pasture. Three years of hoping, dreaming, working and waiting can produce a terrific pitch of suspense.

Unscrupulous men, to whom the failure of a favorite to win would mean tens of thousands of dollars, might poison a Derby horse or even hamstring him with a sharp knife on the eve of the race. There was talk, all unfounded, that Equipoise had been drugged before his second start of the season in that Maryland stake race, you recall.

PRECAUTIONS AS ARE.

Of all the rigid guards set up around the darlings of the turf, perhaps the precautions instituted by Big Jim Healy, trainer of Mate, the Preakness winner, are the most efficient.

A time clock has been placed in Mate's stall at which a watchman must register every fifteen minutes during the night.

In addition two gigantic police dogs of vitriolic disposition patrol the walkway under the shed. Either one of these dogs could make Al Capone's varsity team.

At every other barn the watch continues similarly night and day. It is a triumph of careful handling and good fortune to have survived the rigors of training for a Kentucky Derby.

One hundred and thirty were nominated in February and only a dozen have endured the ordeal. No wonder devoted owners take every precaution as the race nears and their pets promise to pay in full with a best effort.

ATLANTANS HUNT PRIZE.

Three Atlanta inseparables already are here looking over the ground and preparing to ride the Derby winner.

J. M. Goddard, W. E. Chapin and Dr. W. S. Elkin are at the Brown.

ADD ATTRACTIONS.

Dinky Dallis is here too, and has placed publicity and advertising for the descent of an autogyro on the infield here Friday and Saturday. The stunt is a ballyhoo for Stanavo gasoline. He was at the track today with W. E. Smith, president of this branch of the Octopus.

MR. CURTIS' BIG CHANCE.

Of course you had forgotten who the vice president of the United States is. He is Mr. Charles H. Curtis. One and all were reminded of this when his name appeared heading the list of honor guests. He and I are domiciled on the same floor at the hotel. Ho hum.

The vice president belongs to Will Rogers' tribe and in his youth was a jockey. He knows race hosses from away back.

A former vice president perpetuated his name to posterity by declaring that what this country needs is a good five-cent cigar. What a bromide to go ringing down in history.

Think of the fame Mr. Curtis could earn by declaring the name of the winner of the Derby.

Mrs. Gann is with her brother. There will be no argument as to where she will sit this time. She has a seat check.

THE ELKS SAIL IN.

Oh, yes, the Cincinnati Elks have chartered the steamer Tom Greene for their Derby trip and will arrive at the city wharf early Saturday morning. Such fun we will have.

Jackets and Bulldosg To Open Series Today

Tech, Georgia Meet at Spiller's in Year's Final Games; Florida, Mercer Play.

By Herb Clark.

Tech and Georgia, the old color twins in person, are to reopen their perennial baseball wars this afternoon as a finale to the Cracker-Chick game at Spiller field. The Crackers start play at 2:15 o'clock.

The Jackets and the Bulldogs started on their 1931 diamond trail at Athens some two weeks ago. The scores were 7-6 and 5-3, Georgia scoring the lucky seven and Tech coming back with "Phoebe" to even things. Today, for all you know, the score may be blank-blank. In that case it'll be blankety-blank Saturday.

The Tech-Georgia series is one of two slated to get under way today. They are the last on the Dixie College league schedule for the year.

Auburn clinched first place a week ago. Second place is the goal in a scramble at the moment. Oglethorpe, Georgia and Florida are in a three-way tie, each having won half of the 18 games played. The Petrels are through for the year; Georgia or Florida, or both, can sweep the present series and step into the coveted post.

Hopes for the promised land at the Flats subsist solely on attendant hopes for a double cooling of the Athenian rivals. In that event they'd be easy fourth place winners. Should, wonder of wonderful wonders, Mer-

CAMPOLO TESTS TOMMY TONIGHT

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, will face Vittorio Campolo, the last heavyweight between him and the top-notch place he held before he tackled Jack Sharkey one summer night in 1929 at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The former king of the light-heavyweights has whipped Ernie Schaaf, Max Baer, Dick Daniels, Tuffy Griffiths and a half-dozen lesser lights until now only Vittorio, of the Argentine, stands between him and his former rank with Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling.

Campolo has not fought in 11 months and his last match, scheduled with Jack Sharkey here last summer, was cancelled because of a lack of interest.

STRIB-MAX BOUT MUST BE FOUGHT IN COURT FIRST

Injunction Sought To Halt July 3 Fight Under Old Law.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—The law reached into the heavyweight boxing business again today and decreed that another world championship battle must first be fought by lawyers.

David Fischer, an insurance agent, sent his attorney, J. H. Mellen, to the Cleveland court of appeals to request of Judge Manuel Levine an injunction to prevent the July 3 match between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling in Cleveland.

He was ready to argue that the bout is a prize fight and that prize fighting is illegal in the state of Ohio. Judge Levine refused to accept his petition on the grounds that his court had no jurisdiction, but Attorney Mellen promptly filed his plea all over again in the court of common pleas.

Thus the Cleveland title duel climbed up on an equal basis in the matter of injunctions with another match billed as a heavyweight championship affair, the Primo Carnera-Jack Sharkey bout scheduled for June 10 at Ebbets field, Brooklyn. Both shows now have one injunction apiece against, thereby qualifying both as championship affairs under the late Tex Rickard's sage definition: "You can't have a real heavyweight title fight without a good law suit."

Fischer's plea for an injunction to prevent the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Ohio from staging the Stribling-Schmeling match described the affair as a "public nuisance" that would attract a "dangerous and violent assembly." The city law director, Harold H. Burton, informally outlined the defense the Ohio Garden probably will offer by commenting that the match is a "boxing bout," not a "prize fight," and as such is legal under an Ohio statute permitting boxing bouts in public gymnasiums.

While the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Ohio is the defendant in this action, another subsidiary of the New York parent organization, the Illinois Madison Square Garden, is a plaintiff in the injunction proceedings now awaiting decision here. The Illinois Garden has petitioned the federal court to enjoin Carnera from fighting Jack Sharkey until a contract the Italian giant signed for a match in September with the Schmeling-Stribling winner has been fulfilled. Arguments have been heard on this plea and a decision is expected within the next two days.

Twenty Grand Looks Grand

Most of the attention of some 50,000 turf fans, advance guard of the Kentucky Derby army, is centered on Twenty Grand, the grand-looking racer of the Greentree stable. Twenty Grand stepped off his final workout yesterday afternoon before the throngs of turf fans and all were impressed by his performance. He was clocked at 1:58 for the mile and eighth. Ed Danforth, sports editor of The Constitution, is at Churchill Downs to "cover" the classic. His story appears to the right. Associated Press photo.

BARNES TO MEET FOWLER TODAY

Finals Reached in All Flights of Jaycee Spring Tourney.

By Roy White.

Pete Barnes, of West End, and Forrest Fowler, of Capital City, will renew their championship golf match at 9:30 o'clock this morning on the Capital City Country Club course when they meet for the annual spring crown of the Junior Chamber.

Barnes won the 1930 spring title from Lee Fowler at East Lake and then defeated Forrest Fowler for the fall title on the West End course.

Barnes Thursday defeated Billy Kingdon, an Ingleside player, 3-2, and Fowler defeated Gilbert Ashe, a municipal player, 2-1.

Kingdon started off strong and had Barnes 3 down at the end of the first six holes, but the defending champion rallied and won the next six holes to go 3 up. Kingdon forced Barnes to play sub-par golf on the second nine and managed to cut the lead to one hole until near the end, when Barnes forged into a commanding lead.

Ashe played spectacular golf and was 3 under par at the fourth tee to lead Fowler by three holes. Fowler then steadied and was 1 up on Ashe at the turn. They played the back nine on practically even terms until Fowler played one of his best golf shots from the rough, near the 16th fairway. It was a mashie pitch over some bushes that stopped a few feet short of the pin for a win and 2 up. The 17th was halved in par figures.

Finals in all the flights will be played this morning with the exception of the eighth flight. Frank Shaw defeated D. W. Swords, 7-6, Thursday for the eight flight title.

Nine trophies and eight prizes for winners and runners-up in each of the flights will be presented at a dance at 9 o'clock tonight at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Thursday's results:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Pete Barnes defeated Billy Kingdon, 3-2; Forrest Fowler defeated Gilbert Ashe, 2-1.

FIRST FLIGHT.

J. B. Roberts defeated C. D. Guerry, 1 up; Bill Healey defeated Walter Wolff, 3-2.

SECOND FLIGHT.

W. L. Flemister defeated LeRoy Leonard, 5-4; J. L. Franklin defeated H. J. Gerlach, 1 up, 42 holes.

THIRD FLIGHT.

Don Reck defeated C. H. King, 7-6; Sam Riley defeated W. D. Parks, 3-2.

FOURTH FLIGHT.

T. C. Burnett defeated E. A. Wilder, 5-4; Dr. H. P. McDonald defeated C. R. Gholson, 2-1.

FIFTH FLIGHT.

W. C. Johnson defeated E. R. Everett, 5-4; J. M. Vickery defeated M. R. Jones, 3-1.

SIXTH FLIGHT.

W. R. Bentley defeated W. F. Lowry, 2-1; Al Hendley defeated George Yancey, 4-3.

SEVENTH FLIGHT.

T. R. Whitson defeated Leslie Palmer, 2-up; Dick Grimsley defeated Dr. R. W. Tharpe, 1-up, 20 holes.

EIGHTH FLIGHT.

Frank Shaw defeated D. W. Swords, 7-6.

New Orleans Buys Two New Players

NEW ORLEANS, May 14.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans today announced the purchase from the Kansas City club of the American association of Eddie Rose, outfielder, and George Knothe, shortstop.

Rose batted .328 and drove in 110 runs with Little Rock Travelers last year. Knothe's 1930 record included .943 fielding average and .294 hitting with the Kansas City Blues.

Vosmik, Slumping, To Be Given Rest

CLEVELAND, May 14.—(AP)—Joe Vosmik, Cleveland's sensational recruit of the early days of the American league season, is going to warm the bench for a while at least. Manager Roger Peckinpaugh said Vosmik would be supplanted in left field today by the veteran Charley Jamieson.

Vosmik's batting has steadily declined and Peck believes a rest of a week or so is the cure.

ATLANTA PLANS FOR MUNY PLAY

Qualifying Rounds for National Public Parks Golf Meet Discussed.

Qualifying rounds for play in the tenth annual amateur public links golf championship will be played during the two weeks beginning June 28, it was announced Thursday by officials of the United States Golf Association.

The tournament will be played August 4 on the Keller golf course at St. Paul, Minn., and is open to six players from each city in the country.

Representatives from each city will be determined in medal play competition of not less than 36 holes, with authority given the local representative of the U. S. G. A. to select the players from the lowest 20 gross scores. Any player who qualified in the championship in previous years can be selected with qualifying this year.

Since municipal golf has increased materially in Atlanta during the past few years, an effort is being made to promote a qualifying tournament here during the specified time. Robert G. Parks, secretary of the Atlanta Municipal Golfers' Association, has received all information pertaining to the national tournament from the U. S. G. A.

Atlanta's municipal courses are drawing more players now than ever before. There has been a material increase over the same period of last year, with the new John A. White course drawing most of the players. The White course ranks one of the best nine-hole layouts in the state and is the logical course on which to hold the Atlanta qualifying for the St. Paul tourney.

Westmoreland Will Defend Golf Crown

John L. Westmoreland, former University of Georgia basketball star, will defend his title as Atlanta's champion lawyer golfer today on the Capital City Country Club course in an annual one-day medal play tourney.

The event is being sponsored by the Atlanta Lawyers' Club, and every lawyer and judge in the city is invited to participate in the tourney. John Westmoreland and Howard Beckett and Willie Livingstone, Capital City professionals, will be in charge of play.

In addition to the 18 holes of medal play, there will be a driving, putting and other novelty contests for the lawyers and judges of the city.

POLOISTS PLAY DOUBLE-HEADER

Fort and Cavalry, Guards and Freebooters To Meet Sunday.

A double-header, to get under way on the Fort field at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, has been slated for Atlanta polo enthusiasts by Fort MacPherson authorities.

The Sixth Cavalry team from Fort Oglethorpe will meet the Fort quartet in the first game; the Governor's Horse Guards and the Buckhead Freebooters will clash in the second.

The games will be the final local practice affairs for the Southern circuit and fourth corps area polo tournaments, the first-named of which is to start at Fort McPherson on May 24 and last until May 31. All four teams named will participate.

The Sixth Cavalry-Fort Mac game, third and deciding clash of a three-game series, will see the invaders lined up as usual with Lieutenant Z. W. Moores at one, Major Terry Allen at two, Captain Raymond Gibbs at three, and Captain Thomas Herren at back.

Major Gus Franke, Fort McPherson team captain, plans more lineup changes in the game Sunday as he seeks the best possible combination for tournament play. Major Raymond Gaugler, Major G. I. Tolson, Captain Albert Wing, Lieutenant William Biddle, Lieutenant Frank Spettel and Oscar Shubert compose the squad from which he will select his players. Injured himself some time ago but fast recuperating, it is probable that Franke will enter the game Sunday.

Ray Love, at one, is to lead the Horse Guards in their first game of the season on the Fort field. P. D. Christian will be at two, either Gerald Graham or Lieutenant T. C. Sluder at three and Lieutenant Wesley Moran at back.

John Allen, Charles Hope or Crozier Wood will be at one for the Freebooters, James McIntire at two, James Giles at three and either William Harden or Rowland Pritchard at back.

Blackerby, Marine Outfielder, Hurt

MOBILE, Ala., May 14.—Infielder Herman Jones, property of the Mobile Marines, who tried out this spring and was later sent to the Jackson, Miss., Cotton States Club, was sent to the Berkley, W. Va., team today on option.

The Mobile club suffered a heavy blow today when George Blackerby left the game on account of an injury to his back in throwing a ball. This will cause Acting Manager Red Oldham to have to use Harry Moore, an infielder, in the right garden.

Missouri Legalizes 15-Round Ring Bouts

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 14. (AP)—Fifteen-round decision boxing bouts will be legal in Missouri starting early next fall.

Governor Henry S. Caulfield today signed a bill passed by the legislature providing for 15-round bouts, with a decision by the referee and two judges in title bouts, instead of the present ten-round no-decision bouts.

The law was changed to enable St. Louis and Kansas City to bid for title bouts.

WHITNEY RACER CLOCKED FAST; MATE IS READY

Eastern Aces Show Well; Fast Track Seemed Assured.

By Ed Danforth.
Sports Editor.

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—It was personal appearance day at the Downs today. Before a throng of turf fans, advance guard of the 50,000 who will witness the running of the Derby, grand old stake, Saturday, the glittering stars of the east and few of the western defenders of intersectional turf prestige paraded in final workouts.

Under foot the track was fast drying out. Overhead blazed a sun whose face is unfamiliar this spring in the bluegrass. And as the stars cantered past the stand at intervals between regular races to warm up for their speed trials, their identities were announced through loud speakers, and the crowd cheered them to the limit.

MATE IMPRESSES.

Mate made a profound impression, more by his appearance than his performance. He is a tremendous animal, this red chestnut with the white face, and runs in long, powerful strides. He was hard held on his workout and was clocked seven-eighths in 1:34 1-5. His fraction for the three-quarters was 1:19 1-5, just a blow out for him. The king of the A. C. Bostwick string is ready.

Ladder, a strong-running light bay belonging to Walter Salmon, started far away from the stand in the chute and clicked off a mile and an eighth in 1:57 1-5, well in hand all the way. Ladder was kept toward the middle of the track, where the going was firm; he hates mud.

It was Twenty Grand, the favorite, who made the deepest impression on the crowd. The star of Mrs. Whitney's Greentree stable has equine "it." Twenty Grand is big, even bigger than Mate. He is a dark bay, with rolling muscles and unusually heavy hind quarters. Anchors Aweigh, the mud lark of the Greentree string, came out with Twenty Grand. The mudder looked like a pony in comparison.

NECK-AND-NECK.

Marshall Lilley, an exercise boy, was aboard Twenty Grand, and Charley Kurtsinger on Anchors Aweigh.

The Greentree pair stepped away neck-and-neck for the first quarter but Twenty Grand was full of run, for a wonder, and pulled away from his mate. They worked a mile and one-eighth in 1:37 and 1:58, respectively. The moves of both colts must have been highly satisfactory to stable connections.

Surf Board, the other Greentree star, who prefers a fast track, worked a mile and one-eighth handily in 1:58 with a stable companion.

This demonstration of force settled in the minds of the thousands who looked on that the winner is almost certain to come from the east, if not the second and third horse as well. The easterners are eye-filling, pulse-stirring animals in action. They are certainly in condition.

EQUIPOISE RESTS.

Equipoise, the other invader, worked yesterday and was left in the barn today. He is not so pleasing to the eye, and his trainer says he is not the same colt that split the middle of the big road as a two-year-old.

After Insco's workout Trainer Lloyd Gentry sent his Boys Howdy over to Douglas Park for a final workout late Wednesday and consequently the move was not observed by the regulars at the Downs. Clyde Van Dusen, trainer of Sweep All, another western dependence, announced that Frankie Cotiletti would have the leg up in the Derby.

Tomorrow the big rush will begin. The Derby candidates are prepared as far as skilled handlers can make them.

Professor Kendall, the meteorologist of these parts, says fair and warmer with no rain anywhere in sight. It actually looks as if the Derby will be run over a fast track after all.

Your correspondent has favored Twenty Grand since midwinter and stubbornly clings to that favoritism now. Yet there is this big red Mate and the powerful Pittsburgher to be considered. Likewise the possibility that Spanish Play, Sweep All or even the now-discredited Equipoise may

American Loop Has No Setups, Says McCarthy

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—(AP)—If there are any set-ups in the American league this year, Joe McCarty, new skipper of the New York Yankees, hasn't seen them yet.

Marse Joe, paying his first visit to St. Louis as an American league pilot, explained today he had not yet seen the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers in action, but called the other clubs "good ball teams."

An interviewer reminded McCarty that Connie Mack recently picked the Yankees to give the Athletics plenty of trouble before the season is over.

"I have the greatest respect for Mr. Mack's judgment," he replied with a smile, and "I'll take his word for it, especially as I am quite sure he's right."

McCarty said the Athletics were the team the Yankees would have to beat to win the pennant, "and that's not just paying back Mr. Mack for the nice things he has said of us, either."

Southern Conference Track Stars Seek Title at Birmingham Today

TARHEELS SEND CRIPPLED TEAM TO HOLD CROWN

Strong Field Ready. Tech and Georgia Enter Squads.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 14.—(AP)—Southern conference track teams were concentrating here tonight for the ninth annual track and field meet, beginning tomorrow at Legion field.

Twenty of the 23 conference members are entered and some 260 athletes are scheduled to compete in the events. A majority of the teams were due in tonight, with the full complement expected by tomorrow morning.

North Carolina, winner of last year's meet, has a big squad entered and the Tarheels, under Coach Bob Fetzer, are counting on making it two straight. They took the meet last year with 40 1-2 points. The absence of Charlie Farmer, sprint ace, will hurt the Carolinians.

The furlong, 440, high jump, javelin, discus, shot-put and relay records have been bettered in dual meets this spring, and appear likely to fall. Coaches will meet tomorrow morning to scratch entries and select the field of starters and draw heats.

Dr. C. L. Hare, of Auburn, conference president, announced tonight that a meeting of the executive committee will be held Saturday afternoon at which pending business will be disposed of.

Jackets, Bulldogs Off for Meet.

Seven Georgia Tech track and field stars, featuring a first-flight mile relay team, entrained late yesterday for Birmingham and the Southern conference track meet which opens there today. The Jackets were accompanied on the journey to Slaytown by eight Georgia Bulldogs, who left Athens yesterday afternoon.

Coach Ed Hamm heads a squad composed of Goldsmith, LaForge, Stubbins, Foxhall, Williams, Cain and Asbury. Goldsmith, LaForge, Stubbins and Williams form a quartet of 440-yard men who will be hard to beat both in that race and in the mile relay. Asbury will enter the distance events; Cain will try the weights and Foxhall will step over the hurdles. The relay squad has the best chance for honors of the Tech invading battalion, although the individual events may also see the Jackets near the top.

Owens, Stoinoff, Maddox, Still, Bernhardt, Dickens, David and Sanford, led by Coach H. J. Stegeman, make up the Bulldog entry in the big event, Sanford and Maddox for the last time. Both have excellent chances. Sanford is to enter the jumps; Maddox, present title-holder in the low hurdles, will attempt to hold his crown in that event and will also try the high timbers. Owens, Stoinoff and Still will enter the dashes; Bernhardt will start the two-mile run; Dickens will pole vault, and David will enter that event and the high jump.

Tech Alumni Set Grid Ticket Sale

Complete plans for the sale of season tickets to the Georgia Tech football games next fall will be announced and made public at 8 o'clock tonight at the Tech Y. M. C. A. at a meeting of the Tech National Alumni Association. The plans will be submitted for alumni members for approval and adoption.

Season tickets in the east and west stands will be $15 each; south stand tickets will be $6 for the six games.

Several other matters of importance to all former Georgia Tech students will be discussed at the meeting.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Grantland Rice

A Revision.

O, the horse still runs in My Old Kentucky Home,
As they figure out the odds upon a slate;
And the birds may sing, but the only thing you hear
Is Equipoise and Twenty Grand and Mate.

They ladle out the dope as they figure who should win
As they pass you out a tip on whom to play;
And maybe you can beat 'em—and maybe you'll go broke
In My Old Kentucky Home, far away.

"They're off," you hear them shouting as they start around the track
And the music of their thudding feet is gay;
But the music's not so cheery when a rank outsider wins
In My Old Kentucky Home, far away.

Twenty Grand and the Derby.

This is a much tougher Derby race to pick than last year's contribution to Gallant Fox, but those who have been loyal from the beginning to Twenty Grand are still with him. He is no whirlwind at the start, but this is no six-furlong affair. Once the battle is on he has stamina and heart and speed and there are not many better combinations a horse can carry.

With all that, he must have his share of racing luck and no one has ever proved yet that a bet on any horse race is an investment, taken as a steady diet. Equipoise and Mate have shown they are in Twenty Grand's class and either one may have the racing luck needed to win. It should be a great race, all the more interesting because there is no one dominating horse.

It All Depends.

A correspondent wants to know just where the winner of the Loughran-Campolo engagement will fit in the heavyweight picture this summer. It all depends on how the winner wins, how he looks in winning. If Tommy Loughran can outstab the spiral South American decisively he will be right in the middle of the activity he wants, up near the border line along the top.

If Campolo can slug Loughran around and master the Philadelphian decisively, he will also become something of a card and earn his place among the challengers. If the milling is slow and lumpy, with little action on either side, there will be little room left for either on the summer menu. Already there are enough dull entertainers in the ring game cluttering up the scenery.

The fight that Loughran put up against Schaaf should carry the evening. Campolo can easily outpunch his lighter rival, but Loughran is no easy target in which to shoot holes. He has rarely developed the habit of hanging his chin out for a punching bag. Campolo may wear him down and catch him tiring, but that also is no even money bet.

Whether tonight's meeting in the garden will add any color to the present drabness of the heavyweight situation is up to Loughran and Campolo.

They are among the flock of other fighters who have seen the wrestlers and the tennis players cut in heavily on their old-time following, and they will cut in a lot more if the fighters don't start practicing their trade before the wreckage is complete.

About Ready To Break Out.

It won't be so long now before you'll be listening to some new cannonading. And it will come from the bats of such suppressed hitters as Hack Wilson, Chuck Klein, Lou Gehrig and a few others who have stumbled into a slow start. Wilson, Klein and Gehrig were among the great hitters of 1930, and while they may be down temporarily they won't be held there much longer.

"Klein," says Hornsby, "is one of the most improved ball players I have seen anywhere. He was a natural ball player when he came, but he has studied and learned a lot and is now one of the best I have seen. They can't keep hitters like Klein tied under the .300 class for many weeks."

No one can begin to get much of a line on baseball until June opens up. There are too many cold, windy days in April and May for form to reach its level. But even this far ahead, the other clubs had better keep their field-glasses trained on the Athletics and Cardinals. They are still the people who must be stopped if there is to be a new pennant winner in either league this year.

PREP ATHLETES CLASH ON TRACK

Eight Teams Enter Invitation Track Meet at Flats Today.

Eight of Georgia's most prominent high and prep school track teams will compete at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Grant field in a southeastern prep track and field meet. The event is being sponsored jointly by Tech High and Boys' High and will draw the cream of Dixie's prep track men.

The Monroe Aggies, Griffin High, University School, Madison Aggies, Georgia Military Academy, Gordon Institute, Tech High and Boys' High have entered.

Three outstanding stars, Williams, of Madison, in the shot put; Wilcox, of Monroe, broad jump ace, and Pinky Moore, of Tech High, a dash star, are expected to star.

Boys' High has an unusually strong team, composed in part of the veterans who won the southern prep championship, the city and G. I. A. A. titles, and the Baylor and Tech relays last year.

Tech High recently nosed out Boys' High and G. M. A. for the Big Four title and will present a powerful team. The Smithies won five cups and 22 medals in the recent Baylor relays.

A meeting of the coaches and officials of the meet will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Atlanta Athletic Club to complete final details. The order of events will be those prescribed by the Georgia High School association.

Officials of the events will include George Griffin, referee; Fred Alderman, Dr. Scott and Ralph Fitts, finish judges; M. L. Herbolsheimer, starter; Pat Shields and Fred Bartlett, field judges; Tom Slate, chief field judge, and Jim Harbison, timer.

N.G.I.C. Schedule In Semi-Finals

Russell High and Fulton High will meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at East Point in the feature of four games in the semi-final round of the second half of the N. G. I. C. schedule. Fulton is leading Russell by two full games, with Marist College in second place, one-half game ahead of Russell.

Marist plays Newnan at Newnan, University meets Commercial at Grant park, and Decatur plays Marietta on the Cobb county diamond in the other games for the afternoon.

The final round of the schedule will be played next Tuesday afternoon.

Colored Boxers To Clash Tonight

Dynamite Roy Dunn, of Atlanta, and Kid Gaddis, of Chattanooga, meet at 8:15 o'clock tonight at Sunset park in the 10-round feature of an all-star colored boxing card.

Dunn's record of never having been knocked out will be in a "tough spot" tonight, as the Chattanooga fighter is ranked one of the best in the south.

Tiger Thomas, also of Chattanooga, meets Kid Moon, sensational young Atlantan, in the semi-windup. Other bouts on the program include: Kid Roland and Jack Richards, Tiger Payne and Bear Phillips and a battle royal as an opener.

The fights will be staged inside the Sunset casino and a special section has been reserved for white persons.

Three Ring Titles Decided at Emory

Three boxing titles at Emory University were decided Thursday afternoon in final elimination bouts held at the school to decide the awarding of varsity letters. These bouts, together with past performances, will determine the awards.

Ed Smith, 158, won the middleweight title from Ben Sheppard, 142, in the first bout. Sheppard, who holds the interfraternity welterweight championship, was fighting out of his weight.

Pete Hathcock lost the light-heavy title to Sanborn Cooper after three well-fought rounds.

In the last bout Scott Hogg won a close decision over Dan Lott. Lott carried the fight all the way. Hogg, however, opened up in the third round with short jabs and a right to the face which sent Lott to one knee. By the victory, Hogg moved up to the final round of the welterweight championship, where he will face George Carroll for the welterweight title.

SONNENBERG VICTOR.

BOSTON, May 14.—(AP)—Two slambang flying tackles gave Gus Sonnenberg a victory over George Zarynoff, acrobatic Russian wrestler, here tonight before 10,000 spectators at the arena. Sonnenberg, who weighed 210, registered his butts in 14:07 and 1:21. Zarynoff, 195, won the first fall with a full leg nelson and upright crotch in 36:41.

ROEBUCK FACES ZAHARIAS HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Pair To Meet in Second Outdoor Bout at Ball Park.

George Zaharias, the "Human Truck," will wrestle Tiny Roebuck, the big Indian who defeated Dick Daviscourt Wednesday, in the feature match at Spiller field Tuesday night, it was announced Thursday.

Zaharias wired a challenge to the matchmaker here before the Wednesday night match, challenging the winner.

Zaharias has been under a ban here for some time, the commission refusing him a match unless he met Tiny Roebuck.

Roebuck and Zaharias will be approximately the same size and weight, the Indian having a slight advantage. Both are giants, Zaharias being even larger than Dick Daviscourt.

The semi-windup will bring in two well-known wrestlers. Matchmaker Henry Weber is trying to land a couple of stars for that match to make it an all-star card.

The first night show was a huge success, a large crowd turning out. With warmer weather prevailing a larger crowd is expected next Tuesday night.

Cracker officials announced that the lights, placed in the park for night baseball, would be given their first test the night of the match.

Royal Yacht Body Admits Sir Thomas

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton today was elected a member of the Royal Yacht Squadron.

He was proposed by the Earl of Shaftesbury and seconded by Sir Philip Hunloke.

Henceforth his Shamrock will fly the coveted white ensign, the exclusive emblem of the royal navy and royal squadron. All other yachts of Britain must be content with the red "duster" of the merchant fleet or, in special instances, the blue ensign.

The Royal Yacht Squadron, of which King George V is admiral, is one of the most exclusive clubs in the world.

SMITHIES MEET PURPLES TODAY

Big Four League Lead Is Stake in Important Clash.

Tech High and Boys' High, leaders of the Big Four standings, will meet at 3:15 o'clock in the semi-final round of the schedule and also for the league championship. They are tied with eight victories and one defeat each and both should survive their final game next Wednesday afternoon.

Both teams are in the best of shape. Joe Grayson, the ace of the Boys' High burling staff, is expected to face Ed Copeland, the best on the Tech High team.

G. M. A. and Riverside will meet at Gainesville in the other game of the Big Four, which has been moved up from Saturday.

Smithies Beat Riverside, 7-0.

Tech High defeated Riverside, 7 to 0, Thursday afternoon at Grady field in a postponed game of the Big Four. It was the second shutout for Tech High over Riverside, as the Smithies won, 16 to 0, Wednesday at Gainesville in the quarter final game of the league schedule. The victory gave Tech High a tie with Boys' High for the league lead.

Thornton was the hero of the Tech High victory Thursday. He held Riverside to two hits and was never in danger of being scored on as the team played errorless ball behind his good hurling.

Marion and Scott were outstanding for Tech High.

Hoke Smith Wins In Final Game. 4-3

Hoke Smith juniors defeated Joe Brown Junior High, 4 to 3, on the Smith diamond in the final game of the junior high schedule. Joe Chastain was the hero of the victory. He hit one home run and failed to touch second after another circuit drive and pitched the last four innings for Smith. Nichols, Towery and Williams also played well for the winners. Hood hit best for the losers.

BATTLING BOZO TRAINING HERE FOR GITLITZ GO

"Pa" Orders Workout on Arrival; Gotham Boy Due Today.

Battling Bozo, the fighting fool from Birmingham, took his first workout in Atlanta Thursday in preparation for his fight at the auditorium Monday night with Murray Gitlitz, Jewish light-heavyweight from New York.

Bozo and his manager, "Pa" Stribling, arrived Thursday afternoon from Birmingham and "Pa" ordered an immediate workout. Bozo worked in Langford's Health Club at 101 1-2 Luckie street, and will work there again each afternoon before the fight.

Bozo appeared to be in excellent spirits and condition for the fight here. He expressed himself as delighted at being under the management of "Pa" Stribling. The boy who has twice fought a draw with Maxie Rosenbloom, believes he will get to the top himself.

MURRAY DUE TODAY.

Murray Gitlitz, who was to arrive Thursday, wired that he and his manager had been delayed but that they would positively arrive this afternoon and take a workout.

Meanwhile promoters announced that ladies would be admitted to any ringside seat for $1 if accompanied by an escort.

The show Monday night is easily the best fight program that Atlanta has had arranged in years. It includes the Bozo-Gitlitz card and the supporting exhibition of W. L. Stribling, who is to fight for the world's title in July.

Atlanta is expected to rally to W. L.'s support and give him a good send-off Monday night. It will be his last public appearance in the south before going to his training camp at Lake Glauga, near Cleveland, where the fight will be held. W. L. is popular with the feminine fight fans and promoters made the price concession to make it easier for them to attend.

SUPPORTING CARD.

The supporting preliminaries are excellent ones. They include Clint Townes, Bobby Hooks and a number of other well-known fighters.

Pa Stribling spent the night in Atlanta and will leave early this morning for Macon. W. L. Stribling was in Atlanta for a few minutes Thursday, going on through to Macon. He was returning from Chicago where he was a guest at the Golden Gloves tournament.

Dawson Doctor Wins Honors in Trapshoot

Dr. Steve P. Kenyon, of Dawson, Ga., was high gun Thursday in the Medical Association of Georgia trapshoot at the Peachtree Gun Club. It was a feature of the annual meeting of the association.

Kenyon also was winner in Class A, with Dr. J. H. Hodges, of Hapeville, second.

Dr. B. Russell Burke, of Atlanta, was high gun in Class B with Dr. James Kay, of Byron, second.

Dr. Will Roberts, of Atlanta, was high in Class C. Dr. Eugene Vernon, of Atlanta, was second.

Trophies were given to winners in each event by various Atlanta businessmen.

Grid Fever Rises Again at Florida

GAINESVILLE, May 14.—Spring football back in February and March didn't quite fully satisfy Coach Charlie Bachman, of the University of Florida.

Signal drill the past week has renewed the gridiron fever of a goodly number of the "Fighting Gators," and in some respects the Florida mentor feels this second session has been more beneficial than the earlier one.

Losing the large number of men which he does, Coach Bachman is of the opinion that plenty of rigid attention to football will be the only way out of the perplexing 1931 grid problem.

SMITH, CHURIO SET GOLF PACE

Cards of 146 Tie for Lead in Southport Meet.

SOUTHPORT, England, May 14.—(AP)—Two tall youngsters from the other side of the Atlantic, Horton Smith, of Missouri, and Marco Churio, of the Argentine, today led the field of 107 professionals at the end of the second round of the $7,500 Southport professional golf tournament.

The South American, playing in his first important tournament in England, and Smith, here on his second invasion, carded rounds of 74 and 75, respectively, to tie for the lead with 36-hole totals of 146.

One stroke behind them were Archie Compston and Henry Cotton, British professionals. Back of those two and tied at 150, came Tony Manero, the American; Ted Ray, British professional; Syd Easterbrooke, also British, and Tomasco Genta, another of the four Argentines in the tourney.

Joe Kirkwood and Joe Turnesa, the other two Americans, were back in the field with 152 and 154, respectively, and Jose Jurado and Hector Freccero, the other two Argentines, had scores of 158 each.

Smith's 75 was due almost entirely to his fine short game. He was erratic up to the green on nearly every hole but he chipped with deadly accuracy and holed many eight and ten-foot putts on the water-soaked greens.

The final 36 holes of the tournament will be played tomorrow.

the sixth with a home run and the Crackers rode into the ninth ahead on the good left arm of Ray Francis. Francis pitched good baseball all the way.

With two out in the ninth and both teams packing their bats, Williams doubled for Memphis and scored on Berger's single.

You've already read of the misery which Memphis wrought in the tenth. And of how Jeanes caught Poco Taitt's line drive.

Fans are offered a bargain this afternoon, a double-header featuring the day. It has been arranged for the Georgia Tech-Georgia baseball game to follow the Crackers. The Cracker game will begin at 2:15 o'clock. The same plan will be followed Saturday.

TENNIS TOURNEY OF CONFERENCE IN SEMI-FINALS

Georgia Stars Lose in Singles, Stick in Doubles Play.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 14.—(AP)—Racketmen of the University of North Carolina and Tulane University split honors today in the quarter-finals play of the Southern conference tennis tournament on the Tulane courts.

North Carolina brought two singles players through the semi-finals and one doubles team while Tulane brought through two doubles teams and one singles player. The powerful racket of Teddy Burwell also swept through the quarter singles for Sewanee and Beaver and Napier stroked safely through for the University of Georgia in the doubles.

Perry Eastman, Tulane's No. 1, easily took Joe Kee, of the University of Kentucky, 6-3, 6-4, in the opening singles play but E. D. Yeomans, North Carolina's No. 3, swept Martin Mayer, No. 2 for Tulane, out of the singles, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, after a stiff battle. Burwell, of Sewanee, knocked off R. V. Connerat, of the University of Georgia, 6-0, 6-0, and H. H. Hendlin, North Carolina's No. 4, eliminated Judge Beaver, of Georgia, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4.

The doubles quarter-finals brought a surprise in the win of O'Kelley and Doyle, second and unseeded Tulane team, over Burwell and Bob Hare, of Sewanee, seeded No. 3, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2. Eastman and Mayer, Tulane's No. 1 doubles team, defeated Boykin and Connerat, of Georgia, 6-2, 6-4, and Beaver and Napier, of Georgia, eliminated Kilbourne and Kalshoven, Louisiana State pair, 6-1, 6-3. Hendlin and Yeomans, North Carolina, won by default when the Falkner brothers from the University of Mississippi failed to appear.

Tomorrow's semi-final singles will stack Yeomans, North Carolina, against Eastman, Tulane, and Burwell, of Sewanee, against Hendlin, North Carolina. In the doubles, Hendlin and Yeomans, North Carolina, will play O'Kelley and Doyle, Tulane, and Beaver and Napier will meet Eastman and Mayer.

cer win two from Florida, the Jackets would finish honorable thirds.

Mercer can't get off the bottom by any known means.

Which is enough of dreaming at percentages. For that work one should have been able to name five Derby winners in a row. Which would be far more profitable. And how do YOU like Mate? Or is it Twenty Grand?

Tech and Georgia, in any case, will not be worrying overmuch about the average book this afternoon. To these lads a ball game is an end in itself. And both clubs are at full strength for the series. Light Tuesday workouts finished preparations. The Bulldogs will reach town, primed, this morning; the Jackets will be ready for them. Pitching choices are in doubt for both clubs, the coaches having decided to wait until last-minute bull-pen form and choose then.

Eastern Teams Continue To Dominate American League Race

A'S AND YANKS SET HOT PACE; INDIANS SLIDE

Senators Take Second Straight From Slipping Cleveland Club.

By Dixon Stewart,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(UP)—Eastern teams of the American league demonstrated their superiority over western clubs again today when they won all four of the intersectional contests.

New York and Philadelphia continued their battle for the leadership of the league as the Yankees defeated the St. Louis Browns, 14 to 2, while the Athletics won from the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 2. Although both clubs have won six more games than they have lost, the Athletics are .014 percentage points ahead of the New Yorkers because they have played fewer games.

Al Simmons' sixth home run of the season, placing him in a tie with Klein, of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Hornsby, of the Chicago Cubs, for the major league home run leadership, was the feature of the Athletics' nine-hit attack against Frasier and Lyons. Walberg held the Sox to seven hits.

Charlie Ruffing had an easy time pitching the Yankees to victory. The Browns did not get a hit until the eighth inning when Len Storti singled. St. Louis scored two runs in the ninth on a triple, double and single. The Yankees pounded Gray from the box in the first inning when they scored five runs and continued the assault against Stiles, Coffman and Stiely. Lou Gehrig's two home runs featured the 13 hits the Yankees made.

Washington made it two in a row over the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 4. It was the Indians' fifth consecutive defeat by an eastern team. Sad Sam Jones was largely responsible for the Senators' victory. Besides holding Cleveland to eight hits, his double accounted for two of the three runs scored by Washington in the second inning.

The Indians tied the score in their half of the frame, but after that Jones held them to two hits, while his teammates pushed across a run in each the sixth and seventh innings.

Boston's lowly Red Sox, who started Cleveland on the downward trail, defeated the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 3. Waite Hoyt weakened in the sixth inning when the Rex Sox scored all of their runs.

For the second consecutive day all of the games scheduled in the National league were postponed because of rain and cold weather.

Longchamp Feature Is Won by Amfortas

LONGCHAMP, France, May 14.—(AP)—Amfortas, owned by Jefferson Davis Cohn, today won the Prix D'Harcours and $4,000 for his owner in the feature race at Longchamp. Lovelace was second and Blue Skies third.

Six horses ran the mile and a half. Amfortas paid off two to one in the mutuels.

100-Meter Record Shaved by Koernig

REGENSBURG, Germany, May 14. (AP)—Helmuth Koernig, German titleholder at 100 and 200 meters, today ran the 100 meters in 10.3 seconds, one-tenth of a second better than the listed world's record. He had a breeze at his back, making acceptance of the record doubtful.

The Athletic Almanac lists Charles Paddock and Eddie Tolan, both of the United States, as co-holders of the world's 100-meter record at 10.4 seconds.

Twenty Grand Shows Plenty Stuff.

BY ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—(AP) Over a track still heavy from days of rain, but drying fast under the first warm sun of the week, Twenty Grand gave the advance guard at Churchill Downs today a good show of the finishing speed that has made this ace of the Greentree Stable an outstanding favorite to win the 57th running of the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.

It was the way Twenty Grand galloped, as much as the time of 1:57 for a workout of a mile and an eighth, that impressed the critics and heartened those who have backed the stable entry, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, to the favored position of 5 to 2 in the wagering.

Paced by Anchors Aweigh, Man o' War colt and stablemate, Twenty Grand was clocked at the quarter in 23 4-5, the half in 48 3-5, the three-quarters in 1:15 3-5, then galloped easily in front to lead by three lengths at the mile in 1:42 and ease the additional furlong in 1:57.

It was the most impressive workout by any one of the half dozen derby contenders, which were given their last public time trials in preparation for the $50,000 classic. Surfboard, third of the probable Greentree starters, went the mile and an eighth in 1:58. A. C. Bostwick's Mate, winner of the Preakness and strong second choice for the derby at odds of 7 to 2, breezed three-quarters easily in 1:19 1-5. Griffin Watkins' Insco, one of the few real hopes of the west against the powerful eastern invasion, galloped a mile in 1:43 2-5, thereby giving some fresh hope to the "hard boots" of old Kentucky.

There was a gay and colorful crowd at the Downs all afternoon, as thousands of visitors from the east and middlewest began the annual influx for America's most picturesque turf event.

Florida Starts Move To Legalize Mutuels

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 14.—(AP)—Seeking solution of the racing controversy which has torn the state for many years, the Florida senate late today passed, 20 to 15, a measure legalizing racing and pari-mutuel systems of wagering.

A proposed amendment to require a statewide referendum was voted down, 25 to 9. The measure provides for local option in counties where race tracks are located. A racing commission with power to grant permits for operation of tracks would be created.

Senators estimated enactment of the bill would bring approximately $2,000,000 into state coffers annually. It would be divided equally among the 67 counties. Three per cent of the gross receipts at tracks would be paid to the state as tax.

Minors would be prohibited from attending tracks.

Gordon Is Victor Over G. M. C., 4-3

BARNESVILLE, Ga., May 14.—Gordon Military Institute won a close game from G. M. C., of Milledgeville, here today, 4-3. Sims, big center fielder, pitched for Gordon and twirled a nice game, giving up seven hits; he also hit two for four, one a double to deep left, missing going over the fence by few inches.

G. M. C. scored one run in the first and added two in the eighth.

Gordon got two runs in the first and scored two more in the third. The teams will play again tomorrow.

Coast Track Stars Prep for Invasion

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—(AP) With track and field competition nearing a close out this way, far western athletes are pointing for the annual invasion of eastern circles late this month.

To the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. and National Collegiate A. A. championships this year, the region west of the Rockies will send athletes whose individual and collective efforts already have resulted in the bettering of two world's records in addition to posting new national marks.

Comparative times and distances show the westerners have overshadowed the work this season of eastern and midwestern athletes.

Tech Freshman Nine Meets Lanier Today

Georgia Tech's freshman baseball team will close its 1931 season with a two-game series with Lanier High, of Macon, at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Tech. The closing game will be played at 2:30 o'clock Saturday.

The Jacket yearlings have broken even in the past two series with the Auburn and Georgia freshmen. They lost a pitchers' battle Tuesday afternoon with the Bullpups on the Rose Bowl diamond.

Coach Roy Mundorff will likely send Crumm, his ace hurler, at the Poets this afternoon in an effort to get the series edge.

Dutch Clark Enters Pro Football Ranks

COLORADO SPRINGS, May 14.—(AP)—Earl (Dutch) Clark, All-American quarterback in 1928, has been granted a leave of absence to play professional football next fall, but will return to Colorado College as head basketball coach in 1932. A leave of absence was approved by college trustees yesterday.

Clark will join the Portsmouth (Ohio) squad September 1.

Bus Loucks, University of Colorado end the last three years, rejected an offer to join the Portsmouth squad.

RUTH REGAINS 'BIG SIX' LEAD WITH TWO HITS

Simmons Fails To Connect But Once; National Stars Idle.

Babe Ruth clouted his way back into the batting lead in the Big Six of baseball yesterday by hitting safely twice in four times at bat in the Yankees' route of St. Louis.

The Babe brought his average up to .415 while Al Simmons dropped to .403. Simmons hit only his sixth homer of the season in four times up.

Dale Alexander failed to connect in five attempts and lost his place among the American league leaders, Bob Fothergill, of Chicago, taking third at .393.

Rain again stopped the National league leaders.

HERB FREEMAN WINS.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Herb Freeman, 218, New York, threw Benato Gardini, 200, Italy, in 38 minutes 19 seconds of their wrestling match at the New York Coliseum tonight. A series of flying tackles gave Freeman the victory.

Tennis Notes

Four Atlanta boys will represent the University of Georgia freshman tennis team at 2 o'clock this afternoon in a match against the Emory freshmen on the Emory courts. Lem Bracewell and Hugh Mayson, formerly of Tech High; Paul Lindsay, of Boys' High, and Carter Horne, of Peacock, are members of the Bullpup team.

The Emory team will consist of Pierre Howard, Jim Manget and Sam Seitz, formerly of Boys' High, and Bob Blackwell, of Mississippi. Charles Shannon, a former Tech High star, is paired with Manget in the Emory doubles.

The Georgia freshmen will meet the Tech freshmen at 9 o'clock Saturday morning on the Tech courts.

ORLANDO WINS.

WINTER PARK, Fla., May 14.—(AP)—Orlando won the first game of the state interscholastic baseball tournament at Rollins College here today, defeating Auburndale, 10 to 8.

TILDEN VICTOR IN THIRD MATCH WITH RICHARDS

Big Bill Takes Series With Vinnie; Scores 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 14.—(AP)—William T. Tilden, II., of Philadelphia, defeated Vincent Richards, of New York, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2, in the third match of their professional indoor tennis series, played here tonight before 5,000 spectators.

It was Tilden's third straight victory, clinching the series.

INSTALLMENT IV.

He sat down again on the faded bed cover and his sense of oppression increased with every moment. I shall not stay here, he thought. No, I shall not stay. This is not what I came for. It would not be worth while doing all I've done for this. This is no way to begin. I should be wasting my time in a room like this. They are deceiving me. They have plenty of better rooms than this in their hotel. Preysing does not have a room like this. Preysing would not stand it. He would raise a row and they'd soon sit up. Imagine giving Preysing a room like this. No. I shall not stay here. Kringelein broke off his reflections and collected himself. He waited a few minutes. Then he rang for the chambermaid and raised a row.

When it is considered that this was the first time in his life he had ever raised a row, it must be admitted that he did not do so badly. The white-aproned chambermaid, in alarm, brought on to the scene a superior with no apron. The floor valet stood by in the offing and a bedroom waiter, balancing a tray of cold food on the palm of his hand, listened at the door. Rohna was consulted by telephone and requested Herr Kringelein's presence in the office. A director, one of the four directors, had to be summoned. Kringelein, obstinate now he had run amok, insisted that he required a superior and beautiful and expensive room, at the very least a room like Preysing's. He seemed to think the name of Preysing was a name to conjure with. He had not yet taken off his overcoat. His trembling hands clutched the old crumbling Fredersdorf provisions, while he blinked his eyes and demanded an expensive room. He was exhausted and ill and ready to cry. For some weeks past he had begun to cry very easily for physical reasons connected with his health. Suddenly, just as he was about to give in, he won the day. He was given No. 70, a first-floor suite with sitting room and bath, 50 marks a day. "Good," he said, "with a bathroom? Does that mean that I can have a bath whenever I like?" Count Rohna without a tremor said that that was so.

No. 70 was the right thing. It had mahogany furniture, a cheval glass, silk upholstery, a carved writing table, lace curtains, and a picture of pheasants on the wall. Also a silk down quilt on the bed. Kringelein incredulously felt its lightness, its smoothness, and its warmth three times in succession. On the writing table stood a most superior bronze inkstand in the form of an eagle whose jagged outstretched wings sheltered two empty inkwells.

Outside the window there was a chill March rain, a smell of soline and the sound of motor traffic. Opposite an electric sign in red, blue and white letters occupied the whole facade. As soon as it had run along to the end it began again at the beginning. Kringelein watched it for six minutes. Down below in the street there was a medley of black umbrellas, light-colored stockings, yellow busses, and arc lights. There was even a tree that spread its branches not far from the hotel, but its branches were very different from those in Fredersdorf. This Berlin tree had a little island of soil in the midst of the asphalt and round the plot there was a railing as though it needed some protection against the town. Kringelein, surrounded by so much that was strange and overwhelming, found something friendly in this tree. Next he stood for a while in perplexity over the unfamiliar mechanism of the nickel bath taps, but suddenly it began to work and warm water shot out over his hands. He got undressed. He found it rather disconcerting to bare his delicate wasted body in the full light of the brightly tiled room. But finally he lay for over a quarter of an hour in the water and felt no more pain. The pains that had pursued him for weeks past had suddenly left him, and he certainly wanted no more of them during the time that lay ahead.

At about 10 o'clock in the evening Kringelein was strolling round the lounge, resplendent in a black coat, tall stiff collar, and a ready-made black tie. He was not at all tired now. On the contrary he was possessed by a feverish excitement and impatience. Now it's beginning, he kept thinking to himself, while his slender shoulders twitched like those of a restless dog. He bought a flower and stuck it in his buttonhole, slid his feet blissfully over the raspberry-colored carpet, and complained to the porter that there was no ink in his room. A page boy conducted him to the writing room. Kringelein was no sooner confronted by the rows of vacant writing tables, discreetly lighted by green-shaded electric lamps, than his confident bearing deserted him. He took his hands from his trouser pockets and looked rather forlorn. From force of habit he pushed his white cuffs up into the sleeves of his coat before he sat down and began to write in the flowing copper-plate handwriting of a clerk.

"To the management of the Saxonia Cotton Company, Fredersdorf.

"Sirs: The undersigned begs leave to say that in conformity with the enclosed medical certificate (enclosure A) he is unfit for duty for the ensuing four weeks. The undersigned requests that his salary for March due on the last of the month may in conformity with his written authority (enclosure B) be paid to Frau Anna Kringelein, 4 Station road. Should it be impossible for the undersigned to return to duty at the end of four weeks, a further communication will follow.

"Your obedient and respectful servant,

"OTTO KRINGELEIN."

"To Frau Anna Kringelein, 4 Station road, Fredersdorf, Saxony," Kringelein wrote next, and he wrote the A with a large and rounded flourish.

"Dear Anna: The result of Professor Salzmann's examination was not very hopeful. I am to go direct from here to a sanatorium, costs to be borne by the sick fund, for which there are a few formalities still to be seen to. For the moment, am putting up very reasonably here at the recommendation of Herr Generaldirektor Preysing. Sending further news in the course of a day or two, as must be X-rayed again before anything definite can be said.

"Yours, Otto."

"Herr Kampmann, solicitor, Villa Rosenheim, Mauerstrasse, Fredersdorf, Saxony.

"My Dear Friend," Kringelein wrote thirdly. "You will be surprised to receive a lengthy letter from Berlin, but I have important developments to communicate and count on you to understand and to maintain a professional silence. It is not easy unfortunately for me to express myself in writing. However, I hope that your superior education and knowledge of the world will enable you to put the right construction on my letter. As you know I have never been myself since my operation last summer and have not great confidence in our hospital and doctor. Hence I have availed myself of the inheritance from my father to come here so as to be examined and learn what is wrong. Unfortunately, my dear friend, there is something seriously wrong, and, in the specialist's opinion, I have not long to live."

Kringelein paused after this for perhaps a minute with his pen in the air. He forgot to put a period at the end of the sentence. His mustache, that absurdly large mustache, trembled slightly, but he bravely resumed.

CROWELL FAVORS BARUCH WAR PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The Baruch plan for freezing all prices at the outbreak of a future war was recommended to the war policies commission today by Benedict Crowell, a former assistant secretary of war.

Crowell said he did not see how the plan proposed by Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the war industries board, for taking the profit out of war by freezing all prices could be improved upon. It is opposed by the war department.

His testimony was in sharp conflict with that given yesterday by Chief of Staff MacArthur, who said the Baruch plan would cause injustice and create antagonism.

Crowley, assistant secretary during the World War, recommended enactment of legislation to give the president power to put the Baruch plan into effect at the outbreak of hostilities.

He said he thought the war-time powers of a president were sufficient to enable him to use the plan without congressional action, but that in past wars "the president has usually shown a reluctance to act on the strength of his war powers and has often waited for acts of congress."

"This situation," he added, "has caused delays and should be remedied. Your legislation should carry a grant of ample power to the president and should make no attempt to limit his powers either actual or implied.

"I suggest that the president be given power to adopt this plan either entirely or in part."

Crowell said no experiments should be tried and legislation should be patterned after World War practice.

Captain H. K. Cage, director of the material division of the navy department, said the navy endorsed the army mobilization plan so far as it is affected, but had no recommendations to make on the subject of general mobilization of industry.

OPERATORS NAMED FOR POLICE RADIO

Atlanta's police committee moved Thursday night to place the police radio station into service at the earliest possible moment by electing three operators, and heard several complaints against members of the police department.

A. L. Brannan, James C. Fleming and J. G. Cobble will be the operators in charge of WDPY, the Atlanta police station, under a ruling of the committee. It is expected the station will be placed in operation May 25.

A. J. Wingate was suspended for 90 days for being drunk off duty, while F. B. Jones, another patrolman, who arrested Jack Lance on charges of disorderly conduct, was suspended for 15 days for failing to reveal to the court that Lance had a small quantity of liquor on him at the time of his arrest.

C. E. Floyd and Arthur Daley, patrolmen, were exonerated of handling youths roughly in arresting them in connection with a prank played on motorists on Washington street. The boys were charged with throwing cans into the streets and with resisting arrest.

P. E. Jones and W. F. White, patrolmen, were charged with use of excessive force in ejecting a patron of a downtown dancing hall, but were exonerated.

Other routine matters were considered.

Young Atlantan, Now Dancing Star At Fox Tomorrow

A youthful yet famous Atlantan is coming back to her home city tomorrow. She is Freda Sullivan, the dancer, remembered by everybody who ever attended a dancing program in the city. Famous locally almost from babyhood, Freda is now one of the stars of the Fanchon and Marco organization, with a fame that spreads from coast to coast, in the United States and Canada alike.

Freda is a star performer in the "Moonlight Revels" idea which is the stage attraction next week, opening Saturday, at the Fox theater. And of the thousands of Atlantans who will acclaim the success of this young Atlanta star, there won't be one in the Fox audience on Saturday night one-tenth as proud as Freda's big sister, Nellie. For it was Nellie Sullivan, herself an accomplished stage dancer and who now conducts a dancing school here, who gave Freda her first lessons in the graceful art soon after she had taken her first baby steps.

Salvador Will Not Ask U.S. To Pay For Liquors Stolen From Embassy

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The Salvadorean legation announced tonight that no claim would be presented to the American government for liquors lost when the legation was burglarized Wednesday or for personal injuries suffered by Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, charge d'affaires.

The announcement was made by Don Roberto D. Melendez, second secretary of legation, speaking on behalf of Dr. Leiva.

Earlier in the day state department officials indicated they would await formal action by the Salvadoreans before taking up actively the question of indemnity.

Since a search by state department officials failed to disclose a precedent over 300 years where voluntary indemnity has been given, there appeared some doubt tonight whether the state department would act of its own accord to make good the loss.

Department officials declined to discuss this phase of the question.

MERITA BROADCASTS ATTRACT AUDIENCES

Interest in the Merita bread broadcasts over WSB, starring little Merita and Ernest Rogers, is increasing with each program, according to the sponsors, American Bakeries Company.

The company announces that interest in the program has become so great that many visitors come to the studios for each broadcast, and beginning with the program tonight the little star will distribute individual gift packages of Merita cake to the audience in the studio.

Artists participating in the Merita programs are costumed in attractive blue and white uniforms and every detail of the broadcast is worked out with theatrical precision, even to curtains before and after the performance.

POPE'S ADDRESS ON AIR AT 10:30

VATICAN CITY, May 14.—(AP)—Arrangements for the radio broadcast of the address of Pope Pius XI tomorrow were completed tonight.

The pope's address, which will be directed to the 10,000 workers who are here celebrating the anniversary of the labor encyclical, "rerum novarum," of Pope Leo XIII, will be broadcast to most of the civilized world.

The pope is expected to begin to speak at 5:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m., E. D. T.). He will speak 10 minutes in each of three languages, Italian, French and German. The broadcast will be on a wave length of 19.84.

The address will be broadcast in the United States and other countries and following the pope's address an English translation and description of the scene will be given by Mgr. Francis Spellman, of Whitman, Mass. Later translations will be broadcast in other languages.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR DR. BROOKS

WACO, Texas, May 14.—(AP)—Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, who began his common school education at the age of 22, graduated from college at 30, and became president of Baylor University 28 years ago, died here today.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Born at Milledgeville.

Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, who for more than a quarter of a century served as the president of Baylor University, did not have the opportunities of even a common school education until he was 22 years old. His fight upward among students to a place of prominence among the nation's educators came after he had supported his invalid father for several years by working as a farm laborer and as a section hand on the Santa Fe lines in Johnson county, Texas.

Dr. Brooks was born in Milledgeville, Ga., December 4, 1863. His father, Rev. S. E. Brooks, a Baptist minister, moved to Texas when the son was five years old, and located in Johnson county at Joshua.

Having had a consuming desire for an education since childhood, however, the young man was not discouraged by the late start in schooling. At the age of 23 he taught a small rural school in Johnson county, from the proceeds of which work he was able to enter the high school department of Baylor at Waco at the age of 24, and continued his work in the instruction until he was graduated with the A. B. degree in 1893 at the age of 30. Following his graduation at Baylor he entered Yale University, from which he received another degree in 1894. He then returned to Texas, where he taught for a while as principal of the public school at McKinney before being called to the chair of history and economics at Baylor University.

Under his leadership Baylor University more than trebled its resources and quadrupled its student body, greatly enlarged its curriculum, and increased its scholastic standing among the higher institutions of this country.

FEDERAL RADIO BODY REAFFIRMS POLICY

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The radio commission today decided against modification or amplification of a procedure it had announced it would follow to test the applicability of an anti-monopoly provision of the radio act in view of the DeForest tube decision.

After a series of conferences with attorneys for the Radio Corporation of America and four subsidiaries, Commissioner LaFount announced, "The commission has decided to follow procedure outlined on May 7, without change."

At that time, the commission announced a group of hearings would begin June 15 to determine whether to renew licenses held by stations of a corporation or individual that had been adjudged guilty of creating a monopoly.

In the DeForest case, the Radio Corporation of America was found guilty of violating the Clayton act. This corporation and subsidiaries hold 1,409 licenses.

CACTUS CATTLE FODDER SUCCEEDS IN MEXICO

JUAREZ, Mexico, May 9.—(UP) Cactus for cattle food is the latest project of the Mexican department of agriculture.

Department bulletins received here indicate that experiments in feeding the cactus to cattle in arid regions have proved successful.

The cactus is cut from the parent stalk and the thorns removed by burning with gasoline. The department says the food value is particularly great for range cattle and that it will supplement needs for water to a large extent.

Brenau Crowns May Queen At Festival in Gainesville

Cotton Is Featured as Miss Serena Jennings, of Bradenton, Fla., Is Honored Before Crowd.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 14.—A large audience greeted Brenau's May Day queen, Miss Serena Jennings, of Bradenton, Fla.; Prince Charming, Miss Marion Donaldson, of Butler, Pa., and their court at the annual festival held on the college campus Thursday afternoon.

Cotton was featured in the celebration, the setting for which was a replica of a colonial mansion. A large cotton ball, visible in the background, and the elaborate organdy dresses worn by the queen's attendants, emphasized the idea.

The queen's ladies in waiting were Misses Finley, Virginia Arline, Elizabeth McDaniels and Ethel Mae Parsons, seniors; Misses Anne Smith, Bess Gilmer, Dorothea Reynolds and Lillian Parker, juniors; Misses Ernestine Davis, Christine Topham, Nilla Ruth Shields and Jane Ray, sophomores, and Misses Mickey Hall, Catherine Grogan, Jane Brannon and Sarah Saunders, freshmen.

Pageant Opens.

The pageant opened with the approach on horseback of Prince Charming, accompanied by two heralds, Misses Edith Stryder and Dorothy Pierce. The king dismounted, his horse being taken by a little page. Miss Katherine McCullom. With a mounted herald on each side, the king took his place on the stage of the throne room and announced he had summoned the most beautiful young ladies in Georgia, from whom he would select his queen. Eight ladies-in-waiting approached along the long campus avenue, two by two, gowned in cotton, representing costume periods from Martha Washington to the War Between the States. The ladies-in-waiting were Misses Lucile Lawson, Dorothy Woodall, Lee Boggs, Lorraine Lawless, Nell Harris and Hazel Meeks, president of student government and director of the pageant.

The tiny train bearers and crown bearers were Pinkney Whelchel, Jr., Mary Whelchel and Louise Brown.

Twelve more ladies-in-waiting followed, gowned in modern ballroom dresses, all in organdie, two in rose, two in blue, two in green, two in lavender, two in yellow and two in flesh color. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Dolores Peacock, in yellow.

Following the flower girl, a little tot, came the queen, in white, with four tiny pages holding her train.

Miss Jennings Crowned.

Miss Jennings advanced to the center of the stage, where she was greeted by the king, led to a seat on the throne with him, and crowned queen.

Miss Louise Allen, as the spirit of cotton, gave a classical dance, after which the king and queen led the way down the campus avenue to the gates, followed by their entire train.

An audience of about 500, from the college community, student body and townspeople watched the performance, which covered about an hour. Seats were provided for President Pearce and the officers of the college.

The weather was perfect. Photographs and moving pictures were taken.

Wilkes Dairy Farms Will Be Inspected

WASHINGTON, Ga., May 14.—J. H. McGee, of Lawrenceville, president of the Georgia Jersey Cattle Club, and W. J. Keegan, representative of the American Jersey Cattle Club, will head a party of out-of-town visitors to Wilkes county Friday on an inspection of the development of dairying in the county.

The dairy farm of A. H. and E. A. Barnett has been selected as an outstanding example of dairy farming and here the visitors will gather at 10 o'clock.

BOARD MINUTES CITED IN TRIAL OF BANKER

MACON, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Minutes of the board of directors of the now defunct First National Bank of Sandersville were written before the regular sessions of the body, Miss Elizabeth Garner, former official of the bank and member of the board, told a United States court jury Thursday in the trial of Lake B. Holt, former president, and Floy B. Holt, his son and assistant, for alleged violation of national banking acts.

Miss Garner said she was the secretary of the board and wrote the minutes from the elder Holt's dictation. There never were any changes after the board meeting, the minutes standing approved in every instance, she said.

She said that the board members approved loans by serial number only, never questioning or discussing the makers of the note or the collateral given.

Miss Garner said she made reports to the comptroller of the currency, but that Holt assisted her with information which concerned notes.

The fourth day of the hearing was concluded at 7 o'clock Thursday night. Judge Bascom S. Deaver ordered a recess until 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Bootle expects to rest the government's case Friday, he said.

Wallace Miller, attorney for the Holts, announced at the beginning of the trial that he had no witnesses, but he is expected to place the defendants on the stand.

S. H. Mills, R. L. Smith, R. E. Parr, W. B. Dudley, W. F. Rawlings and J. E. Salter took the stand in the afternoon to tell of personal experiences with the Holts in banking transactions.

State Deaths And Funerals

MRS. JOHN TRACY BAXTER.

MACON, Ga., May 14.—Mrs. John Tracy Baxter, member of a prominent Macon family, died here Thursday. She had been ill for some time, but only in the last few days was her condition considered critical.

Funeral services are to be held from the residence Friday, conducted by the Rev. John H. Morgan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of which she was a member. Interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Baxter before her marriage was Miss Willie Ragland Tinsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Tinsley. She is survived by one son, John T. Baxter, Jr.; two grandchildren, Tracy and Marguerite Gunn Baxter; a brother, Thomas Nisbet Tinsley; two sisters, Miss Theodosia Tinsley and Mrs. Murrell G. Ross.

MRS. EDDIE MAE DAILEY.

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 14.—Funeral services were held Thursday for Mrs. Eddie Mae Dailey, who died in a hospital here following an illness of several weeks. The funeral services were held from the home of her brother, Henry Snow, and the body was carried to Morven, in Brooks county, the home of Mrs. Dailey. Interment was in the Welcome Hill cemetery. Mrs. Dailey was a native of Brooks county. She is survived by her husband and a baby one month old; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Snow, of Morven; two brothers, Henry Snow, of Valdosta, and J. H. Snow, of Morven, and a sister, Mrs. Carson Touchton, of Valdosta.

FRANK WATTS.

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 14.—The body of Frank Watts, well-known Valdostan, was brought here Thursday from Osteen, N. C., where he died at a government sanitarium. The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon and interment was in the Sunset Hill cemetery. Mr. Watts is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. M. Watts, of Valdosta.

SARAH JANE CARROLL.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., May 14.—Miss Sarah Jane Carroll, 80, died here at the residence of her nephew, J. W. Blanton. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. T. F. Callaway, pastor of the local First Baptist church, and pallbearers were Roscoe Fleetwood, Joseph Jerger, S. L. Cheshire, Mel Goodwin, Norman Stegall and J. A. White.

HOPE FOR TAX CHANGE IS SEEN BY RUSSELL

Reclassification Under Amendment Is Probable, Governor-Elect Says

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Governor-Elect Richard B. Russell, Jr., expressed the hope here Thursday for a constitutional amendment which will provide for a classification of all property for purposes of taxation.

He expressed this hope, he said, "So that intangible property will be returned and taxed fairly." He added that "the ad valorem tax system is the most unjust and inefficient system that could be devised for present day needs."

Speaking before the annual convention of the County Commissioners Association, the next governor said that "if we leave highway funds alone we will, within the next two or three years, have our system of primary highways paved and paid for." As long as the present state indebtedness remains unpaid, the governor-elect said that new ventures into governmental services must wait.

Preceding the governor-elect on the program was Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway commission, who told the commissioners that Georgia has 2,275 miles of surfaced highway. The objective of the board, he said, is to bring the annual mileage of completed or paved highways up to 750 miles.

Due to the federal government having advanced some of the 1931-32 federal aid for highways, Captain Barnett warned that there would be little federal aid available for this state during 1932.

Mr. Russell said that while necessary services must not be curtailed, waste must be cut out.

Growing Problem.

"Taxation is a great and growing problem with the government and all sub-divisions of government, and this is no time to be increasing the burden," he said. "However, we should change the tax systems to meet the changing economic conditions. All the burden of taxation in Georgia at present is on that property which cannot escape the eye of the tax collector. This is the most unjust, unfair and inequitable system that can be devised.

"Returns on intangible property have decreased many millions of dollars in value during the past 10 years. In fact, returns on this class of property have all but been eliminated. We should seek an amendment to the state constitution which will provide for a classification of all property for purposes of taxation so that intangible property will be returned and taxed fairly. And we must work for that happy day when the state will not levy ad valorem or real estate taxes, but will leave this field entirely to the counties and municipalities."

He pointed to merger of counties as one way to lower the cost of government. He advised the exercise of careful judgment in making mergers.

"No state," he told the commissioners, "can face the future with more assurance than Georgia. This state has a bonded debt of less than five million dollars and a casual, or floating debt of about seven million dollars. We are in splendid condition as compared to some of our sister states who are now struggling with overwhelming debts."

Chairman Barnett said that the "increased activities of the highway department has been made possible by additional appropriations from the federal bureau of public roads. The amount received from this source during 1930 was considerably less than the normal amount, but owing to advanced appropriations made on account of the drouth situation and for the relief of the unemployed appropriations from this source for 1931 will be in excess of any heretofore received. When we consider that the appropriations advanced will not be available during the coming year, there will be little federal aid for highway construction during 1932. The appropriations made to relieve the unemployment situation is being used in matching other federal funds, making state funds available with which to match normal appropriations from the federal bureau, and for purely state aid projects and operating expenses of the department."

Appropriations Not Available.

The chairman said that federal appropriations are not available immediately, but are checked against projects until completed and accepted. Thus the highway department must finance the work 100 per cent and wait for the treasury department to make the refund, he said.

Walter B. Stewart, of Atlanta, president of the association, and member of the Fulton county commissioners, recommended closer co-operation between legislative and operating heads of the state government.

He opposed diversion of highway funds, saying that the highway department was "just coming into its own after years of preliminary work." When the primary system of roads is completed, he thought the gasoline tax might be reduced as a step in general tax reduction.

Advisability of county mergers from an economic and efficient standpoint was touched on by Mr. Stewart.

At the afternoon session J. Frank Pittman, of Thomasville, Ga., chairman of the executive committee, conducted an open forum on matters of interest to the association.

Nearly 400 delegates were in attendance.

Congressman Charles G. Edwards, of the first district; State Senator Hamilton McWhorter, of Lexington, and State Senator Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, also spoke at the opening session.

Mayor Gordon Saussy and Attorney George T. Cann made addresses of welcome. These were responded to by H. J. McIntyre, of Thomasville.

Memorial services were held for the late Judge W. H. Wright, of Savannah, and W. Tom Winn, of Atlanta. Mr. Winn was the first president of the association. Fred Houser, of Atlanta, secretary of the association, and Mr. Cann delivered the memorial addresses.

Judge R. N. Hardeman, of Louisville, spoke at the afternoon session on "Prison Reform."

H. D. POLLARD NAMED RAILWAY DIRECTOR

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Henry D. Pollard, vice president and general manager of the Central of Georgia railway, was Thursday elected a member of the board of directors of the Georgia State Savings Association.

This was the first meeting since the annual meeting of the stockholders two weeks ago. Fred C. Bush was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Attacks on Business Scored In Address by Arkwright

Political Actions Flayed as Greatest Handicap to Development of Industries in State.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 14.—(Special.)—A ringing answer to the question "What's Wrong With Georgia?" was given here Thursday by P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, when he labeled "political attacks on business" as the greatest handicap to the state's development and called on businessmen of the state to accept their responsibility for constructive leadership and exert themselves to regain for the state its reputation as a place in which invested capital is safe.

The speech was delivered at the annual joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at the Dixie-Hunt hotel with more than a hundred leading citizens of Gainesville present. W. C. Thomas, president of the Rotary Club, presided.

E. W. Anderson, executive head of the Pacolet and Gainesville mills, introduced Mr. Arkwright.

"For several years business has looked forward with apprehension to the approach of a session of the state legislature. This year, we, not only the Georgia Power Company, but all business interests, look forward to the approaching session with foreboding and dread," Mr. Arkwright said.

"It is not that past sessions of the legislature have actually done much that injured business in Georgia, and certainly we hope that the coming session will prove to be constructive rather than destructive," he said, "but the constant and ever-present threat of legislation designed to hamper and handicap business, of regulatory measures that harrass legitimate business enterprises, of poorly conceived new taxes and other measures designed to confiscate the profits of business, these threats alone do serious injury to existing businesses in Georgia and they are keeping out of Georgia the new industries and the new wealth our state must have if it is to fulfill its destiny.

"Georgia must have new industries. It must have new wealth and new capital brought in from other sections. It cannot support itself exclusively on agriculture. It cannot pull itself out of the present depression and go forward to greater prosperity unless it can succeed in building up its industries. And yet we see on every side evidences of what appears to be an organized effort to make existing businesses as uncomfortable as possible and thereby make the state as uninviting as possible to new businesses we want to bring into our state.

"Several years ago in a speech in Atlanta, Roger Babson, the economist, said that, based on natural advantages, Alabama was destined to be the manufacturing center of the nation, Florida was destined to be the chief agricultural state and Georgia was destined to be the center of population of the nation.

'Something Wrong."

"Judging from the 1930 census figures, something has gone wrong with Georgia. We still have the same natural advantages. What has prevented us from making progress toward our destiny?

"Between 1920 and 1930 tax values in Georgia declined in every classification of property except city property and the railroad and public utility classification. The value of personal property, of farm property, of small town property all declined.

"Maybe there is an answer to it in this. The Georgia Power Company for several years has been publishing advertisements in national magazines telling about Georgia's good points and inviting industries to locate here. In those advertisements we used to brag about the fact that taxes in Georgia were reasonable, even low, and we used to brag about the fair attitude of the public toward industries and capital. We have stopped saying anything about Georgia's taxes in our advertisements and we have almost stopped talking about the fair attitude of the public.

"With the constant threat of new taxes, with constant attacks on business, and with popular applause given to politicians who make the most venomous attacks, we hesitate to advertise Georgia's reasonable taxes and fair treatment to the new industries we are trying to bring here.

"A few months ago my company was instrumental in getting the Clark Thread Company to decide to locate a new plant in Cobb county. The Georgia Power Company had to contribute $30,000 to the cost of the factory site in order to get them to agree to locate in Georgia and we had to work on the proposition for months, but finally they decided to come to Georgia. And then the governor called the extraordinary session of the legislature and they got cold feet and we almost lost this new industry, and the only way we could get them to go through with the plan was to go to the governor and the incoming governor and other public leaders and get from them assurances that this new industry would not be made the object of legislative attack. The reputation the Georgia legislature has gotten almost scared them away, and it has actually scared away other industries that might otherwise have located here.

Utilities in Forefront.

"The Georgia Power Company and the other public utilities happen to be in the forefront of the attack now. I think that the populace applauds when the politicians make us squirm. I think that even other businessmen sit back and enjoy the spectacle, some of them think it's fine sport, I believe. I am not asking you to fight our battles for me. But I warn you that the treatment we are receiving today is what you may expect next.

"The Georgia Power Company has brought millions of dollars of new wealth into Georgia. It has worked steadily at the job of getting new industries to come into this state. And today the Georgia Power Company finds itself the object of a campaign of abuse and political attack.

"They have organized what they call the Municipal Utilities Rate Association. It's nothing but a name for malcontents to rally around. They are trying to attack this company by attacking the Georgia public service commission and they are threatening to legislate it out of existence.

"The Georgia Power Company is the largest taxpayer in Georgia and yet I can't set foot inside the state capitol without being met with the slur that I am a lobbyist. I can't talk about my own business with a single congressman or United States senator from Georgia and expect to get a sympathetic hearing.

"What incentive is there for any businessman to try to work constructively for the material advancement of Georgia when our experience has been of this sort? What incentive is there to try to build up a large and useful business of your own, giving employment to thousands and adding to the wealth of the state when the state threatens constantly to take away all the profits of the business?

"Georgia's greatest need in this period of depression, and always, is constructive business leadership. Business must accept its responsibility. Don't hang back out of fear or cowardice or selfishness or indifference. It is not my fight, but your own. What the Georgia Power Company is suffering today you will suffer tomorrow unless businessmen see to it that Georgia is made safe for business."

WASHINGTON WOMAN DIES AFTER WRECK

MACON, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary P. Hargis, of Washington, D. C., died at 2:45 o'clock Thursday morning at the Macon hospital of internal injuries she received Tuesday when her automobile plunged over an embankment on the Macon-Columbus highway, about 30 miles from Columbus. Her daughter, Miss Norrine Hargis, 17, who suffered shock and bruises, was dismissed from the hospital at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, and left for Washington, where funeral services will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Holcombe, of Washington, the daughter, and son-in-law of Mrs. Hargis, were in the car at the time of the accident, but received only minor lacerations and bruises. Their 14-month-old baby was not injured. They were brought to Macon by a pasing bus, and none of them was considered in serious condition. Mrs. Hargis developed internal complications Wednesday night.

The body of Mrs. Hargis will leave Macon at 10:05 tomorrow morning for Washington. Mrs. Hargis was the wife of C. P. Hargis, who died in January of this year. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Holcombe and Miss Hargis.

3-YEAR-OLD CHILD IS KILLED BY AUTO

TIFTON, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Eugene Stewart, 3, son of J. F. Stewart, was killed today in front of the family home at Engima when his cousin, Miss Leona Stewart, backed her automobile over the child. Officers said the accident was unavoidable.

MACON METHODISTS IN ANNUAL SESSION

More Than 200 Delegates Attend Conference in Perry.

PERRY, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—More than 200 delegates representing 40 churches and 22 pastoral charges were here Thursday at the meeting of the Macon district of the South Georgia Methodist conference. Dr. Walter Anthony, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church, Macon, delivered the principal address.

The Rev. Leland Moore, presiding elder of the district, appointed committees for the year, including the ad interim committee which is to be composed of himself as chairman, Dr. Anthony, Dr. Ed F. Cook, the Rev. J. E. Parker and the Rev. A. S. Trulock, all of Macon.

Chairmen of the other committees were named as follows: Dr. Anthony, spiritual; Rev. G. E. Clary, Macon, Christian education; Dr. Cook, missions; the Rev. W. H. Budd, Hawkinsville, ministry; C. L. Shepard Fort Valley, lay activities; Rev. Mr. Trulock, temperance and social service; Rev. Mr. Parker, golden cross; Guy Jackson, Macon, church property; the Rev. N. H. Williams, Fort Valley, licenses and recommendations; the Rev. W. S. Johnson, quarterly conference.

Dr. Anthony spoke largely on the responsibility of the church to its superannuated ministers. He discussed the liquor problem during his address and criticized the press for its "interest in worldly rather than spiritual matters."

The Rev. J. H. Smith, Macon, spoke on the Methodist Orphans' Home in Macon, and Dr. T. D. Ellis, Louisville, Ky., led devotional exercises. The sessions are being held in the Perry Methodist church, of which the Rev. Herbert Etheridge is pastor.

Reports were made this afternoon, and the licenses of 15 preachers were renewed. One new preacher, Robert Hicks, of Perry, was licensed. The Rev. Mr. Moore presided. The Rev. Ralph Porterfield, Macon, led the singing and the Rev. T. F. Waller, Macon, was the pianist.

Dr. W. F. Quillian, secretary of the Methodist board of Christian education, told of the work the board proposes to do and explained how the activities of the various boards of the church have been unified by recent changes in the organization of the Southern Methodist church.

AUGUSTAN INDICTED BY SAVANNAH JURY

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—The Savannah Press said Thursday an indictment was returned here by the federal grand jury charging Franklin M. Campbell, Augusta, with violation of the federal bankruptcy law.

The paper said the indictment charged he concealed funds and creditors.

The Press also said the same grand jury had returned indictments against James L. Tankersby and Carlton Stamper, also of Augusta, on charges of transporting a stolen automobile from Columbia, S. C., to Augusta.

Trend of Industry in South To Small Towns, Says Graves

Southern Individualism Tempering Influence on Industrialism, Says Speaker at Athens Meet.

ATHENS, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—John Temple Graves II, columnist of the Birmingham Age-Herald, today told the Institute of Public Affairs here Thursday that the trend of industry in the south was to small towns, those of less than 10,000 population.

Fifty-nine per cent of the new industries located in the south in recent years have been in these small towns, Mr. Graves said.

Turning to the "machine age, Mr. Graves said that southern individualism as a tempering influence on industrialization, was a major factor against standardization in this modern age.

"The south," Mr. Graves continued, "is historically and tempermentally the most individualistic section of the country.

"It is also, unfortunately, the least liberal.

"But touch this individualism with a more liberal point of view, educate it in its own value and essence and the south has an opportunity in these critical days to preserve things infinitely dearer to itself as well as contribute something precious to the nation.

"Southern individualism is a thing of the spirt as well as the mind. It has to do not only with states' rights and anti-trust laws but with the gentilities of spirit, with romance, with enthusiasm and a fine art of leisure.

"Things which are the very stuff of individualism are still the stuff of the south and in their sign the south can become, if it will, in an age bowed down with its own mass and machine, what Count Keyserling has called it—the home of America."

Another section of the draft of a proposed new constitution for Georgia was discussed at the sessions Thursday.

Professor M. H. Bryan, secretary of the committee which drafted the proposal, discussed taxation and the budget. Dean H. N. Edmunds, of the University of Georgia Law school, was among those discussing this phase of the draft.

Orville Park, of Macon, chairman of the committee, said today that with few exceptions all suggestions regarding the proposed new constitution had been liberal rather than restrictive in nature. The committee, comprising nearly 20 prominent Georgians, has been in session here this week receiving suggestions from others regarding the instrument. At the close of an open discussion on today, the committee went into a session to consider these suggestions, and to make a new draft of the instrument to be made public later.

Among the proposals in the instrument is one providing for an executive budget and requiring that the governor at each regular annual session of the legislature shall submit to the general assembly a budget, setting forth the proposed expenditures of all departments, offices and agencies of the state for the next fiscal year, and the anticipated revenue of the state from all sources. Allocation of taxes would be abolished.

Stepfather Kills Self After Arrest of Negro

MACON, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—The arrest of Willie Berry, 15-year-old negro, in Atlanta, Thursday, for the murder of Arthur Floyd, Macon negro, last Saturday night, brought about the suicide of Leslie Payne, Berry's stepfather, also implicated in the murder, deputies believe.

The report of Payne's suicide came to the sheriff's office here Thursday afternoon shortly after Chief Deputy Boyce E. Miller and Deputy Luther J. Stevens returned from Atlanta with Berry and placed him in jail here.

MARTHA BERRY GIVEN NEW YORK CLUB AWARD

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Martha McChesney Berry, founder of the Berry schools for mountain children in Georgia, has been chosen as winner of the Town Hall Club's gold medal for "an accomplishment of lasting merit."

She won in the final balloting over Booth Tarkington, novelist; Marc Connelly, playwright; Daniel Frohman, producer, and George Foster Peabody, banker and philanthropist. Fifty-one names were entered in the contest. The medal is to be presented in the fall.

Mrs. James Russell Parsons, president of the Roosevelt Memorial League, who sponsored Miss Berry, said of her school:

"The children are taught to farm, to cook, to sew, to build houses and do carpenter work, and they go back to their homes to carry out the traditions of the Berry school, and to spread habits of industry, cleanliness and efficiency. Many of them become teachers, doctors, nurses and men and women of affairs of influence in the community."

Representative Ruth Pratt, of New York, won the medal last year.

SCHOOLS AT MOUNT BERRY ORGANIZED 30 YEARS AGO

MT. BERRY, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Miss Martha Berry, winner of the annual medal of the Town Hall Club in New York for bringing most credit to the organization during the past year, founded the Berry schools here 30 years ago with five pupils.

Her first building was a one-room log schoolhouse. Now she has a complete school plant accommodating more than 1,000 students, pursuing courses in vocational education.

The students, drawn chiefly from the mountainous counties of north Georgia, are at the school 365 days a year. Each boy and girl must work at least 16 hours a week as a part of his or her vocational, literary and artistic training.

Miss Berry started the school by deeding to it her only possession—a tract of land left by her father, a northwest Georgia farmer. The campus now spreads out into a 15,000-acre farm.

Monument To Be Unveiled.

MARIETTA, Ga., May 14.—A monument in honor of General William Phillips will be unveiled here at the city cemetery, with the Rev. John S. Wilder, pastor of the Savannah Calvary Baptist church, presiding.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Stocks labored under the heavy handicap of friendless rail market today. Although the decline tended to be selective, net losses averaged considerably more than 2 points in a turnover of 1,800,000 shares.

Professional sellers unloaded a large volume of United States Steel common which made another low of 106 1-8, off 3 3-8. Most of the rails went to new minimum levels for several years back, with substantial declines in New York Central, Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio and New Haven. The range of losses for this list was 2 1-2 to 5 5-8 points. Missouri Pacific preferred lost 6 1-2.

Industrials like General Electric, American Can, General Motors, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Chrysler, Kennecott and Bethlehem Steel closed less than a point lower. Standard Oil of New Jersey broke more than one in anticipation of the 1930 earnings statement. American Telephone, National Biscuit, Sears-Roebuck, Hershey Chocolate, Allied Chemical and Woolworth lost 2 to 3. Auburn went to the extreme of a 31-point plunge.

Gilt edge bonds provided the cheerful aspect of the financial market's day, many issues in that classification making new highs. There was also a better tone to industrials, but secondary rails slumped. Grains and cotton weakened.

Reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate to 2 1-2 per cent, the lowest since 1909, was considered more from its long than its near term possibilities. Bankers here regarded the cut as a constructive step, pointing out that it was logical in view of last week's action by the New York federal reserve authorities. Apparently the British bankers felt the lower London rate would not result in a loss of gold.

Forecasts of showers in Canada, a bearish crop estimate and larger Russian exports contributed to the weakness of wheat which closed 1 3-8 to 1 7-8 lower for the later deliveries. Corn lost from 7-8 to 2 1-4 cents net on a bearish Iowa state report and a lower cash market. The census bureau's estimate that April cotton consumption was about 18,000 bales larger than March's had little effect on futures, which were considerably influenced by weakness of grains and stocks, losing 11 to 15 points net.

Foreign exchanges were mixed and quiet.

BY ALEXANDER HENDERSON.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Price movements in bonds today were unusually irregular.

Generally higher prices were the rule among the strictly high class issues. Railroad obligations declined gradually, but public utilities and industrials were usually steady. The standard statistics average price of 10 rail issues dropped 1.1 points to 100.2, whereas the average for 10 bonds each of rails, utilities and industrials was 95.2, a loss of three-tenths of a point.

The genuineness of the strength in the gilt-edge group may be realized from the fact that five issues of the United States government reached new 1931 peaks and another equaled its old top price.

Net losses ranging from 1 1-2 to 3 points in the obligations of the Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis, San Francisco and fractional declines in some Pennsylvania and most New York Central liens were significant.

Firmness appeared in such industrials as Bethlehem Steel 5s of 1936 and of 1942, Atlantic Refining 5s, Inland Steel series A 4 1-2s and Goodyear 5s.

Foreign issues were irregular, usually on a few sales.

LOANS TO BROKERS DROP $28,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York federal reserve member banks for the week ending May 13 were announced today by the federal reserve board as $1,671,000,000 representing a decrease of $28,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

The loans for the week ending May 14, 1930, were $4,007,000,000. The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was:

For own account, May 13, $1,360,000,000; May 6, $1,293,000,000; May 14, 1930, $1,618,000,000.

For account of out-of-town banks, May 13, $159,000,000; May 6, $213,000,000; May 14, 1930, $1,069,000,000.

For account of others, May 13, $152,000,000; May 6, $193,000,000; May 14, 1930, $1,320,000,000.

TARZAN, LORD OF THE JUNGLE No. 83

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Here is the lair of the great leopards of Nimmr," explained the Princess in a low voice. "After nightfall, no one would be safe without many guards and beast fires, not even thee, with that strange, roaring weapon with which thou slew the knights of Bohun!" "Perhaps, then," said Blake to calm her growing fears, "we may as well be on our way." So saying he turned toward his horse.

His hand was upon it, when the animal suddenly raised its head and with up-pricked ears and dilated nostrils looked into the wood's gathering shadows. An instant it trembled like a leaf, then with a wild snort, broke its tether and raced madly away across the plain. Blake and the Princess of Nimmr were alone in the Wood of the Leopards! And yet not alone.

Blake drew his gun and peered into the gloomy woods, but he saw nothing. Nor could his civilized sense of smell catch the scent that had come so clearly to the nostrils of the terrified horse. Blake laughed, thinking to calm him own nerves, and drew the trembling girl closer to him. Steadily unseen eyes watched his every move—but they were not the eyes of Sheeta, the leopard!

Lord Tarzan and Sir Bertram reached the Knights of the Sepulcher after Blake had borne the Princess out of their ranks. Now Bohun's knights were engaged with the knights of Nimmr who had arrived upon the scene. As they approached, the Ape-Man saw a knight go down before an adversary's lance and then the victor espied Tarzan. "Have at ye, Sir Knight!" cried he of the Sepulcher, couching his lance. This was a new experience for the Ape-Man.

DETECTIVE'S SLAYER FACES LIFE TERM

TULSA, Okla., May 14.—(AP)—Gene Elms, 24, Siloam Springs, Okla., faced life imprisonment today for the slaying of James A. Woolley, veteran Tulsa detective.

A district court jury convicted Elms of murder and fixed the sentence in a verdict returned last night.

Woolley was shot down the night of January 21 by the driver of an automobile whom he sought to question as a burglary suspect. Elms admitted he shot the officer but pleaded self-defense.

"Where Service and Values Are Paramount"

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, May 14.—All hopes of a rally in the stock market due to the withdrawal of important bear operators from the short side were dissipated today when heavy selling of railroad stocks together with some of the pivotal industrial shares unsettled the entire list in the late dealings.

In this decline quite a number of rails and industrial stocks sold down to new low prices under the leadership of United States Steel common and New York Central.

Real liquidation was reported in railroad stocks due to a growing belief that quite a number of dividends now being paid will be reduced and in some instances omitted entirely.

Rumors were also current that the dividend on Missouri Pacific preferred would probably be omitted. While car loadings began to show improvement in April the gain is not considered sufficient to prevent dividend changes that are expected.

EARLY STRENGTH.

Early strength in the general stock market followed reports that most of the important professional bear operators had abandoned their positions on the short side and in many instances were buying stocks in anticipation of a rally due to technical market conditions. For a time the list showed strength and improvement over the previous close.

It also looked as if the entire market was about to break away from the heaviness of steel common. Steel common touched a new low figure in the early dealings but the balance of the list showed stability. Renewed weakness, however, developed in the railroad stocks under leadership of New York Central which declined to a new low level.

Some selling of the rails was also reported as coming from abroad. Weakness in the rails was followed by a resumption of heavy offerings of steel common and this weakness extended to the balance of the list causing general unsettlement. Among the specialties Auburn Auto was a feature breaking 31 points and closing at the bottom level.

CHAIN STORE STOCKS.

For the first time recently the chain store stocks on which the street has been bullish, showed heaviness. Woolworth, which has been the feature of that group, declined sharply in the late dealings, closing with a net loss of more than 2 points.

One discouraging development was a further reduction in the dividend of the American Locomotive common to a basis of $1 a year compared with two previous disbursements at the rate of $2 a share. Up to a year ago American Locomotive had been considered one of the high grade investment stocks.

POOLS DISTURBED.

The turn for the worse by the general market was a source of much discouragement to those groups which have formed pools in various issues and which had undertaken to start constructive operations, believing that the general market was oversold and due for a substantial rally.

Because of this, stocks like Westinghouse Electric, Radio, J. I. Case Threshing Machine, Kroger Grocery and Gillette, in which constructive groups have been operating, sold off with the whole market. Managers of these pools were unwilling to stand by and take all offerings in the face of heaviness in the general market.

Oil shares were lower in sympathy with the balance of the list. Standard Oil of New Jersey lost more than a point. Selling of the stock is in anticipation of publication of the 1930 annual report which was stated today to show only about $1.80 a share earned on the stock.

International Nickel sold at a new low figure because of announcement that earnings equalled only 8 cents a share for the first quarter, thereby indicating that the current dividend is in jeopardy.

Continued liquidation was again reflected in the brokerage loan figures which showed a reduction of $28,000,000 and put brokers' loans down to a new low figure.

Reduction of the Bank of England's rediscount rate was in keeping with the recent lowering of the rediscount rate by the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

Doctor Gets $24,666 For Being 'Sold Out'

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—As an aftermath of the stock market crash a supreme court jury today awarded Dr. E. Leo Berger $24,666 in his suit against two brokerage firms which "sold him out" in the fall of 1929.

The defendants, L. F. Rothschild & Co. and Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., not only denied liability but entered a counter claim for $18,452 which, they charged, the Brooklyn doctor owed to them after they closed out his accounts.

BARROW PROSE PRIZE IS WON BY GEORGIAN

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—The Poetry Society of Georgia tonight made its first award for prose work, Anna Colquitt Hunter, Savannah, winning the Barrow prose prize for her story "On Big Ogeechee." John Bennett, of Charleston, S. C., was the judge. Minnie Hite Moody, Atlanta, was given honorable mention for "Swamp Interlude," and Paschal Strong, Jr., Savannah, for "Four Kings."

The society prose prize was awarded Belle Roe Sizer, Savannah, for "Figurin' Bill," John Farrar, of New York, being judge. Miss Moody was again winner of honorable mention for her article "On the Death of a Young Poet." Honorable mention was also given Mrs. Duncan Kenneth Brent, of Ruxton, Md., for "Winged Fascination."

The Barrow prize for the best poem by a Savannahian went to Gerald Chan Sieg for "Sin Dee," Daniel Whitehead Hicky being the judge.

Georgia poetry prize, which is the chief award of the year, open to all southern writers, was divided between Dr. Anderson M. Scruggs, Atlanta, "Second Eden," and Daniel Whitehead Hicky, Atlanta, "Machines." The judge was Willard Wattles, of Rollins College, Fla.

The Jackson prize to writers under 10 years old went to Evelyn Hodges, Savannah, for her poem, "Rain." Agnes Kendrick Gray, Atlanta, as judge. Honorable mention was given to "Verdun at Twilight," by G. Norman Willsey, Rochester, N. Y., and to "Song," by Betty Myers, of Savannah.

MORE ARRESTS MADE IN AUGUSTA RAIDS

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Two more raids Thursday by detective squads, in a campaign to "clean up the city" which began Wednesday night, brought the total number of arrests to 24.

All of those arrested today were charged with vagrancy. Four arrested were women. Four have been arrested on charges of violating the prohibition law and one for interfering with an officer.

A raid late today on a house on Broad street, near the heart of the business district, netted five arrests. Ten had been arrested in a morning raid and nine last night.

All of those arrested have been released on bonds ranging from $150 to $1,000. The 15 arrested today made bonds of $1,000 each.

The Augusta Chronicle quotes Magistrate H. T. Farris as saying one of the men booked today as Bill Haer receives $100 monthly from the government and claims to possess four major citations for service during the World War. A nolle prosse in his case was expected to be entered early tomorrow.

Two of those arrested told the magistrate they were clothing salesmen.

Police and detectives were ordered recently by the civil service commission to "clean up the city by July 2 or resign."

TWO YOUTHS HELD IN HOLDUP SERIES

Two arrests made by police Thursday brought to a close, it is believed, a series of holdups, culminating in the robbery of a Planters peanut store at Broad and Alabama streets of $83.35. Jason Dickerson, 17, of 1240 Hill street, was arrested by Detectives George Barrett and C. L. Taylor, and is said to have given the name of Allen Moore, 21, of 500 Cooper street, as his accomplice. Investigation indicated that Moore had gone to Birmingham, so Atlanta police communicated with the authorities there.

Moore had joined the marines. But the marines had sent him to Atlanta for his assignment. The detectives met him at the train and brought him to headquarters, where he is alleged to have confessed to the robbery. Both Moore and Dickerson are being held on charges of suspicion.

Arrived and Sailed.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 14.—(AP)—Arrived: City of Atlanta, Boston via New York; Fairfax, Jacksonville and sailed Baltimore.

Sailed: None.

MORTUARY

C. L. COOK.

Funeral services for C. L. Cook, 30, of 307 West John Wesley avenue, College Park, who died Thursday at a private hospital, will be conducted at 11 this morning at the Pleasant Hill Baptist church, the Rev. D. W. McElroy officiating. Interment will be in the churchyard. He is survived by a daughter, Jeanette Cook; a son, Harold Cook; his mother, Mrs. N. J. Nichols, and his grandmother, Mrs. R. L. Brown.

MRS. ELIZABETH BURTON.

Services for Mrs. Elizabeth Burton, 24, of 235 Washington street, who died Thursday at a private hospital, will be announced later by J. Austin Dillon Company. She is survived by her husband, Dave Burton; four brothers, J. B., Lee, William and Wilbur Cone, and one sister, Mrs. Dennis Calangis.

TWO SCHOOL ECONOMY PLANS ARE OPPOSED

Proposals To Shorten Course and To Hike Water Rates Attacked.

Proposals of Mayor James L. Key's special school commission to raise water rates and to concentrate the present k-6-3-3 system of the Atlanta public schools into a dozen grades were attacked from two leading organizations Thursday.

Members of the Atlanta Apartment House Owners' Association hit the water rate hike, intended to raise approximately $800,000 to help the schools out of a fiscal difficulty, while the Atlanta Council Parent-Teacher Association scored the plan to reduce the number of grades.

Apartment house owners declared they pay the water bills of tenants and that a large portion of the water increase would fall directly on them. In citing the fact that the school commission went on record opposing any increased taxes, the hike in water bills would levy an additional tax on apartment owners, they claim.

The resolution for the apartment house owners was signed by J. H. Pappa, executive secretary. Mrs. Robert P. Cheshire is president of the Parent-Teacher Council.

MONEY PER CAPITA IN U. S. IS $37.32

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—An increase of 32 cents in the per capita rate of money circulation in the United States was shown today in the monthly circulation statement of the treasury.

In April there was $4,653,394,640 in circulation for a per capita average of $37.32.

DAYTON HEAVY DUTY

Cash or Club Plan

Six years ago Cottongim's originated the CLUB PLAN of purchasing tires and tubes—paying for them out of the family budget or other sources of incomes—today we lead the field in both plans—CASH and CLUB—with higher QUALITY—MUCH LOWER PRICES—and better SERVICE.

Our Club Plan prices are slightly higher than the advertised cash prices—but we guarantee both plans to be lower in price than any other tire company in the CITY OF ATLANTA—quality considered.
